LOBBY QUIZ IN UPROAR OVER RASKOB

Today

Behold, One Oil King.
Our Flying Army.
How Crime Is Financed.
Name It Newton.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, April 4

THE gasoline threat that worried the big oil men a few days ago is becoming reality. Here the price has been cut as low as 10 cents and deeper cuts are expected. This is due to disorganized production and disorganized distribution.

Any buyer who exults in the low price of today exults prematurely. He will more than make up for it later on.

OLD Royalty, kings, emperors, etc., are going out. In the realm of finance, kings are coming in. The American Government, interested in United States prosperity, might make a careful study of Sir Charles Deterding, head of the Shell Oil Company.

An able Dutchman, born in Holland, knighted by the British, with his office in London, Deterding surveys the world from the oil man's point of view, literally, as an imperial conqueror.

IN the Dutch East Indies where his company started, he has gigantic holdings, at the door of China.

An understanding with the British Burmah gives him an oil supply inside the import duty frontier of India.

He has gigantic oil deposits in Venezuela, and in California he is one of the biggest owners of oil territory, very convenient for shipping to Japan.

He has great holdings in the Mid-Continent field, and his "Shell" signs are scattered, his yellow Shell wagons busy, literally all over the United States.

THE other day as lowest bidder he supplied the Japanese navy with oil for a year at 54 cents a barrel, the lowest price ever quoted, and probably bought it from independent California producers for 40 or 45 cents a barrel.

California produces the oil, Japan gets the oil. Deterding gets the profit, the United States sees its oil supply diminished.

AMERICAN companies are not allowed to operate in their own country as Deterding operates here.

Standard Oil of California must confine itself to its own territory.

Standard Oil of New Jersey and New York each has its territory.

Deterding has the whole of the United States, and all of the outside world for HIS territory.

THERE is a savage oil fight going on now between Standard Oil of New York and Shell Oil, in the Orient.

Prices are cut ruthlessly, especially in China, where kerosene is the important product. Also in Japan, where gasoline becomes more and more important.

Deterding, a genuine, fully developed octopus, can afford to burn up millions in his price war with Standard Oil in China, making up for it by his profitable business here in the United States. No Sherman law restrictions for him.

He is making progress in Australia, Africa, all over the world, a real business man.

It might be wise for the United States Government to drop some of its childish fetishes and let American corporations grow as big as they can grow.

ON Mather Field, Sacramento, Brig. Gen. William E. Gillmore directs the maneuvers of Army airplanes, greatest gathering in the history of the Army Air Corps.

One hundred fifty-nine Army planes, from small, swift pursuit planes to heavy bombing machines, are taking part in maneuvers such as would be necessary in actual war.

Heavy bombing planes fly low, protected by swift pursuit planes, ready to beat off any theoretical attack.

MEN that have inspected the equipment of European armies, including France and Britain, say the "provisional wing" commanded by Gen. Gillmore, is as efficient a unit as would be found anywhere on earth.

The next thing is to make our air fleet ten times as big as it is, and to arrange for building of all mail and civilian planes in such fashion as would make them efficient under the direction of Army officers in case of need.

A LOS ANGELES man and his assistant are locked up here for operating, quite openly, a 400-gallon still. The man's wife tells the judge it is wrong to arrest her husband since he was "paying $200 a month to men from the sheriff's office, and supposed everybody knew he was running the still and paying the men."

Each day the still produced 250 gallons of alcohol, taken away openly, in a truck. When the barn containing the still burned down, blazing alcohol compelled attention.

TO make 250 gallons of alcohol costs about $375. The bootlegger will buy it for $1,250, add coloring matter, and other ingredients and sell it for $6,250.

You see that bootlegging is profitable. The still operator makes $875 a day, the bootlegger gets $5,000 a day. The $200 a

COURT BARS DIVORCE TO GRIMES

Judge Calls Pirate Star's Hands 'Unclean'; Wife in Hope He'll 'Settle Down'

International News Service.

CANTON, O., April 4.—The divorce trial of Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh Pirate pitching ace, was suddenly brought to a close here today when Judge Harvey F. Ake dismissed the case upon the request of Grimes' wife, Florence Ruth Grimes.

In dismissing the case, which had probably drawn more attention than any other divorce case in the annals of Stark County courts, Judge Ake said the charges which Grimes brought against his wife did not warrant divorce action.

ASKS SEPARATION

Mrs. Grimes asked the court to grant her husband a separation for two years, stating that she believed "Burleigh would settle down by that time, and all this foolish wrangling would be forgotten."

The case came to its sudden and unexpected end when Attorney James J. Amerman, Mrs. Grimes' counsel, made a motion that the case be dismissed because Grimes lacked sufficient grounds on which to base a divorce action. Judge Ake upheld the motion without a moment's hesitation.

Immediately after officially dismissing the case, Judge Ake informally reprimanded the baseball player before hundreds of spectators, who crowded the courtroom to hear the trial. Judge Ake accused Grimes of coming into the case with unclean hands.

Grimes has not yet signed his 1930 Pirate contract. He demanded a two-year contract at $20,000 a year or a one-year contract at $22,500. The ball club offered a one-year contract, at the lower figure.

Judge Ake's decision followed a charges of cruelty and gross neglect of duty.

Grimes had testified, and had produced other witnesses to testify that his wife was extravagant, had

Mary Miles Minter Reduces 30 Pounds

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—Although she is not contemplating a return to motion pictures, Mary Miles Minter, former film star, has reduced her weight 30 pounds within three months, it was learned today. Miss Minter said she had placed herself under the care of a famous dietician in order to bring her weight down to normal.

Sunday Movies Win In Recount of Votes

EVANSTON, Ill., April 4.—(INS.)—Evanston, Chicago's most exclusive suburb, today learned that it will have Sunday moving pictures hereafter.

A recount of referendum figures completed last night showed that the suburb's movie fans won by a majority of 56, instead of being repudiated by 50 votes as the first count showed.

Marjorie Rambeau, Van Loan to Marry

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—Marjorie Rambeau, noted actress, and H. H. Van Loan, playwright, announced their engagement today. Their marriage will take place in about three months, they said, the period necessary for Van Loan to obtain a final divorce decree from Gertrude Cameron.

U. S. TO SIGN 3-POWER TREATY

Pact Includes Britain, Japan; Envoys Make Reservations To Start Home April 29

LONDON, April 4.—(AP.)—Signing of a three-power pact by the United States, Great Britain and Japan and quick adjournment of the naval conference was said in an authoritative quarter late today to be quite possible.

The American delegation this afternoon tentatively engaged reservations to return home on the Leviathan April 22.

It was stated at American headquarters that this date was regarded as the limit to which the conference could meet.

ALL READY TO QUIT

It also was authoritatively stated all the delegations feel the conference must be brought to a close within a comparatively short time.

This would involve leaving the knotty questions of French security and Franco-Italian parity to be signed in other fields, and would provide so that France and Italy would be in a position to sign as soon as these difficulties have been ironed out.

The Italian delegation astounded the conference today by issuing, through its official spokesman, a statement which observers interpreted not only as a pointed reprimand to France but indicating that Italy is tired of the present Anglo-French negotiations concerning French demands for security.

The Italian feeling has been known in conference circles several days, but today's broadside was the first official recording of sentiment.

The spokesman declared Italy's claim to parity with France is unchanged, although France wants us to accept inferiority in naval strength.

HELD MATTER FOR LEAGUE

He further announced that Dino Grandi, chief of the Italian delegation, felt the security pact which France demands as compensation for cutting her naval figures is a matter for the League of Nations and should not be discussed at the London conference.

"After all," he said, "we came to London to talk disarmament and not to talk about the League of Nations covenant."

The Italian statement brought expressions of gloom from the French delegation this afternoon. The French were freely inquiring among themselves whether any useful purpose could be served by their remaining long in London.

China Seeks Arrest Of Rebels' Leader

SHANGHAI, April 4.—(AP.)—The Nationalist government at Nanking took war measures tonight against the Northern Militarist Alliance, which has declared for its overthrow.

Nanking's State Council approved a mandate for "the arrest and subjugation" of Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan, governor of Shansi Province and leader of the alliance.

MACHINE GUN IN BANK HOLDUPS

DAYTON, O., April 4.—(AP.)—Five robbers, masked and armed with a machine gun, held up five bank employes of the Xenia avenue branch of the Union Trust Company and several customers, looted the bank vault of virtually all its cash and escaped with a sum estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000 shortly after the bank opened for business this morning.

Two of the men remained in an automobile in front of the bank while the other three entered and forced the bank employes and customers to lie on the floor.

Wife of Flagg, Artist, Undergoes Operation

VENTURA, Cal., April 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. James Montgomery Flagg, wife of the illustrator, underwent a minor operation here yesterday and was reported by hospital attendants as "in good condition." Mrs. Flagg and her 3-year-old daughter have been spending the winter at the Flagg cottage near Ojai. The artist recently returned to their home in New York.

MERGER STRESS TOLD ON STAND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 4.—(AP.)—James A. Campbell, chairman of the board of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, testified in a deposition today that pressure had been brought upon him to merge with Republic Iron and Steel Company that he "did not like the idea," and consequently negotiated a merger plan with Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

The deposition was one of a number to be taken today by counsel for Arthur B. Taylor, Elyria stockholder who has asked the courts to require Sheet and Tube to reveal the figures on which the merger plan was based. A hearing on Taylor's petition will be held Monday, and Sheet and Tube stockholders will decide the fate of the merger plan Tuesday.

Republic Iron and Steel Company is generally regarded as under the control of the Cyrus S. Eaton interests of Cleveland, which are trying to block the merger. Eaton recently stated that he never had planned to merge Republic with Sheet and Tube, but planner to strength both companies by addition of smaller plants.

Campbell said "real merger negotiations" first began in the middle of January, this year, when he met Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem and others.

Returning to the Inland proposal, Campbell said he had opened negotiations with Inland last July at the suggestion of Eaton, and had "honestly tried to carry them through."

Aluminum Co. Trust Law Suit Dropped by U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP.)—The Federal Trade Commission today dismissed anti-trust complaints brought against the Aluminum Company of America.

The complaints, charging the Aluminum Company with violations of both the Clayton anti-trust act and the Federal Trade Commission act, were filed in 1928. Extensive hearings have been held by the commission in the intervening years.

The case was given additional prominence through the fact that Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, was a stockholder of the company.

In the complaint against the company it was charged that it produced 95 per cent of the virgin sheet aluminum in this country, and either owned or had large interests in many aluminum manufacturing companies.

The aluminum company, a few months after the original complaint was lodged, filed an answer with the commission in which it denied specifically all the charges.

Final arguments in the case were made last Tuesday, the company being represented by its chief counsel, William Watson Smith, of Pittsburgh.

The Federal Trade Commission gave no reason for its dismissal of the complaints against the Aluminum Company.

A number of hearings were held in Pittsburgh at which voluminous testimony was taken on the investigation of the Aluminum Company of America by the Federal Trade Commission.

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Maybe corned beef and cabbage and lemon meringue pie will be as popular in their way as the Maine Stein Song. Rudy Vallee likes them very much, judging from the pleasure he showed when they were served at a dinner given him by Gilda Gray.

BLAST INQUEST SEEKS CAUSE

MALVERN, Pa., April 4.—(INS.)—"Fire or combustion" caused the disastrous blasts at the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Company in Devon yesterday which resulted in the loss of 10 lives and injury to 40. Victor Vardaro, 23, son of Alexander Vardaro, president and manager of the firm, testified at the coroner's inquest here today.

Vardaro, in making his assertion, denied reports that friction was responsible for the tragedy. He also refuted reports that 30 cans of power had been delivered to the plant a short time prior to the series of blasts. Only three cans of explosions had been received, he said, and these were being opened by his brother-in-law, Luigi Peruzzi, when the first blast occurred.

While the investigation was under way, countless home owners in the surrounding countryside set about making repairs to their damaged property. Six of the injured still were in the hospital at Bryn Mawr.

Hoover Approves Record Road Fund

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS.)—President Hoover today approved the public roads bill authorizing the expenditure of $125,000,000 annually for the three fiscal years, 1931 to 1933. This exceeds all previous authorizations by $50,000,000 per annum.

Lindy to Experiment With New Biplane

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is expected to make further experiments today in a biplane equipped with a variable pitch propellor, which, by change of pitch, can be used to control and steady the braking action.

Sea Captain Gives Ashes to Ocean

HOPE VOICED FOR DRY REPEAL

Democratic Chairman Denies Party Linked in Fight; Crowds See Senators Clash

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP.)—Smiling calmly while Senate Lobby Committee members engaged in heated quarrels among themselves, John J. Raskob today denied that his activities as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment were mixed with his work as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Raskob testified that he had contributed $64,000 to the association over a period of five years but added that he was careful not to mix his personal beliefs on prohibition in the affairs of the Democratic National Committee. He asserted that "no one can commit the Democratic party on the liquor question except the national convention."

HEARING JAMMED

The committee room was packed as Raskob began his testimony with three members of the committee, Robinson, of Indiana (Rep.); Chairman Caraway, and Walsh, of Montana (Dems.), present. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, was standing in the back of the room as first Walsh and then Robinson questioned the Democratic leader.

From the beginning the Democrats and Republicans tilted over questions that Robinson put to Raskob, and finally all three joined in warm exchanges after the Indiana senator asked Raskob if he intended to resign the Democratic chairmanship in response to a suggestion made by Josephus Daniels in his newspaper.

INTENDS TO KEEP JOB

The question went unanswered after Caraway and Walsh vehemently protested that it was irrelevant.

Robinson insisted the same question had been asked Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, before

Hawks Forced Down By Broken Towline

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 4.—(AP.)—Breaking of the cable between his glider and the tow plane forced Frank Hawks down four miles east of here today shortly after he had taken off for Indianapolis on another leg of his transcontinental glider flight.

It was the second time that Hawks has been delayed by such a mishap. The cable broke last Wednesday 10 miles east of Tucson, Ariz, but he piloted the glider to a safe landing and resumed the tour the following day.

Film Actor Wounded In Location Accident

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—Jack Haynes, motion picture actor, today lay in a hospital here severely wounded by a bullet in the body as a result of a film accident.

Haynes was shot during the filming of a battle scene, when ball cartridges became accidentally mixed with blanks that were used in staging a battle near Castaic, Cal.

Prepare Schenley Golf Links for Summer Play

The city was putting its golf links in order today. Work started following Council's approval of a resolution asking Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang to have the golf course at Schenley Park in shape for play as soon as possible.

"As a golfer I'll vote for that," remarked President of Council John S. Herron.

"I'm a golfer, too, and a good one," said Little.

Councilman Little does have golf togs and clubs. There is a report, however, that he abandoned the game when he found more was involved than buying balls and driving them from the first tee.

The date for opening the golf links depends on the weather, but they are usually ready for play by May 1, city officials said today.

Taxi Rates Drop in West; Firm Here Mum on Cut

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—The Yellow-Checker Cab Company today announced a new rate schedule, approximating a reduction of 27 per cent. This follows a cut in Los Angeles rates of 33 1-3 per cent.

A spokesman for the Parmalee Transportation Company, which controls taxicab service in Pittsburgh, said today that before commenting on this reduction he would prefer to study the details of the new rate schedule. When he was asked whether this reduction would affect rates here, he answered:

"I have nothing to say."

DEMAND FOR REPEAL IS STRONG

Literary Digest Survey Shows Slight Gain for Strict Law Enforcement

The vote for strict enforcement shows a slight gain in the fourth week's returns of The Literary Digest's "straw" referendum on prohibition, though Kansas and Tennessee are the only two of the 40 states reported which are voting bone dry, according to tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

Seven hundred and fifty-five thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven new votes are reported this week from 20 additional states.

Of the 2,000,240 post-card votes returned through the mail and counted at the poll headquarters 848,751, or slightly over 42 per cent of the total are anti-dry and 598,252 or nearly 30 per cent for modification while 553,337 are bone dry and demand a strict enforcement of the prohibition laws.

In every southern state except Tennessee the combined vote for modification and repeal is larger than that for enforcement, while in Maryland the vote for repeal is considerably greater than for both modification and enforcement.

DIXIE "MEDIUM DRY"

The vast section of Dixie is appraised as voting "medium dry" by The Literary Digest.

In Florida, Kentucky and Louisiana, the vote for repeal outbalances the total for either modification or enforcement.

In Maine, which has long been considered the bell-wether of the prohibition movement, the drys outvote the anti-drys by 4,116 to 4,035, but there is a group of 2,589 who favor modification.

Oklahoma, one of the baby states of the Union, votes vigorously for strict enforcement, returning a total that almost outweighs both that for modification and repeal.

Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, continue to vote strongly anti-dry as does also the tiny domain of the District of Columbia.

20 STATES FOR REPEAL.

Of the 40 states reported, 20 show a vote for repeal that is greater than for either modification or enforcement, while in the other 20 states the vote for strict enforcement shows a larger total than for either modification or repeal.

"A little figuring," The Literary Digest states editorially, "will show that the drys have gained a trifle more than a point in ratio since last week, while modification has gone down almost a point, and repeal has lost a fraction of a point.

"We always expect to be bombarded with local scandals about our ballots going to the wrong kind of people, and none going to the right kind of people.

"A favorite accusation just now is that we are sending no ballots to women, only to men. Our enormous daily mail includes many complaints that the women are getting the best of it in the ballot distribution.

"Then there is a sinister story that The Digest is financed by the 'wet interests,' just as our 1928 poll was declared to have been financed first by the Democrats, then by the Republicans! To all such silly stories our sole reply is a vigorous 'Bosh!'

"The Digest finances its own polls, and never has cause to regret the outlay, enormous as it is."

This is the fourth report of the Digest Poll:

A WORTHWHILE APPEAL -:- By Quin Hall

PLANS DRY VOTE IN STATE

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—(AP.)—State Senator George Woodward, of Philadelphia, told Independent Republican women of the Twenty-second Ward he would present bills for a statewide liquor referendum at the next session of the Legislature.

The speaker declined to state whether he was a "wet" or a "dry," but asserted that he would "stand or fall" by the results of his proposed referendum.

In addition to introducing bills designed to enable the voters to express their opinion of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Snyder-Armstrong law, the state enforcement act, Senator Woodward said he would a the secretary of the commonwealth, if they passed, to order county commissioners to place the referendum on the ballots at the first general election.

The bill, if approved, he said, would give electors an opportunity to vote for the repeal of the state enforcement law, and modification of the Eighteenth Amendment or its repeal.

Pittsburgh Man Willed $1 By Wife

TORONTO, April 4.—(AP.)—The will of Mrs. Carolyn B. R. Shaw, who died last January 4, here, read in part, it was revealed:

"I direct my executor to pay my husband, Albert Shaw, Pittsburgh, Pa., whose outlook on life does not agree with mine, the sum of one dollar. I make this direction so my husband may realize I had this matter up for consideration at the time of making this will."

Mrs. Shaw left an estate of $5,000, bequeathed a life interest to her mother, Mrs. Martha Russell, of Newcastle, New Brunswick.

Prof. James Aston Ambridge Speaker

AMBRIDGE, Pa., April 4.—Prof. James Aston, Pittsburgh, inventor of the Aston process for puddling wrought iron by electricity, will speak here Tuesday night before the Ambridge Com[illegible] Club. The Aston process will be used in the new plant of the A. M. Byers Company here.

Fire Damage at Parish House Slight

Slight damage resulted from fire in a second floor bedroom of the parish house of the St. Adelbert Roman Catholic Church, 162 South Fifteenth street, this morning. The cause was undetermined. The blaze started under a radiator. The Rev. Jan S. Gorzynski is the pastor of the church.

In Deep-Sea Garb, Couple United Under Water

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—(AP.)—Katie Wilson, 25, and J. F. Gutrick, 26, principals in the reputed world's wettest wedding, today were honeymooning on the rugged shores of Santa Catalina Island after their marriage here beneath the placid waters of the Ambassador Hotel swimming pool.

Donning earphones and divins hoods, the bridal couple and the Rev. Sheldon Shepard, pastor of the First Universalist Church, in steps to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, waded into the pool yesterday and disappeared in deep water. Spectators then saw history's first submarine wedding.

The bride was attired in a gown of pink moire, beneath which she wore a bathing suit. The groom wore the conventional black. All materials were pre-shrunk. The couple was attended by five close friends, three of whom officiated at air pumps connected with the diving hoods.

FATHER FIGHTS FOR DONNIE

WHEELING, W. Va., April 4.—Homer Schroeder, his father, may yet demand custody of 4-year-old Donnie this week, awarded to Mrs. Martha Schoenian, sister of the boy's mother, Irene Schroeder, condemned to die for the murder of Corp. Brady Paul.

Minter Schroeder, a brother of Homer, today said he had received a letter from Donnie's father in Texas, saying he was coming to Wheeling and that he enclosed a diary and a bundle of receipts showing he had paid for the care of Donnie. The letter stated that Irene and her doomed sweetheart, W. Glenn Dague, had visited him in Gary, Ind., last November and received $45 from him, for which he holds a receipt.

Upon being returned from New Castle, Pa., the lad was turned over to Mrs. Schoenian by Judge John S. Ritz. The Schoenians said they would take legal steps to adopt the boy.

Blonde Co-Ed Wins Award for Beauty

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 4.—(INS.)—A blonde, Miss Maurine Forester, of Dallas, Tex., has been selected the most beautiful co-ed at the University of North Carolina here. The honor was bestowed upon her by ballot of her fellow-students.

CASES AGAINST MAE WEST TO COLLAPSE

Jury Disagreement Likely To Result in Quashing; Judge Favors Censoring

NEW YORK, April 4.—The indictments probably will be dismissed against "Broadway" Mae West and 23 other defendants following the failure of a jury to agree on a verdict at the trial of the band of actors and actresses charged with giving an indecent play in "Pleasure Man."

After 10 weary hours of deliberation, the jury reported it was impossible to reach an agreement.

In dismissing the jury, Judge Amadeo Bertini commented upon the difficulties of moral regulation of the theater and suggested stage censorship.

JURY DIVIDED, 6 to 6.

"The difficulties of legal administration and moral regulation of the theater must be apparent," Judge Bertini told the jury.

"The difficulty is inherent from the nature of the present system of presenting evidence. Words, gestures and actions cannot be easily reproduced in court.

"All of which permits pause for thought as to whether modern requirements would not be better met in such regulations by a system of censorship, impartial representation and motivated by present day concepts and ideals."

The "hung" jury was reported to have stood divided—six for acquittal and six for conviction.

MUST 'BE GOOD'

It is expected that a promise will be requested from Miss West not to present the play again and that the charges will then be quashed. She is the authoress of the play.

Miss West was convicted several years ago in connection with her play, "Sex," and served 10 days in prison. She was liable to a maximum sentence of three years in the penitentiary if convicted on the present charges.

"I knew no 12 men would convict me on such evidence," she said.

KIDNAPING LAID TO 3 FLIERS

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—A double kidnaping plot, growing out of the disappearance of Mrs. J. Morgan Corbett, wife of a wealthy Boston (Mass.) real estate operator, was revealed here today by police with the arrest last night of three alleged kidnapers, all airplane pilots.

Police are holding Arthur Hamel, 29, of Haverhill, Mass.; Edward Kendall, 29, North Reading, Mass., and Edward Kliene, 30, of New York, charged with kidnaping James Quinn, 30, of Brooklyn.

Quinn charged Corbett employed the three men to kidnap him, believing that he was responsible for Mrs. Corbett's disappearance.

Quinn alleges he was bound and beaten at intervals for about 48 hours while his captors questioned him regarding Mrs. Corbett's disappearance, until he escaped.

MISS MARY HAHN

WINS $102,427, GOES TO BED

Miss Mary G. Hahn, 23, of 835 Concord street, who yesterday won a verdict of $102,427 for personal injuries against Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon and his brother, R. B. Mellon, was confined to her bed in her home today suffering from shock as a result of testifying in her trial.

Attorney J. Roy Dickie, counsel for the Mellons, announced that he would file an appeal from the verdict.

Miss Hahn, injured by flying glass in 1926 when a workman employed on the construction of the Pittsburgher Hotel dropped a hammer and shattered a window, was represented by Attorney H. Fred Mercer. She sued the Mellons as owners of the Pittsburgher Hotel.

The verdict was the largest one for personal injury in the history of the courts here, according to court attaches. At the trial it was testified that Miss Hahn would be permanently disabled as a result of the numerous injuries inflicted by the flying glass fragments.

BARREL KILLING INQUIRY FAILS

Hopes for an early identification of the decapitated murder victim, whose body was found in a barrel in the Grine Run (Penn Township) woods Tuesday, appeared slight today as the best clue proved worthless.

This clue was a theory that the murdered man had been in military service. The theory was dissipated with the report of the U. S. Department of Justice that the victim's fingerprints do not correspond with any in the department's records.

DESCRIPTION COMPLETE

Detectives had thought the man may have seen military service because he appeared to have had tattoo marks on his arms. If he did, they were slashed beyond identification by the killers.

A complete description of the victim was available today. He was 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighed 165 to 170 pounds, had brown hair, brown eyes, a slightly pug nose and good teeth and was aged about 25.

STILL BELIEVED REVENGE

Whatever progress was made in running down the killers was lost sight of in the attempts to have the victim identified. Detectives still believe that he was slain as reprisal for the recent killing of Sam Monastero.

Belief that the man was Thomas Lawver, 21, of 1812 Main street, Sharpsburg, was definitely refuted when it developed that Lawver was serving a 10-day sentence in the county jail. He had been committed by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones last Sunday under the name of Leuver.

Equal Rights Group Asks Aid of Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS.)—President Hoover was appealed to today by Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, chairman of the National Woman's Party, "to cable instructions to United States delegates at the codification conference on international law at The Hague to make strong efforts to bring the entire conference to the United States point of view of opposing every proposal embodying inequality between men and women."

Pittsburgh Student Called by Church

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 4.—At a congregational meeting the College Hill Presbyterian Church extended a call to Boice Atwell, of Volant, Pa., a student of the Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh. Atwell will graduate in June. He will succeed Rev. George S. M. Doremus, who resigned last fall.

TAXI STRIKE QUARTERS MOVED

Drivers Ordered to Vacate Downtown Office; Located Near St. Patrick's Church

BULLETIN.

Four patrolman have been suspended on charges of neglect of duty, Public Safety Director Clark announced today, for failing to aid a deputy sheriff and taxi driver who were attacked several days ago near the strikers' soup kitchen, 1013 Liberty avenue. The four will be given a hearing before the police trial board next Wednesday.

Headquarters of the striking taxicab drivers in the McGeagh Building, Webster avenue, have been closed, and activities of the executive committee hereafter will be conducted from 1711 Liberty avenue, next door to Old St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Notice to this effect was posted on the door of the former headquarters of the strikers' committee today. The owner of the McGeagh Building had requested the committee to vacate, the statement said.

MAY EXTEND CAB SERVICE

The new location has been used for relief headquarters for the strikers. The Rev. Father James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, has championed the cause of the strikers in insisting on 40 per cent of receipts and closed shop.

Extended operation of taxicabs was considered likely today as the result of uninterrupted service in the downtown section until 11 o'clock last night. It was the first time cabs have been on the streets after dark since service was resumed March 18.

NOT MOLESTED

The cabs, 20 in number and manned by drivers and guards, cruised the downtown streets without molestation. Thirty cabs were operated until 5 o'clock.

Adolph Koch, 20, of 706 West North avenue, North Side, was charged with reckless driving when his taxicab collided with a car owned and driven by Charles Wilcher, 31, of 218 Bessemer avenue, East Pittsburgh. Wilcher also was arrested. The collision occurred at Seventh avenue and Grant street.

was lying on the counters, the robbers made their escape in the waiting machine.

Only $500, which was in one of the drawers in a teller's cage, was overlooked.

The robbery this morning is the fourth to have been staged there within the past several years. The haul today, however, is probably the largest to be made at the bank in all the holdups. In the others the sums ranged from $5,000 to $15,000.

CINCINNATI BANK ROBBED

CINCINNATI, O., April 4.—(AP.)—The Reading Bank was robbed of $9,000 today by four men who were armed with a machine gun.

A grocer across the street saw the robbers and opened fire on them.

The robbers immediately gave up attempts to obtain additional currency, ran from the bank, returned the grocer's fire with the machine gun and escaped in an automobile. None of the shots took effect.

Baldwin Party Asks Empire Safeguards

LONDON, April 4.—(AP.)—Former Premier Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party, today said that the plank upon which the Conservative now stand and will stand at the next election is safeguarding and the economic unity of the empire.

This statement was made before a crowded mass meeting of the Primrose League, the great Conservative organization.

Movie Award Presented To Mary Pickford, Baxter

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 4.—(AP.)—Mary Pickford and Warner Baxter, in the estimation of their co-workers, gave the best motion picture performances during the year ending July 31, 1929.

The honors, given by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, were announced at a banquet attended by virtually every important person in the industry.

Miss Pickford was selected for the award because of her work in the picture "Coquette" and Baxter for his characterization in the picture "In Old Arizona."

Members of the Academy, comprising players, actors, writers, directors, producers and technicians, made the nominations and a board of judges selected the winners.

William C. De Mille, president of the Academy, formally presented the gold statuette trophies. Last year, the first time the awards were made, Janet Gaynor and Emil Jannings won the honors.

Fisher, of Detroit, Buys First 'Palace' Airplane

TETERBORO AIRPORT, HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., April 4.—(INS.)—A flying palace, costing $200,000, for Larry C. Fisher, of the Fisher Body Company of Detroit, has just been completed here and is expected to be flown this afternoon to Detroit for the airplane show.

The sumptous airship is a giant four-motored Fokker with a cruising speed of 150 miles per hour. It has a wing spread of 100 feet.

With furnishings of luxurious appointments, it has berths for four people, an office, kitchenette, radios and lavatories. The interior is done in mahogany with silk brocade paneling. The exterior is blue.

MARCHAND GOES FREE, QUITS JOB

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—(AP.)—Henri Marchand, internationally famous artist and sculptor, was released from Erie County Jail today after having been held for two weeks in default of $25,000 bail as a material witness in connection with the slaying of his wife, Clothilde Marchand.

Since yesterday, when Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman pleaded guilty to murder, second degree, a reduced charge in connection with the murder of Mrs. Marchand, only a legal technicality has stood between the artist and freedom.

Marchand, it was learned today, has severed his association with the Buffalo Society of Natural Science. His resignation was mailed from the jail last night, and Chauncey J. Hamlin, president of the society, said today that it would be accepted immediately.

YOUNG UPHOLDS BANK MERGERS

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS.)—Bank mergers are the natural product of a fast growing gigantic business machine, demanding bigger units to handle its operations, not effort to control the nation's credit and capitaly, Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House Banking Committee today.

Appearing before the committee in its investigation of branch banking, he declared competition is just as strong in banking as it has ever been. He said two of the evils of the present banking system were the existence of too many banks and development of group or chain banking.

"The group system has developed, which may be good or bad," he said, "but in my opinion trade area branch banking as proposed by Comptroller J. W. Pole would be better than group or chain banking."

FISHING CAMP LURES HOOVER

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP.)—Springtime's challenge of a fast-singing reel and a week-end out doors drew President Hoover from work today for his first trip of the season to his fishing camp in the Virginia mountains.

Leaving the White House just after lunch, the Chief Executive expected to reach the preserve on the head waters of the Rapidan by dusk and in time to whip the stream for half an hour or so before dinner.

The expedition was a stag affair. In the chief executive's party were Secretary Lamont, of the Department of Commerce; Secretary Wilbur, of the Interior Department; Attorney General Mitchell; Representative Fort, of New Jersey; Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, and Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician. They planned to return to Washington on Sunday in time for dinner.

Speed Limit Urged On Planes, Autos

PARIS, April 4.—(INS.)—Prof Sarniok, French scientist, declares that the fixing of an international speed limit for racing airplanes and cars is essential.

He contends that great danger toward the advance of the aviation and motor car industries is not the impossibility of reaching even higher speeds than those already attained, but just the possibility of the human body and the human senses to such high speeds as have already been reached, and the greater ones that may be shortly.

California to Hold Races for Rabbits

STOCKTON, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—Calveras County lays claim to having the best jumping frogs in the country, and now comes P. V. Goodloe, of Angels, who declares that their local jack rabbits will outrun anything in the nation. To prove it, he has prevailed upon the Jumping Frog Committee to lay aside cash prizes for a rabbit running event during the annual jubilee next May. He will stage the jack rabbit race and urges all comers to bring along their rabbits—the hotter the better.

TAX FRAUD LAID TO CAPONE

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—The government today claimed additional evidence in support of its contention that "Scarface Al" Capone's income is "enormous" and that the gang leader is guilty of falsifying his income tax returns.

Seizure of telegraphic money orders, totaling $100,000 and alleged to have been sent by and to Capone in 1928, was the latest move in the government's case against the gangster.

A subpena duces tecum was served yesterday on the Western Union Telegraph Company, ordering the company to turn over to prosecutors the original copies of the telegrams, and Federal authorities said the senders and receivers of the money orders would be subpenaed later.

Assistant District Attorney Dwight Green said records of the money orders showed amounts ranging from $7,000 to $20 were transferred during 1928, most of them between Chicago and Miami and many of them bearing the names of Capone, his family and his henchmen.

Pittsburgh Chinese Boys Held as Aliens

WHEELING, W. Va., April 4.—Federal Immigration Officer William H. Marshall, of Pittsbugh, Pa., was asked today by Robert L. Logan, Deputy State Labor Commissioner to investigate the case of two young Chinese boys, found working in a laundry at Wheeling, it being alleged that they entered the United States illegally. The boys said their father, Young Pou Wou, works in a laundry at Pittsburgh, Pa.

QUIZ ON MILES DEATH WANES

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS.)—Investigation into the death of Basil Miles, former prominent State Department and chamber of commerce official, nearly two years ago, appeared today to be about complete, with little likelihood of the case being presented to a grand jury.

Neil Burkinshaw, assistant district attorney who has been conducting the inquiry several weeks, indicated no disinterment would be ordered unless Mrs. H. H. Rogers, wife of the Standard Oil magnate—Miles' widow—should make such a request. This was considered unlikely, and denial was made that he would seek to interview the widow.

Argentina Denies Slighting Hoover

BUENOS AIRES, April 4.—(INS.)—An explanation of President Irigoyen's failure to speak to President Hoover of the United States when the latter opened the radio telephone service between North and South America with messages of good-will to the executives of various nations, appeared today in La Epoca, the government newspaper.

La Epoca declares that there was no intentional slight in the failure of Senor Irigoyen to talk, and denied earlier reports that he was prevented from talking to Mr. Hoover by illness.

It was merely a misunderstanding, the newspaper said, adding that the Argentine President was told he was to receive a message from Mr. Hoover yesterday and was to return the compliment today.

Memorial Trees Planted For 3 Heroes

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4.—Three trees in the World War memorial grove, Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, have been planted in honor of three members of Company H, One Hundred Tenth Infantry, of this city, Benjamin Beierlein, Charles W. Evans and W. V. McCaffrey, killed in action.

KIDNAP BRIDE, SEEK SUITOR

CHICAGO, April 4.—(INS.)—Authorities today began a search for Mrs. Anna Storring, 18, a bride of one week, who was struck down and kidnaped last night by a man who police believe was a rejected suitor.

Police today were seeking Joseph Palumbo, 21-year-old former admirer of the girl, who was placed under a peace bond recently after Storring complained Palumbo had threatened to kill both Mrs. Storring and the young husband.

RADIO DELIVERY OF PAPER SEEN

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 4.—(INS.)—Bringing of newspapers direct to homes and delivery of business mail by radio was considered a possibility today following the successful transmission of the first page of a newspaper by radio.

Three hours after a copy of an edition of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin left the presses yesterday, it was being read in the laboratory of the General Electric Company in Schenactady. The reproduction in full size was made possible by a new type automatic carbon recorder, the invention of Charles J. Young, son of Owen D. Young of the board of directors of the General Electric Company.

The new devise is no larger than an average suitcase and may be attached to any radio.

'Your Druggists' Hear Ellis Talk

Robert E. Ellis, vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was guest of a luncheon given yesterday by the Your Druggist's Association. Besides Ellis, Charles DeMoville, of the Mutual Drug Company, Cleveland, spoke to the 150 independent druggists attending the meeting. J. W. Fiscus, of the Mutual Drug Company here, was toastmaster.

Abyssinian Rebels Routed In Fierce Battle

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, April 4.—(AP.)—The Stefani News Agency today made public reports of a fierce battle between Abyssinian Government troops under Negus Taffari, great-nephew of the Emperor Menelik II, and 10,000 riflemen under Ras Gugsa Olie, former husband of the Empress Zauditu, who died Wednesday.

Ras Gugsa was killed, together with hundreds of others, and many hundreds were wounded.

News of the battle is believed to have caused the sudden death of the empress.

The troops of Ras Gugsa, armed with two cannons and 10 machine guns, tried a surprise march on Negus Tafari's army, which had five cannons and 30 machine guns. Ras Gugsa had been making proposals of submission.

The two armies met early in the morning of March 31 at Zebit and fought until noon. Ras Gugsa was killed by the advance guards of the government's forces, of which a few were killed and 300 wounded.

News of the fight was received here with wild manifestations of rejoicing.

Mrs. Hoover's Presence Stirs Quaker Meeting

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Endeavoring to appear as inconspicuous as possible, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who is visiting Philadelphia to attend the Friends' yearly meeting, today chose a seat near the rear of the auditorium in the old meeting house at Fourth and Arch streets.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Hoover came here yesterday as a member of the Society of Friends, with no intention of taking part, her presence was felt and Quakers in the crowded room frequently turned their heads to catch a glimpse of the First Lady of the Land.

Mrs. Hoover sat with Mrs. George Vaux, of Bryn Mawh, Pa.; Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, of Washington, and Mrs. Vaux's two sons, George, a senior at Haverford College, and Henry, a freshman.

Mrs. Hoover listened with interest to the presiding clerk, D. Robert Yarnall, who conducted the business before the meeting.

REOPEN QUIZ IN TRIPLE KILLING

SEBRING, Fla., April 4.—(AP.)—The Highlands County grand jury today was called to convene here tomorrow to investigate the killing Wednesday of Mrs. William R. Carver, her young son, Lee, and a negro servant, Ben Whitehead. After William R. Carver, her husband, former Philadelphia real estate operator, had been taken into custody in connection with the slayings.

Carver told police he killed Whitehead, who he said, had slain Mrs. Carver and their child.

A coroner's jury Wednesday returned a verdict that the slaying of Whitehead was "justfiable homicide."

Further investigation led to the arrest of Carver. Sheriff Oscar Wolff said he had found stains resembling blood on a pair of Carver's golf trousers yesterday, and today announced that a blood-stained shirt, which he believed to be that of Carver, had been located at a neighbor's house where it was being washed.

AUBURN PRISON PLOT EXPOSED

AUBURN, N. Y., April 4.—(INS.)—A wild scheme for another attempt at a jail delivery in Auburn Prison—this time with machine gun assistance from the outside—was revealed today.

The plot, which included the help of a large force of armed gangsters who would attack the prison guards, was charged by Acting Warden Frank L. Heacox today in dismissing one guard and transferring four "lifers."

Warden Heacox immediately began investigation of the reported plot, which was said to link underworld characters and Auburn residents.

Croquet Starts $30,025 Worth Of Law Suits

MINNEAPOLIS, April 4.—(AP.)—The David Lambrites, croquet players, and the Ole Johnsons, fence builders, have a mutual interest in $30,025 worth of law suits.

The Lambrites used to slap the ball through wickets until the Johnsons put a fence on the vacant lot that served as a court. The Lambrites, District Judge Montgomery was told, tore it down. Then, witnesses continued, a fight started.

A daughter of Mr. Johnson's asks $10,000 for a broken nose and another $10,000 for a kick. Mrs. Ole Johnson wants $5,000 for ruffled nerves and Ole asks $5,025 for injuries.

The Johnsons ask the court for four separate verdicts, against the Lambrites, their two daughters, and two allies.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that covered the lake region and the Ohio Valley states yesterday morning is now off the New England coast, and a high pressure area is centered over the Ohio Valley states. Light rains occurred over the Atlantic coast and the Gulf states during yesterday and last night, but the latter have cleared this morning, except over the Gulf states, where it is still cloudy and rain is falling at scattered places. A low pressure area is centered over Alberta and extends southward over the eastern slope of the Rockies and the plains states, to another center over the gulf near the mouth of the Mississippi. It is producing some cloudiness in the far Northwest and over the Rocky Mountains. There was a slight drop in temperature over the Ohio Valley states and the lake region, due to cooler weather, while over the Plains states and the far Northwest the temperatures are rising.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary or falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 6.0 feet. Lock No. 7, 13.8; Pittsburgh, 15.3; Dam No. 4, 12.7; Dam No. 6, 13.7; Dam No. 8, 13.7; and Dam No. 12, 11.6. The dams are open.

OAKMONT GIRL, 15, VET CAUGHT

Fifteen-year-old Elizabeth Grove Raine, of Oakmont, and E. D. Gilmore, 33, World War veteran, with whom she left her home several months ago, were being held today by police in Atlanta, Ga., pending their return to Pittsburgh, where Gilmore probably will be held to face Federal charges. Detectives in the Southern city arrested the pair at the request of Department of Justice agents.

MAN REPORTED MARRIED

Oakmont police say the girl lived in the borough with her parents, and several months ago met Gilmore who lived with his sister in a summer cottage at the foot of Pennsylvania avenue. They say also that Gilmore is married and has a wife and two children living in Alabama.

Federal authorities had been searching for the couple ever since they left Pennsylvania together.

FACES MANN ACT CHARGE

Charges of violating the Mann act and transporting a stolen automobile in interstate commerce, will be preferred against Gilmore, it was said. Gilmore lost a leg fighting in France.

According to word received from Atlanta, the two were found in a cheap hotel, poverty stricken, and the girl told a story that was filled with trouble and hardship. She said, according to police, they traveled from place to place in stolen cars.

MARSH RESIGNS TRAFFIC POST

Burton W. Marsh, the city's traffic engineer, today resigned to accept a similar post in Philadelphia. He will leave May 1.

In seeking a new trial for the youthful slayer, his attorneys cited puported prejudicial errors in the trial court. Northcutt is under sentence to be hanged.

'Outmoded' 23rd Psalm Motorized by Teacher

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Modernization of the Twenty-third Psalm is urged by Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, professor of philosophy at Swarthmore College, who believes the phrase "The Lord is My Shepherd" to be meaningless to the modern city dweller.

He suggests the following as substitutes:

"The Lord is my automobile's low gear to help me in climbing hard hills.

"The Lord is my antiseptic in times of dangerous epidemics.

"The Lord is my dynamo to charge my run-down batteries.

"The Lord is sunlight in my room bringing me the health of ultra-violet rays."

Speaking in Columbia University as the representative of Quakerism at a symposium on religion, he said:

"Most religion nowadays is quoted. It is derived from the experience of somebody else, but has no real basis in our own experience. 'The Lord is my shepherd' tells us practically nothing about God. It is a sentimental phrase vaguely suggesting sheep. And what can that possibly mean to us of the city and the twentieth century?"

RASKOB HURLS LOBBY QUIZ IN UPROAR

Democrat Chief Denies Party Linked in Anti-Dry Fight And Sees Hope for Repeal

the lobby committee. Disputing this, Senator Walsh shouted:

"It makes no difference—we are not going to transform this hearing into a show."

After the committee session newspapermen asked Raskob if he had any objection to answering the Robinson question. He replied that he had none.

He asserted he had no intention of resigning.

HOPEFUL FOR REPEAL

Raskob said he thought some progress had been made toward modification or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment but testified that he took little part in the active work of the association. He added that the anti-prohibition organization was interested in the election of liberals to Congress "rather than in the persuasion of those in Congress."

Under sharp questioning by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader said the association was not a lobbying organization, but added that he was not sure of the correct definition of the term.

The clashes between the committee members continued throughout the hearing. At one point Caraway said to the spectators:

"Don't laugh; this is Senator Robinson's show."

After the hearing Chairman Caraway announced that William H. Stayton, of Washington, chairman of the board of directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, would be called by the committee for questioning.

Caraway asked Raskob if he had seen members of Congress in regard to their views on prohibition since he became a director.

"No," said the witness.

INTERVIEW DENIED

Raskob denied the accuracy of an interview published in the Philadelphia Public Ledger during the last presidential campaign in which he was quoted as saying he wanted "to get rid of this damnable affliction of prohibition."

Raskob smiled, as laughter broke out in the crowd at his abrupt answers to Robinson, who asked his questions in a loud voice.

Persisting, Robinson asked Raskob if he knew how much money was spent by the association last year.

"I don't know," the witness replied.

"Would it surprise you to learn $468,000 was spent last year?" Robinson continued.

"I have no knowledge of it," Raskob answered evenly.

RUM RUNNERS SHIFT SCENE

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS)—Rum smugglers have started to transfer their theater of operation from the Detroit River to other sections of the border and the Atlantic seaboard, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman said today.

Reports from Detroit showed that smuggling has been reduced by 50 per cent since the bulk of the border guards were deployed in that vicinity to plug up the biggest smuggling leak.

"There is no probability of a re-establishment of a rum-row such as existed off the Northeastern coast some years ago," Lowman said. "The smugglers who are being driven off the Canadian border will be more likely to use fast boats to duck into some inlet under cover of fog or darkness, as the opportunity presents."

Lowman said that the Coast Guard had sufficient forces in the North Atlantic to take care of the anticipated increase in the activity of smugglers this spring.

Lowman said the drive against illicit distilleries is being pressed, and that stills are being captured at the rate of nearly 2,000 a month.

Boy Trespasser Shot, Gun Wielder Freed

Frank Piepzynski, 46, of 2126 Carson street, who admitted firing a shot that wounded a boy trespassing on his property, was discharged at a hearing in Morals Court today. The boy, Walter Linkowski, 15, of 2615 Barry street, admitted that he had entered Piepzynski's bakery shop, which had been closed following a fire, with the intention of taking some bags, police say.

U. S. Asked to Join Mississippi, Lakes

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Acquisition and completion by the federal government of the Illinois waterway to connect the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River system, at an estimated cost of $7,500,000, was recommended today before the House Rivers and Harbors Committee by Brig. Gen. Deakyne, of the Army Board of Engineers.

Clark Begins 38 Years With City

With 37 years of city service to his credit, Robert Clark today begins another term as City Clerk. He was re-elected yesterday by unanimous vote of Council for a three-year term.

At the same time, Edward W. Lindsay was re-elected assistant city clerk. He has served since 1906. Clark's position pays $5,000 and Lindsay's $4,260.

month alleged to have been paid to the sheriff's men seems small.

The fact that there are hundreds of thousands of stills, big and little throughout the country, explains the generous financing of our modern crime wave.

THE small new planet whose existence was asserted by the late Professor Lowell continues to agitate scientists.

Guided by Newton's law Professor Lowell knew that disturbances in the orbit of Uranus must be accounted for by the existence of another planet.

Officials of Lowell Observatory following the new wanderer on the outskirts of our solar system, say it behaves exactly as Professor Lowell would have expected.

A DISTINGUISHED French astronomer says it is too small to amount to anything, but would change his mind if it shifted its course and struck this earth in the neighborhood of the Place de la Concorde.

THE Geographical Society of Mexico very sensibly suggests the name "Newton" for the new planet.

Had it not been for Newton and his law of gravitation "directly as the mass inversely as the square of the distance," scientists could not have known of the planet's existence.

GRIMES DENIED DIVORCE

a violent temper, used profane language, nagged him about his salary, tried to make trouble between him and his team mates.

Mrs. Grimes answered by producing three letters sent to her husband by women—letters, he said, were merely "fan mail."

JUDGE BLAMES LETTER

Commenting on these, Judge Ake said:

"The real reason for the divorce case can be found in a letter written by a girl living in Boston. This letter clearly indicates that there was some intimacy between Mr. Grimes and this girl. This letter shows that Mr. Grimes did not come in' this court with clean hands.

"Mrs. Grimes has made some mistakes. She did not always adhere as closely as possible to the truth and she was somewhat extravagant, but the extravagance was not always on her side.

"No man can own a lot of horses and belong to saddle clubs without spending money.

"In all of the testimony there was not a single word that reflected on the moral character of this wife."

NOTE CAUSES LAUGH

Endearing terms used in one of the Boston letters caused a ripple of laughter in the court room.

"I want but two things in life—you and my health," the letter read in part.

The letter from Philadelphia chided the ball player for his failure to write.

Grimes told the court he received 200 to 250 letters from admirers every season. Many, he said, were from boys and quite a number from women.

The letter from Philadelphia, which closed with the words, "love and kisses," chided Grimes for failing to reply to notes. The second Boston letter expressed a longing to see Grimes and added that "something in his nature had struck a responsive chord."

CALL ROADS ON EXTRA FARES

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Six railroads were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to have representatives appear May 1 before examiners to show cause why they should be permitted to continue operation of extra-fare passenger trains.

The commission initiated an investigation last year to determine whether the practice of the roads in charging fares in addition to regular passenger and Pullman fares and surcharges was legal. New York Central, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Michigan Central and the Erie filed applications to continue the extra charge on fast trains offering increased facilities.

Novelist Locke's Condition Unchanged

PARIS, April 4.—(AP.)—Condition of William J. Locke, British romancer and novelist, was said today at the hospital where he underwent an operation a few days ago to be unchanged. He had a fairly restful night.

Bridge Player's Spouse Hits Her; Gets Divorce

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—This game of bridge may lead to cruelty and divorce by various routes. There are some who are beaten and get divorces because of bonehead plays. On the other hand there is Mrs. Juliet White.

She, too, was struck by her husband as the result of a bridge game, she told Judge Joseph Sabath.

"You trumped his ace?" the judge asked.

"I should say not," responded Mrs. White. "I was playing against him and I played too well. He didn't take a trick."

She got her decree and a cash settlement of $3,000.

DRY LAW WILL FIGURE IN PRIMARY

'Wets,' Well Organized, Threaten Dry Adherents; National Plank Injected

International News Service

HARRISBURG, April 4.—That prohibition is to play a part in the May primary in Pennsylvania has been evident from the start. Just how great a part, remains to be seen, but those inclined to disregard the avowed "wet" candidates had received a rude shock today.

The candidacy of former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips for the governorship, Francis H. Bohlen for the United States Senate and Charles Dorrance for the lieutenant governorship, using dissatisfaction with the Eighteenth Amendment for their chiefest plank, was regarded in some quarters as a mere gesture when first announced.

MORE THAN GESTURE

If it is a gesture, today it looked like a grand gesture to alarmed drys. The "wets," organized under the leadership of Randolph T. Childs, announce their determination to carry the fight into every county in the state.

Disgruntled organization workers in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are being welcomed into the ranks. Dissatisfaction of that sort, aided and abetted by what they describe as a genuine disgust with the efforts to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, enable the "wets" to see victory perched in their shelters.

Even without an avowed "wet" faction backing its own ticket, there could have been no doubt that prohibition would enter among the campaign issues. Gifford Pinchot, independent Republican candidate seeking nomination for his second term as governor, is bone dry—an ardent dry—and would inject the question himself.

GRUNDY TOO BUSY

Senator Joseph R. Grundy, too busy with the tariff to pay much attention to the prohibition issue, has answered relative questions by reminding the questioners that as junior Senator from Pennsylvania he swore to uphold the Constitution and that he believes in law enforcement.

Francis Shunk Brown, gubernatorial candidate running with Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, seeking the senatorial toga, has not announced his stand—in spite of Pinchot's anxiety to have him tell the voters how he feels about prohibition, among other things.

Brown, linked in the campaign with a member of President Hoover's cabinet, might find it embarrassing to take a stand that would swing a wet vote to the Brown-Davis ticket—at least, so it is considered by those who see the link of the national Republican platform with that of the state through Davis' connection with the administration.

PINCHOT ASKS VOTE CHECK

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—(AP.)—Asserting that the local registration lists contained 100,000 names not legally entitled to be there and that the Philadelphia Republican organization planned to "jam another 100,000 names on the rolls" on April 16, former Gov. Gifford Pinchot last night called on the Registration Commission to "check and double check" the lists.

Speaking from radio station WFAN, Mr. Pinchot, who is running independently for the Republican gubernatorial nomination at the primaries on May 20, declared it was "notorious that the Philadelphia city machine is in the habit of padding the rolls of registered voters, but that he did not "intend to be cheated" in any such way.

"Times have changed since the Philadelphia machine found it easy to steal just as many votes as it might find necessary or desirable," Pinchot said.

Asks Orderly Trips To 'Miracle Grave'

MALDEN, Mass., April 4.—(INS.)—Scores of pilgrims to the "Miracle Grave" of the Rev. Father Patrick Power, in Holy Cross Cemetery, today faced a request from Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, asking them to be orderly and respect the other graves in the burial ground.

The request followed a visit of the cardinal to the spot where thousands flocked last fall after miraculous cures had been reported.

Philippine Senator Seeking Data in U. S.

MANILA, April 4.—(AP.)—Senator Juan Sumulong, president of the opposition Democratic party and member of the Philippine Independence Commission, sailed for the United States today aboard the liner President Jefferson.

In political circles it was said he was not going necessarily to aid the independence cause, but to gather data for use against the majority Nacionalista party in the next campaign.

Giant Plane Leaves St. Louis on Tour

LAMBERT FIELD, ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 4.—(INS.)—The largest commercial land plane, the Fokker F-32, which arrived here Wednesday from Cleveland, carrying 28 passengers and a crew of three, took off for Kansas City at 8:45 a. m. today.

The giant plane, property of the Western Air Express, is en route to the Pacific coast.

$45,849 IN CITY CONTRACTS LET

Construction contracts totaling $45,849 have been awarded by Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang, he announced today.

The largest individual item is the concrete work on the new East Street Bridge, awarded to the Welsh Construction Company for $28,448. The same company, with a bid of $786, received a contract for concrete stepsin Oakley way.

A contract for repairs to the Forbes Street Bridge went to the Parkview Construction Company, which bid $6,191. M. O'Herron Company, bidding $1,650, won the job of repairing the drainage system of Corliss Street Tunnel.

One of the contracts awarded was for the construction of concrete steps in Brosius way, a job that came into prominence when residents of the vicinity objected to the taking of part of the alley for a gasoline station owned by Edward M. Kenna. This contract was awarded to the Welsh Construction Company for $1,190. The Reiger Iron and Wire Works, bidding $4,522, received the contract for new fences in Highland Park and the Welsh company won its fourth contract withits bid of $3,060 for new walks in the same park.

TRAIN SUICIDE U. S. AGENT

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 4.—(AP.)—A man tentatively identified from papers found on his body as H. M. Rossheim, of Washington, a Department of Justice agent, shot and killed himself on a Southern Railway train en route from Washington to Columbia last night. The body was taken from the train here this morning. A note was left, which read:

"For some reason not known to me I was put on the wrong train. Furthermore I am not feeling well, as I have offended so many people unintentionally."

The note requested that the body be cremated.

Apartment Owners May Be Organized

Details of the formation of an organization of apartment owners and managers, to be affiliated with the Building Owners' Association of Pittsburgh, were discussed at a meeting in Webster Hall yesterday. The purpose of the organization is to regulate the building of apartments and to conduct surveys of business conditions in that field. Temporary officers are: President, George E. Evans; vice president, H. T. Mims; secretary, P. R. Williams, and treasurer, H. Stanley Green.

SUITS

A Fashion Necessity, This Spring

$35 $55 $75

With every woman wanting a new suit for spring, we've tried to include every new type in these three groups.

Tweed suits appear in every group in many ways . . . with loose-fitting jackets, with nipped-in waistlines, with three-quarter length coats and with short cut-away jackets. And tweeds this season are both colorful and subdued in tone.

Coverts, great favorites this year, may be seen in tailored and dressy models, with lovely crepe or satin blouses.

Afternoon ensembles, with very dressy blouses and with skirts and jackets showing the newest dressmaker treatments, subscribe to those new soft fabrics—Vio crepe, basket weaves, serapheen and wool crepes.

Sizes for women and misses.

COATS

That Will Lead Easter Promenades

$39.50 $49.50 $59.50

The fashionable world marks Easter by wearing the newest coat creations . . . such as women and misses will choose tomorrow from these three collections.

The cape coat, the jabot coat, the scarf coat, the bow coat, the fitted coat . . . the circular skirt, the belted waistline—all these types that you have read about in fashion journals, seen wherever advance styles were shown—are ready for your selection.

Coats of covert, wool crepe, basket weave, and the many other variations of spring fabrics—with lapin, galyak, broadtail, beige ermine, squirrel and leopard-stenciled lapin forming the collar, or bordering the cape or jabot.

Misses' sizes, 14 to 20. Women's sizes, 34 to 44.

Modette Footwear

$7.50 $10.50

The pump, the one-strap and the oxford—these are the outstanding types in spring footwear . . . and consequently they are found in many of the newest Modette models.

Your colorful costume may be matched with a youthful Modette shoe in green, blue, brown, clear beige . . . your chiffon dress may be complemented with black moire . . . or you may select a black shoe from numerous models. Little appliques of lizard or bands of contrasting leather — as the illustrations show—serve to make the model a bit unusual.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

All of Spring's Foremost Styles in This Group of Easter Hats

No matter what your headsize . . . whatever the contour of your face . . . whether you be blond or brunette . . . this vast assemblage of new spring hats has just the type of hat that will become you.

Straws of every weight and color . . . ballibuntl, sisol, baku and lace straws; hats to wear for every occasion of the day or evening; hats with every interpretation of the fashion dictum on brims; hats that twist their brims away from the face and hats that revive the poke bonnet mode. The colors are: natural, navy blue, black, brown, beige, red, lighter shades of blue.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

Vary Your Suit With

Silk Blouses

Every new blouse you select means another role for your spring suit. These sleeveless silk blouses will enable you to make your suit appear very tailored—if you choose the rajah, silk piques or the plainer silk crepes. It will make the suit more formal if you favor the silk crepe blouses that have frilled collars to wear over the coat, or have fagotted collars and numerous bows.

Silk blouses come in white, eggshell, orchid, maize, green, peach, capucine, and blue.

Junior-Misses' Suits and Coats

$25 $39.50

A suit or a coat?—is the mighty question the junior-miss is going to decide tomorrow. Any many of them will make the usual feminine compromise and choose both when they see all the lovely things at these two prices.

The coats—of covert, velveteen, silk, basket weaves, tweeds or wool crepe, have all sorts of capes—postillion types, military types, double capes or detachable ones. Lapin, broadtail or galyak may be seen on a collar; as a bow on the lapel or as a band above the elbow. Blues, beiges and greens share honors with navy blue and black.

The suits—monotone tweeds, flecked tweeds and the very colorful versions—and the dressier coverts and wool crepes show as much variety as the coats with their pinched waistlines, shoulder capes, peplum flared and frilly blouses. Suits in oxford, black, navy, green, blue and beige.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Easter Handbags

For Every Ensemble

$4.95

Snake for your tweed suit . . . pin seal for tailored costumes . . . and smooth calf for the dressier type of ensemble. In all the most popular bag shapes.

The exceptional variety of colors brings shades to match your costume or your shoes: beige, blue, green, red, gray, tan, brown, black, and black and white . . . and many interesting combinations with reptile.

DOPE SEIZURES SPEED ACTION BY SENATE

Prompt Consideration of Bill Aimed at Smuggling Promised by Committee

By KENNETH CLARK
Universal Service

WASHINGTON, April 4

Aroused by the recent seizures in New York of enormous quantities of dope from Europe, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee have indicated they will expedite action on the Fish bill aimed at the smuggling traffic.

The measure passed unanimously by the House would authorize payment of money for information resulting in seizure of narcotics.

In a letter to Representative Fish (Rep.) of New York, Senator Herbert (Rep.) of Rhode Island declared he would call up the bill at the committee meeting Monday and attempt to secure a favorable report.

COMMITTE FAVORABLE

A canvass revealed that a majority of the committee is sympathetic to Herbert's proposal. Senators Dill (Dem.) of Washington, Steiver (Rep.) of Oregon, Robinson, (Rep.) of Indiana, Ashurst (Dem.) of Arizona, and other members have written Fish to this effect.

Treasury officials declare the bill is essential to their campaign against the smuggling rings. Had the money been made available, they said, at least $2,000,000 worth of dope could have been seized recently before it was distributed all over the country for addicts.

SMUGGLING PROBLEM

Smuggling is one of the worst problems confronting enforcement officers. Dope can be easily purchased in Europe and smuggled aboard the trans-Atlantic liners. It is estimated that not more than 10 per cent of the stuff is seized under present conditions. On this basis at least 30 tons of morphine, enough to supply the legitimate needs of the United States for 10 years, comes in annually through illicit channels. Several offers have been received by the government from persons abroad who can reveal information on this traffic, the money to be paid only if a seizure actually is made.

BROKER GUILTY IN CITY GRAFT

ATLANTA, April 4 (AP)—Jack White, broker and business associate of Councilman Harry York, late yesterday was convicted on all four counts of an indictment charging him with defrauding the city and sentenced to serve three years on the chain gang and to pay fines aggregating $3,500.

State witnesses testified White had boasted he had the city business "tied up" that they had paid him commissions running as high as 50 per cent on goods sold to the city, and that they had paid him various sums for "using his influence" to put business deals through City Council.

His was the second trial and second conviction growing out of the activities of grand juries which, after many weeks spent investigating charges of municipal graft indicted 20 persons, including a number of city officers.

York, White's business associate, recently was convicted of bribery and sentenced to serve three years and pay a number of fines.

White's counsel announced appeal and Judge Humphries fixed appeal bond at $10,000 in addition to the $10,000 bond White already is under.

Trustee Elected By Ross Church

Harry Hammond was elected a trustee of the Forest Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Ross Township, at the annual congregational meeting, Wednesday night. In lieu of a pastor since the recent resignation of the Rev. R. B. Drukker, to accept a call to Grand Rapids, Mich., a supply will be provided temporarily by the mission organization of the Allegheny Presbytery.

Charleroi Man Held In Postal Thefts

Gordon W. Franks, 21, was lodged in jail by Deputy United States Marshal John O. Lowers, pending a hearing before the United States commissioner, on a charge of stealing parcel post packages from the North Charleroi postoffice. Franks was arrested by the Charleroi police and turned over to the Federal authorities.

Aviator Answers Subpena By Taking Air

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP).—If all subpenas were answered as swiftly as Philip Mohun, aviator, answered one he received in Hollywood, Cal., Tuesday, justice would be speedier. He reached New York today.

He flew to Columbus, O., in his own airplane and proceeded here by train.

He is to appear as a witness in the trial of Ignacio Moran, who is alleged to have violated the neutrality laws. It is asserted he employed Mohun to fly across the Mexican border with bombs.

Mohun is under indictment at El Paso, Tex., and Tucson, Ariz., on charges of smuggling arms and ammunition into Mexico by air.

Lettuce No Aid To Escaped Convict

EL CENTRO, Cal., April 4 (INS).—Robert Davis was in jail because he couldn't resemble a head of lettuce.

Davis broke from a chain gang where he was serving 30 days.

Guard Freeman fired two shots over Davis' head, but Davis did not halt. Freeman matched his other prisoners to the jail and followed Davis.

CALIFORNIANS LOSE DEBATE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 4 (AP).—An All-California college debating team was defeated here last night by vote of the audience in a debate with a Harvard University speakers' team on the question.

Resolved: That New England rather than California is the land of opportunity." Harvard took the affirmative.

The Californians declared that New England was the land of "bulldogs, beans, brown bread, Bunker Hill and blue laws." The Harvard debaters conducted themselves in an extremely serious manner throughout and refused to deride their opponents.

The California team was made up of J. B. Wilson, University of California; R. McClintock, Stanford University, and George B. Bowster, University of Southern California.

Officials Confer To Push City Work

Street, sewer, park and playground projects included in the current year's improvement program were discussed by members of Council, Director Edward G. Lang of the Public Works Department, Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt yesterday. The conference was held with the idea of co-ordinating effort toward getting as many of the projects started as possible.

Folks Healthier Now Than 50 Years Ago

BOSTON, March 14 (INS).—"The average person today is healthier than when I became a physician 50 years ago," said Dr. Melvin T. Stone, of Troy, N. H., on a visit here. "Fewer babies die now than 50 years ago due to better pre-natal care of the mothers.

"I believe people are healthier now than formerly because of better public health measures and also because the average person knows more about taking care of himself than in bygone days."

War Veteran's Dry Sentence Probated

Charles Marioana, 40, of Dukes was Johnstown, was placed on an 18-month probation by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, with a suspended one-year jail sentence when he pleaded guilty to violating the national prohibition law. Marioana is a former soldier. His arms were crippled while serving in the World War.

Man Slays Wife, Attempts Suicide

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 4 (AP).—John W. Moore last night shot and killed his estranged wife, Mrs. Eunice A. Moore, and then turned his pistol on himself, inflicting perhaps fatal wounds, after a quarrel on a downtown street corner.

GANDHI NEARS END OF MARCH

NAVASARI, Baroda, India, April 4 (AP).—Almost at the end of his civil disobedience march to manufacture salt at Dandi on the Gulf of Cambay in contravention of the government monopoly, Mahatma Gandhi arrived here from Dhaman tonight.

The road between the two villages, only six miles apart, was especially decorated for the passage of the Indian leader and his volunteers. A large number of admiring natives watched them pass.

Speaking to a crowd of villagers, Gandhi declared: "Either I shall return with what I want or my dead body will float on the ocean."

Wild Horses' Tails To Buy Tractors

MOSCOW, April 4.—(INS)—Turkestan peasants have voted to cut off the tails and manes of all wild horses there and sell the locks to buy tractors.

The action was taken in response to a statement from the commissariat of trade in Moscow that horse hair was a valuable article for export and would give the government foreign credit with which to buy more tractors.

The peasants around Alma Ata figured that 1,800 tails and manes would yield enough for one tractor. They are out to get about 25 tractors, even though the countryside may look shorn as a result.

TULSA, Okla., April 4.—(AP).—Carl Jimson did not believe in signs.

The sign in this case was on the door of a branch prohibition office, which was the place Jimson was directed by a telephone "customer" to deliver four pints of liquors.

Jimson obliged and is repenting in jail. The sign identifying the office as a prohibition enforcement stronghold meant nothing to him. Jimson told dry agents who welcomed him. His business was rushing, he said, and he made the delivery personally to render "service."

Squirrel Hill Bus Route Opens Today

The new Monitor bus route to the Squirrel Hill district was to go into effect today, according to T. W. Noonan, general manager of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company. The route will be the same as the Squirrel Hill run to the Merry-Go-Round in Schenley Park, from which coaches will proceed by way of Beechwood boulevard to Forward avenue and to the boulevard again, thence to Monitor street. Coaches will operate on an eight-minute schedule during the peak hours and 15-minute headway during off hours. Service will be maintained between 9:15 a. m. and until 11:15 p. m.

YELLOW TRUCK PLANS MERGER

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP).—Negotiations are in progress between General Motors Corporation and the Omnibus Corporation for the acquisition of the latter's properties, which include the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, the New York Railways Company and subsidiaries and the Chicago Motor Coach Company.

The negotiations, it is said, are being conducted for General Motors by the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company, between which and the Omnibus Corporation there is already a close affiliation. J. A. Ritchie, chairman of the Yellow Truck Company, is also president of Omnibus Corporation and is chairman of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, as well as director in several of the other companies concerned.

Total assets of the Omnibus Corporation come to more than $18,000,000. The Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company has assets of about $6,000,000 and operates many subsidiaries, which include Hertz Driveurself Corporation, General Motors Truck Company and the Yellow Coach Manufacturing Company.

SIX HENS STAR IN EGG LAYING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(INS)—Six hens made perfect scores during the month of February at the poultry experimental plants the Illinois Department of Agriculture operated at Quincy, Kankakee and Murphysboro according to the report turned in today to Director Sturat E. Pierson, by the chief poultryman, E. G. Horner.

One consistent layer at the Murphysboro contest respects the Sabbath, laying one egg on each week day, but none on Sunday.

COWARD DEATH PENALTY HIT

LONDON, April 4.—(AP.)—In debate over the Army bill last night, the House of Commons voted by 288 to 165 in favor of the abolition of the death penalty for cowardice in certain cases. An amendment favoring the retention of this penalty for acts inducing others to become cowardly was defeated.

Through a misunderstanding, Labor members supported another amendment, to which they were in fact opposed, for the retention of the death penalty for soldiers quitting their posts or causing false alarms to be spread. This amendment probably will be deleted later.

The bill proposed to retain the death penalty for desertion, but a Laborite amendment substituting penal servitude, was carried by 219 to 135, the government being technically defeated by its own followers. However, as the government has left the matter to the discretion of the House, the defeat does not count as a parliamentary reverse.

Grandmother Loses Battle for Child

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 4.—Although Mrs. Mary L. Gillespie, of Ittawamba County, Miss., came 1,200 miles to attempt to regain possession of her grandson, Eugene Lee Duncan, 8, the courts here ruled the child shall remain in custody of its stepmother, Mrs. Mabel Duncan of West Newt

WOMAN'S DEATH LAID TO FRIGHT

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Possibility that Mrs. Mildred Helsing, found dead Tuesday in her apartment, may have died of heart disease, superinduced by fright, was being investigated today by police.

This angle was shunted into the case when investigators decided the black ribbon found tied around her throat was not sufficiently tight to cause strangulation.

Investigators said they believed Mrs. Helsing surprised a robber in her apartment, struggled with him and the strain was too great for her heart.

Authorities, however, still held two suspects, but admitted lacking sufficient evidence against either to warrant filing charges. Microscopic tests were being conducted of parings from fingernails of each.

Masontown Youth Held In Car Theft

MASONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—Robert Wright, 19, of Masontown, yesterday confessed, New Salem state police said, that he stole an automobile from Masontown several weeks ago, drove it to the mountains east of Uniontown and stripped it.

URGE TEACHING OF RUM EVILS

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Recommendations that the old temperance societies of the Methodist Episcopal Church be revived were submitted to the New York East Conference in Brooklyn by the four district superintendents officiating in the area.

Representatives of more than 300 churches were present with Bishop Herbert Welch of the Pittsburgh area presiding.

Superintendents in their report advocated the temperance societies to instruct the boys and girls in church schools as to "the evils arising from the use of alcohol.

"Before the war temperance societies in our church schools were almost universally common," the report said. "Today they are the exception. We have forgotten that in the 10 years since the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment there has grown up a generation of boys and girls who never saw a saloon and who are totally ignorant of pre-prohibition conditions.

"To carry a hip flask and take a social glass does not seem to them reprehensible and they are easily persuaded to believe that it ought not to be prohibited.

The area represented at the conference includes parts of New York and Connecticut.

MEXICO FIGHTS SMALLPOX

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—(AP)—The department of public health advised the American Consulate General that though cases of smallpox were prevalent in Mexico City they had not reached the epidemic stage. The department felt that there was no cause for general alrarm.

Thousands of school children have been inoculated by bridages from the National Universal Medical School. The public health department alone vaccinated 18,000 persons yesterday, and urged everyone to take precautions.

It announced that 24 cases of "black" smallpox had been reported in January, 32 in February, and 72 in March.

Indian Seeking Kin's Body to Get Wealth

YOSEMITE, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—Johnny Brown, aged Indian employed on park trails in summer has a new job which may bring him wealth. The job consists in watching the waters of the Merced River for the body of Billy Lancey, his nephew.

Lancey, the wealthiest Indian in this region because his forefathers leased a lot of land to a hotel company, was believed to have been drowned recently when his automobile turned over in the river. Brown, Lancey's sole heir, sought possession of his nephew's property. But the authorities said no, that under the white man's law he must produce the body or wait seven years. If in seven years Lancey doesn't show up, the property goes to Brown.

So all day Johnny watches the river and waits.

FRAU WAGNER CREMATED

COBURG, Germany, April 4.—(AP)—The body of Frau Cosima Wagner, widow of the famous composer, was brought here from Bayreuth yesterday and cremated in the presence of Siegfried Wagner, her son, and his wife.

The cremation was accompanied by a rendition of the passion music from Wagner's opera "Parsifal" played by the Chamber Music Quartet of the Coburg State Opera. As the body was taken into the crematorium the Pilgrims' Chorus from "Tannhaeuser" was sung.

A wealth of floral offerings decorated the coffin, including those sent by former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg, and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

HOUSE FAVORS P. O. BILL

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—A House Postoffice Sub-committee reported favorably on two bills introduced by Representative Kelly, of Edgewood.

One measure, with the support of the Postoffice Department, recommends the installation of a new accounting system in the department. Elimination of charges for free service, which witnesses said contribute toward the annual deficit, are sought.

These services include free carriage of raised letter mail for the benefit of the blind, preferential rates to religious and county papers, the franking penalty and subsidies to air and ocean mail. It was contended by Postoffice Department officials that passage of the Kelly bill would lift $30,000,000 annually from the department deficit.

The second bill would permit the forwarding of first class mail from run through stamp meters if overweight, with the understanding that postage due would be collected by the local postoffices.

BAIL GIVEN TRIO IN DROWNINGS

HOUSTON, Tex., April 4.—(AP)—Three men charged with murder after the sinking of a boat on the San Jacinto River in which their three companions drowned were released on bonds of $1,000 each when officers agreed that a foul play theory apparently was without foundation.

After conferring with investigators, District Attorney O'Brien Stevens agreed to the small bonds for R. H. Hahley, 24, Nick Gress, 24, and W. D. Cunningham, 35. Two women, Avis Larry, 18, and Mrs. Amie Proctor, 19, made statements to authorities which indicated there may have been foul play with jealousy as the motive for the boat sinking last Monday night, in which Albert Miller, 25, Joe Scott, 32, both white, and Peter McGee, 49, Negro, drowned.

The filing of charges resulted from a conversation between the two women in the presence of Patrolman H. Serres. The officer took them to police headquarters where they made statements.

Sergt. George Peyton, of the homicide squad, made public his report to Chief of Detectives W. F. Kessler, which were without foundation.

Kansas Man, 75, Flies To Rites Of Brother

PERRYOPOLIS, Pa., April 4.—George Smith, 75, of Macksville, Kan., chartered an airplane to attend the funeral of his brother, Henry Smith, 80, at Perryopolis. The aged man landed at Pittsburgh and then made the trip to Perryopolis by train and auto.

Manchester Church Selects Officials

Nine trustees were chosen by the Manchester Presbyterian church at its annual meeting this week as follows: Albert C. Walter, Albert Young, A. A. Tegge, Harvey H. Sorg, Albert D. Strasser, J. H. Phillips, Harry Nobbs, Harry Weinand and Joseph Staib. The Men's Bible class elected these officers: President, H. H. Sorg, vice president, H. L. Hutchinson, C. A. Bower and W. E. Jones; secretary, Albert Pritchard; treasurer, W. L. Butzler.

Grandmother Hurt In Vain Effort To Save Baby

DOVER, O., April 4.—Floyd Bixler, Jr., 22-month-old son of P. F. Bixler, of Ashland, was killed, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Bixler, 74, of Dover, suffered brain concussion when the child was struck by a provision truck driven by Arthur Formett, of Canton, as he ran across the road. Mrs. Bixler ran into the truck when she attempted to rescue the child.

Town Forgets All About Election Day

DENVER, April 4. (AP.)—The town of Morrison, Colo., forgot to hold its biennial city election Tuesday. The city fathers, who have just discovered the oversight, are wondering whether to have a delayed contest or let the matter rest until the 1932 election date.

GENERAL TANK NET PROFIT EXPANDS

Year's Income Shows 47% Increase Over Previous 12 Months; $8.33 a Share

CHICAGO, April 4.—General American Tank Car Corporation last year enjoyed increased business in both its car leasing and car manufacturing departments, and in addition, continued its expansion policy. In consequence, net income increased at a considerably higher rate than in 1928. Net income of $5,770,741 last year was an increase of $1,859,987 or 47.5 per cent over 1928 net, which in turn represented an increase of $981,709 or 34 per cent over 1927.

Average stock outstanding during year did not increase in same ratio as net income, with the result that earnings a share showed a further gain. Earnings on 692,834 average number of common shares outstanding last year were $8.33 a share, an increase of 62 cents, or 8 per cent over 1928 earnings of $7.71 a share, which showed increase of 68 cents, or almost 9.7 per cent over $7.03 a share earned on average shares in 1927.

TREND UPWARD

Trend of General American's earnings over the past eight years is shown hereunder:

	Net income	Earned on stock
1929	$5,770,741	$8.33
1928	3,910,754	7.71
1927	2,921,046	7.03
1926	2,265,014	5.57
1925	2,003,956	5.38
1924	2,046,998	5.62
1923	1,818,256	4.66
1922	1,521,795	4.03

Only once in the past eight years have net income and earnings a share failed to increase over the preceding year, and the decrease in 1925 net was negligible. The annual gains in net income, however, were relatively moderate until the past two years, during which the company made a number of profitable acquisitions and benefited from rising volume of business in its field.

PROFIT MARGIN UP

Improved operating efficiency and larger gross volume have been reflected in wider profit margins. Percentage of gross carried to net income has gained considerably of recent years. Last year net from operations (exclusive of $784,325 "other income" reported separately but included in net income of $5,770,741) formed practically the same percentage of gross as in 1928 and would have shown another increase had company not pursued policy of extensive car rehabilitation benefits from which should be realized in 1930. With another increase in gross in prospect, the percentage of gross carried to net may widen again this year.

"OTHER" INCOME

Non-operating income of $784,325 last year, amounting to $1.13 a share on 692,834 average shares outstanding, consisted of dividends, interest and other income from investments. These investments were composed of securities in related industries, mainly acquired toward the end of 1928.

STANFORD GETS OLD AX BACK

STANFORD, Cal., April 4.—(AP.)—The famous Stanford University ax, stolen from several husky guards at a football game in 1899, today was back home after reposing in a vault at the University of California for 31 years.

Three young men, posing as news cameramen and reporters, last night seized the emblem from University of California students who were taking the ax to an armored car for a journey to the annual "ax rally" of their school. A tear gas bomb was hurled by the raiders during the melee. Several thousand California students, after the seizure, guarded roads leading back to the Stanford campus, but in vain.

The ax, symbol of what Stanford intended to do on the athletic field to the University of California, was displayed first in 1898, when the phrase "give 'em the ax" was comparatively new.

SCORES STREET TAXI STAND

Taxicab stands on thoroughfares in congested areas are not only a misuse of public streets but are illegal, according to Frank L. Duggan, general chairman of the Better Traffic Committee.

The illegality, according to Duggan, has been shown by a recent decision of the New York Supreme Court which, he said, was based on legal principles common in both states.

"Taxi stands must be placed so that a very important part of our public transportation system may function properly," he declared at a meeting of the committee. "The setting aside of private stands for the use of individual companies, however, is a misuse of public streets, this committee believes."

An ordinance in Council, codifying about 100 traffic ordinances, corrects the situation by opening all stands to all licensed companies, Duggan added.

The committee met yesterday afternoon to consider a new educational and improvement program, to appoint heads of subcommittees and to introduce 19 new members.

Edward B. Lee, discussing the construction of new buildings in the Triangle, declared that none should be built "without proper off-street parking and loading facilities."

Walter Rosenbaum was appointed head of the committee on education; George E. Clarkson, accident prevention; Fred C. Schatz, legislation; Prof. Lewis W. McIntyre, enforcement; Lee, off-street terminals; John M. Rice, street facilities; H. B. Kirkpatrick, traffic flow, and W. J. Moore, trucking and deliveries.

ASKS $25,000 FOR ARREST

Charles Brown, of London, Ont., today filed suit in Federal District Court here asking $25,000 damages from the City of Pittsburgh, charging false arrest. Brown asserts he was held for 24 hours on a suspicious person charge, and contends that this charge is "indefinite, uncertain, arbitrary and meaningless."

Ward Bonsall and David B. Fawcett, attorneys representing Brown, said today he was arrested February 4 at the William Penn Hotel on an accusation of indecent exposure and was fined $5 after being held in jail for 24 hours on the suspicious person charge. They said he has also brought suit against the William Penn Hotel.

Although a resident of Canada, Brown is a citizen of the United States.

Edward Warren, 73, Film Pioneer, Dead

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—(AP.)—Edward Warren, 73, pioneer motion picture director and once a prominent actor, died here yesterday. He appeared in casts with Lillian Russell, Robert Mantell, Viola Allen, Fanny Davenport and other famous stage figures. Warren at one time was a director of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York City. He was born in Boston, Mass.

New Bottle Factory Planned Near Kane

KANE, Pa., April 4.—Application for a charter has been made for the Quaker Glass Company, which will erect a factory at Wilcox, eight miles southeast of Kane, for the manufacture of glass bottles. It is expected that work on the factory buildings will be under way in a few weeks and that operations can be started by midsummer. It is understood that about 100 men will be employed.

2 YOUTHS HELD IN HOLDUPS

Arrested by Turtle Creek police in connection with a series of robberies in Wilmerding, Pitcairn, Universal and Turtle Creek, Clarence Ray, 19, of Humbert street, Wilmerding, and Steve Furlick, 22, of Atterley, near Wilmerding, were being held in the Allegheny County jail today. They are to be given hearings tonight before Justice of the Peace William Wilkinson, of Turtle Creek.

Patrolmen Alex Fosolas and John Starkenbach apprehended Ray and Furlick late Tuesday night as the pair, police say, were en route to holdup the garage of H. S. Kultau, Monroeville avenue and Sycamore street, Turtle Creek. The youths have admitted the robbery intent, police alleged.

Capt. Joseph Sauter, of Turtle Creek police, said he has obtained confessions of holdups alleged to have been staged by the pair. They were turned over to the custody of County Detective Ed Frank for questioning.

Ray and Furlick implicated Tony Ramonsky, of Wilmerding, in connection with the robberies, police said. Rewards totaling $500 have been offered for Ramonsky's arrest. Ramonsky is being sought also for the Wilmerding jail delivery when Police Chief James Maguire was locked in a cell, and in connection with the Potter, McCune Company holdup.

ROCKNE ENTERS HOSPITAL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 4.—(AP.)—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, is in St. Francis Hospital here for treatment of a slight bronchial attack, according to Dr. Walter T. Hotchkiss, his physician.

Dr. Hotchkiss said Rockne went to the hospital on advice of several consulting physicians, for rest and attention, despite their belief his condition was in no way serious. He said Rockne has recovered to great extent from the ailment that held him from the football field all last season.

"I am confident that he will be able to return to active coaching duties on the field at Notre Dame next fall," said the physician.

Dr. Hotchkiss said that Dr. C. J. Barborka, en route from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., is a friend of the Rockne family, who is coming here to accompany the football coach to his home in South Bend soon.

2 HELD IN HORST CASE FREED

WOOSTER, April 4.—(AP.)—Charles Hannah and Earl Conold were freed from charges of stealing and murdering Melvin Horst, 4, of Orrville, O. When Judge J. A. Starn today nolled the indictments against them. Judge Starn's action was requested by Prosecutor Marion Graven.

During the period Hannah and Conold had been in jail they made an amazing series of accusations, confessions to kidnaping and killings, and denials of the crimes charged against them, but the state has no evidence against them unless confessions which they denied could be construed as such.

The Horst boy disappeared mysteriously from near his home December 27, 1928, and no trace of him has been found. Fruitless searches for his body have been made in dozens of places.

1,200 Miners Strike In Kentucky Fields

MADISONVILLE, Ky., April 4.—(AP.)—Because of disputes over wages and working conditions and unfavorable market conditions, nearly 2,000 miners today were out of work in the Western Kentucky coal fields, about 1,200 being on strike and the rest affected by shutdowns.

The latest to quit were 300 employes of the Providence Coal Mining Company and the Meador, Young and Holt Coal Company, in Webster County, who failed to go to work after refusal of their demand for payment of the 1917 wage scale. The West Kentucky Coal Company has suspended operations at two mines because of unfavorable market conditions, making 600 men idle.

Brown Favors Raise In Postal Rates

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, speaking last night at a meeting of the Bronx Board of Trade, advocated increasing the rate on first class mail to 2½ cents to eradicate the $50,000,000 deficit in his department.

CENSUS TAKERS QUIT IN FEAR

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—(AP.)—Explaining that they had found task of obtaining adequate and correct answers in 24 classifications of the census too difficult, more than a score of Philadelphia enumerators submitted their resignations last night.

One woman reported the task to be hazardous. She said she had been shoved off a porch by a housewife who had mistaken her for an installment collector.

There were several protests against admitting the ownership of radios on the plea that the possessor would be taxed for it, and police had to be summoned to aid in obtaining answers from a number of divorced persons.

Brother of Kellogg, Food Maker, Dead

GLENDALE, Cal., April 4.—(AP.)—Dr. Preston Kellogg, 72, brother of W. K. Kellogg, food manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., died of heart disease here yesterday. Dr. Kellogg served in the Army medical corps in the Philippines. He leaves his widow, a daughter and two brothers—the manufacturer and Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Mich.

GET BANK THIEF AT POOR FARM

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 4.—(INS.)—Sought for 15 years for embezzlement of $11,000 from the Citizens National Bank of Englewood, N. J., Abram Cornelius, Jr., 62, known here as A. P. Cornell, today had been located at the County Poorfarm and arrested by federal authorities.

His former stenographer and sweetheart, Loretta Adelgais, now only 32, infatuation for whom led Cornelius to take the money and leave his wife and who bore him three children and attained a position of prominence here, is in the State Hospital for the Insane at Evanston. The three children are in a home.

Cornelius had been an officer of the bank 25 years. In a confession, he told how business ventures and his health had failed.

MARTIAL LAW CURBS BORNO

PORT - AU - PRINCE, Haiti, April 4.—(AP.)—The instrument which has given President Louis Borno the military power to support his tenure of office is now being turned in the opposite direction, and as M. Borno prepares to comply with the new government plan drawn up by President Hoover's commission he finds himself the instruments' object.

This instrument is the decree of martial law, put into effect last January when the legislative elections should have been held under the Constitution but were not held because the president declined to permit them.

Under the decree, complete power to keep peace in the country is placed in the hands of the high commissioner, Brig. Gen. John H. Russell. Even the president is subjected to this decree, in any emergency. That emergency now seems to have arisen.

CENSORSHIP IMPOSED

Although officially no announcement was made, it is known that because some of President Borno's recent actions were regarded as tending to prevent the successful culmination of the Hoover commission plan, an order was issued by Gen. Russell that the president could send no more messages over the domestic telegraph line unless they bore the written approval of the high commissioner.

President Borno had telegraphed to all prefects, advising them that the recent meeting of the Assembly of Delegates, called according to the plan, to approve this selection of Eugene Roy as temporary president, had acted in an illegal manner, and that the council of state would do the electing on April 14.

PROTESTS HEARD

From all parts of the Republic, an came cries that Borno had repudiated the plan by his inference that the Assembly had tried to elect Roy, instead of approving him, which actually it did, and then disbanded. Hurried calls were paid by American legation officials to various leaders of the federated patriotic groups. The word was left with these leaders to pay no attention to such messages emanating from the palace.

That same day, it later was learned, the domestic telegraph office received an order, under the decree of martial law, to send all future messages of the president to the American legation. It was the first time such step was taken, but the inference was left that nothing would be left undone to assure the successful and peaceful culmination of the Hoover plan.

Russia Gets Photos Of New Planet

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., April 4.—(AP.)—Astronomers attached to the Pulkovsky Observatory here completed two successful photographs of the planet recently discovered by the Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz.

They estimate that the planet is about 5,282,400,000 miles from the sun, or nearly 57 times farther away from the sun than the sun from the earth.

Crippled Aviator Hurt in Landing

HENDERSON, Ky., April 4.—(AP.)—M. R. Daugherty, legless and one-armed aviator of New Martinsville, W. Va., was injured slightly in the forced landing of his plane yesterday at Edge City. He suffered a scalp wound.

Daugherty's plane ran short of fuel while he was flying it from Kansas City to New Martinsville.

ECKENER MAPS OCEAN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Out of studies and conferences which have engaged Dr. Hugo Eckener day by day, there emerged last night the latest details concerning trans-oceanic dirigible service which may be instituted within two years.

One of the Graf Zeppelin commander's closest advisers, Commander J. C. Hunsacker, revealed that:

Passenger fares will be approximately double steamer rates.

Germany will furnish two ships, the Graf Zeppelin and a new dirigible to be constructed immediately for completion in 1931.

America will build two ships, modeled after the two dirigibles ordered by the United States Navy.

Eastward trips from airport to airport will be made in two days and western trips in three days.

Commander Hunsacker, former Navy dirigible expert and now vice president of the International Transport Company, has accompanied and conferred with the Graf Zeppelin's skipper during the recent terminal surveys. Dr. Eckener is technical adviser and leading German figure in the proposed service.

"Immediately on his return to Germany," Hunsacker said, "Dr. Eckener will go ahead with the construction of a new dirigible for the service, a larger and faster ship than the Graf Zeppelin and scheduled to be completed by the autumn of next year."

Bank Embezzler Caught After 15 Years

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 4.—(AP.)—It took nearly 15 years and a trip to the poor house, but the Department of Justice finally traced down Abram Cornelius, Jr., 62, alias A. P. Cornell, wanted at Englewood, N. J., for embezzling $11,000 from the Citizens National Bank in July, 1915.

Cornelius was arrested at the County Poor House here after he had been recognized by Department of Justice agents from a photograph as the missing New Jersey cashier.

Man Sought Months Returned to Jail

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 4.—(AP.)—Sam Nicolose, wanted since last September for sentencing on a liquor law conviction and for trial on charges of witness-tampering, was returned to the Crawford County jail. He was arrested at Olean, N. Y., on a bench warrant. His disappearance following his conviction resulted in the forfeiture of $2,500 in bail bonds.

"Last Night He Was Mine—Tonight He's With Her"

"I'm hungry for you, sweetheart. Couldn't stay away another day."

That was what Ken had said last night.

But tonight he was with Cecile. Cecile, the girl he was engaged to marry but did not love.

Jealousy scorched Ardeth as she thought of Ken's vivid face bent close to Cecile's provocative lips . . .

"Girl Unafraid" is the gripping story of a great game of love two young moderns played with the dice loaded against them.

The author of "Marianne," Gladys Johnson, has created another tale of conflicting human emotions that will add new glory to her famous name.

In "Girl Unafraid," Miss Johnson has conceived an entirely new triangle, daring in its disregard of convention, great in the fineness of its love.

Don't miss this powerful study of modern men and women.

HACKETT SINGS FAVORITE SONGS ON RADIO TONIGHT

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

TOSTI'S "Goodbye" and "Song of Songs" will be a part of Charles Hackett's repertoire tonight when he sings for Armour, KDKA at 9:30. F. Edson White, president of Armour and Company, will speak.

Again the Raleigh Revue on WCAE at 10 appears unusually attractive. High spots include the singing of "Ol' Man River" by Winfred Glenn, "You're the Cream in My Coffee" by a trio quartet the Rovers in the Blue Room" from "The Girl Friend."

Miss Dragonette

The Cities Service program over WCAE at 8 o'clock will close with Jessica Dragonette singing "By the Waters of Minnetonka."

An exciting episode in the Decision for Freedom series is scheduled for KDKA at 8 o'clock. The sketch will depict events leading up to the "Declaration of Independence."

WJAS will have excellent features in the Nit Wits at 8, the Navy Band at 8:30 with a talk to war veterans by Rear Admiral Charles E. Riggs. Mary and Bob at 9 and the Green and White series at 10.

Garibaldi's Romance.

The romantic love story of Italy's hero and warrior, Garibaldi, will be dramatized.

When Garibaldi was a young and ardent patriot, his native Italy was a group of provinces ruled by alien powers. Garibaldi dreamed of making Rome once more the great capital of the world, and by the time he was 27 he had fought with such zeal that he was placed on Italy's death list and was forced to flee to South America.

It was in South America, while serving as guerilla leader for the republic of Uruguay that he met the first girl who had ever attracted him, Anita Ribeiras. His courtship of her was as rapid and successful as were his military campaigns.

Anita was as courageous as Garibaldi. Although she was betrothed to another, she escaped from her father and fled with Garibaldi to a priest who married them only after Garibaldi had laid his pistols on the altar and threatened to kill him.

Thereafter Anita accompanied Garibaldi on all his perilous campaigns both in South America and Italy. They braved all hardships together and finally, when she lay dying, he risked his life to go to her.

Editorial

Looking For Business —Not Sympathy

The reason a lot of little fellows are being crowded out of business is because they DON'T KNOW HOW to stick in.

For instance, any man buying a suit of clothes insists on real service, on real value, on real satisfaction.

You can't blame a man for that!

The reason the "chains" haven't even ruffled my hair is because I am still out in front offering my customers a service that can't be duplicated.

Not alone my personal attention to every detail, but the best Suit for your money in Pittsburgh.

HARRY MASON

HAVE IT MADE For YOU!

Get into a new suit that looks like a real tailor had done the job!

It pays . . . both in APPEARANCE and in the SERVICE you get from the clothes.

$29 AND $35

My Sensational Prices for Suits-to-Order
That have all the characteristics of $50 to $60 clothes.

DICKEY QUIZZED ON HALL SITE

Lincoln Dickey, Atlantic City convention expert, who recommended the Oakland site for a proposed Pittsburgh Town Hall, has been asked by E. C. Eppley, president of the William Penn [illegible] some practical fea[illegible]rt of the Oakland [illegible]st a location in or [illegible] the downtown district.

The request was communicated to Dickey yesterday in a letter which carried as an enclosure a copy of Eppley's letter to George S. Davison, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Town Hall Committee, in which the hotel man disclaimed any intention to inject personalities into the controversy over Town Hall sites.

"Without any thought of injecting personalities into the controversy, we are sincerely endeavoring to develop a consensus of opinion on the question of the most desirable location for the Town Hall. Therefore, we would be interested in receiving from you any practical reasons in support of the Oakland site."

Firemen All Set, Then Train Cuts Hose

JACKSON, Mich., April 4.—(AP).—Smoke was rolling from the W. S. Kimball house as the Jackson fire department, sirens shrieking and bells clanging, dashed upon the scene.

Quickly the hose was laid, orders were given smoothly, firemen swarmed upon the roof with their axes, and the huge pumper was started. Everything was in readiness for another vigorous battle by the Jackson fire department.

"Turn on the water," yelled the chief.

And then a freight train roared down the right of way, right over the hose which the firemen had laid across the tracks, and the W. S. Kimball house burned down.

12 Killed By Blast In Belgian Colliery

BRUSSELS, April 4.—(AP).—Twelve men were killed and nine others injured in a firedamp explosion in a coal mine at Elouges, near Mons, last night.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets, 10c.

—are often caused by harsh, non-absorbent toilet tissue

A PROMINENT specialist estimates that 65 per cent of all men and women over 40 years of age are suffering from some form of rectal trouble.

An appalling condition! Yet not surprising in view of the gross indifference of most people to the quality of toilet tissue used in their homes.

Not until recently has the importance of bathroom tissue to health been fully realized.

Today, however, millions of housewives are insisting upon the tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved . . . ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three health-protecting tissues are twice as absorbent as ordinary tissues. Without this absorbency, thorough cleansing is impossible.

Only the finest of fresh materials go into Scott Tissues. Crumple a sheet in your hand. Feel its unusual softness . . . its linen-like texture.

Scott Tissues, too, are chemically pure—neither acid nor alkaline. Guard the health of your family and yourself by always asking for either ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf.

Scott Tissues

They fit the built-in fixtures

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world . . . Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

ORNING UNTIL NINE AT NIGHT

DEATHS BEYOND 35 MOUNTING

NEW YORK, April 4 —(AP)— Dorothy G. Wiehl, of the Milbank Memorial fund's research staff, announced that Federal Census Bureau figures show American women now have less chance of living to old age than women had ten years ago, although women have better chances of reaching three-score and ten than men have.

Miss Wiehl's report was based on a study of deaths among adults from 1921 to 1927 and said during that period eight causes were responsible for from 65 to 85 per cent of all deaths in the United States after the age of 35. These are tuberculosis, heart disease, cancer, diabetes, cerebral hemorrhage and apoplexy, pneumonia, nephritis and accidents.

MIDDLE AGE HAZARDS

Miss Wiehl said that lower death rates among babies and from infectious disease had increased the average length of life but that death was taking an increasing toll among people in the prime of life and after middle age.

"Striking changes in the death rates among men and women of different ages occurred during this short period," said Miss Wiehl. "At every age the change is more favorable for females than for males, and this is particularly true for the ages of middle life. In the age group 35 to 44, the death rate for males in 1927 showed an increase of 12.5 per cent over the 1921 mortality, as against a decrease in the female death rate of 4 per cent.

FEMALES FAVORED

"At ages 45 to 54, the increase for males was 13.8 per cent, compared with an increase of 2.5 per cent for females. Even at the ages of 25 to 34, a more favorable course in the female death rate was observed.

"In the age group 55 to 74, the increase in deaths of men exceeded that of women by 320 [illegible] 000. The death toll for [illegible] ceeded the death toll for [illegible] in each of the causes [illegible] except diabetes."

Butler War Veteran Dies in Hospital

BUTLER, Pa., April 4.—Vincent Markusnowsky, 37, died in the Navy Hospital at Philadelphia. He had been ill since his discharge from the United States Army, April 21, 1929. He served in the Argonne and other famous battles in France and was wounded October 11, 1918. He is survived by his widow, a son, his parents, five brothers and three sisters, all o. Crossport. The body will be brought to Butler for burial.

Two Men Killed When Plane Crashes

DANVILLE, Va., April 4.—(AP)—Cobert B. Perdue and Flemins Wright, both of Danville, were killed here yesterday in the crash of their monoplane from an altitude of about 300 feet above municipal airport. Perdue was killed instantly and Wright died while being brought to the city in an ambulance. Several eye witnesses to the accident state that the plane went into a tail spin while circling for a landing.

Tionesta Seeking Place on Highway

TIONESTA, Pa., April 4.—Citizens of this section are circulating a petition requesting Secretary of Highways Stuart to have a survey made of the Tionesta-Oil City highway on the Tionesta side of the river, in addition to that already made on the railroad side.

EUROPE COPIES U.S. ON SCHOOLS

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 — America's ideals of democ- ducational opportunity are r throughout Western than ever before, Sir Michael Sadler, master of University College, Oxford, England, last night told several thousand educators attending schoolmen's week at the University of Pennsylvania.

"Our analysis of the forces at work in the minds of men throughout the world," the speaker declared, "would have been far less adequate and in some respects our hopes for the future more precarious but for the exciting spectacle and the gigantic power of educational movements in the United States.

"As one witness I can testify that in almost every part of both hemispheres American influence in the educational outlook of the people has grown stronger from decade to decade and never has been so powerful as it is today.

"For 150 years American education has had influence on English opinion, at first obscurely and in the teeth of strong political resentment but with growing power which eventually showed itself conspicuously."

Dr. Emma Grand Meader, president of educational subjects and wife of J. L. Meader, president of Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y., said that American "snobbery" in ridiculing those who attempt to speak the English language well and without colloquial inflections should be discouraged.

Albert Lindsay Rowland, superintendent of public schools in Cheltenham Township, said the Pennsylvania school code of 1911 had become obsolete and should be revised.

Lumber Manager Ill Months, Dies

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 4 — Joseph Theobold, 80, for many years in charge of the South Greensburg Lumber Company, is dead after an illness of several months.

Verdict Makes Horseshoes Rough Game

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 4 (AP) — Horseshoe pitching entered the class of "rough" sports along with football, hockey and boxing when the verdict of a jury was recorded in Common Pleas Court here, awarding $1,500 damages to Arthur J. Green for the loss of a handful of teeth.

Some sort of dispute occurred during a horseshoe game and Donald Powell came out of the contest with a ringer, while Green came out with a "shiner" and minus several teeth. The bruised eye healed but there was no way to put the teeth back where they belonged and Green sued for $5,000.

Powell did not contest the suit, but the jury decided $1,500 was big enough damages to grow out of the quaint old sport of horseshoe tossing.

Family Escapes Burning Home

WESTERNPORT, Md., April 4 — The house occupied by Thomas Harris near here was destroyed by fire early yesterday. Harris says he was awakened by the odor of gas fumes and he and his wife and three children barely had time to escape.

NORRIS SHOALS SUCCES SEEN

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP) — Senator McKellar (Dem.) of Tennessee said last night the Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals would be approved by Congress and that the President will not withhold his signature but will promptly attach it.

Speaking in the National Radio Forum of the Washington Star and the Columbia Broadcasting System he declared that in his judgment the bid of the American Cyanamid Company for Muscle Shoals "has no chance in the world of passage" as results of investigation by the Lobby Committee of the Senate have shown beyond doubt.

"The Norris government operation bill already has passed both Houses," he said. "It will pass again and I believe that President Hoover will sign it. I can't imagine what excuse he could give for not signing it."

Dover Plate Mill Boss Dies Suddenly

DOVER, O., April 4 — Julius R. Winkler, 35, a superintendent of the Dover Works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, dropped dead yesterday of heart disease, outside the mill.

Old and young can take this family laxative; free trial bottle!

The next time that you or the children need a laxative, try this famous doctor's prescription which aids the bowels without doing any harm. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, with purest senna and laxative herbs, is effective in a gentle and helpful way. Its action is thorough, but it never weakens the bowels. It stimulates their muscular action and is thus actually good for the system. Remember Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin when coated tongue, fetid breath, headaches, nausea, jaded appetite or biliousness tells the need of a thorough cleansing. Druggists keep it in big bottles, or write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

BYRD'S 2 SHIPS RIDE OUT GALE

DUNEDIN, N. Z., April 4.—(AP.)—Although a southwesterly gale, with a wind velocity of 70 miles an hour, had not abated, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition ship, the City of New York, radioed today that she was riding out the storm in the Pacific Ocean, midway between here and Papeete, Tahiti.

The bark, with only a top sail and a try sail up, had been hove to for nearly two and a half days.

The steamer Eleanor Bolling, Admiral Byrd's other expedition vessel, reported that she was making good time against the heavy seas.

Both ships reported that those aboard were well. A stowaway was found on the Eleanor Bolling after the vessel left Dunedin and will be put ashore at Papeete, where the two ships are to join company for the trip to Panama.

Admiral Byrd is to leave New Zealand for Wellington April 24 aboard the steamer Rangitiki. At Panama he will board the City of New York for the final stage of the homeward journey to New York City.

National Highway Contract Delayed

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—Rebuilding the National pike between the Turkey's Nest and the Summit Hotel, will not be completed by July 1. Estimates place the date of completion about the middle of July or the first of August. Grading difficulties have developed, with slides adding to the difficulties of the contractors.

The grading, including a cut through the mountain to straighten the Turkey's Nest curve, is nearing completion and pouring of concrete will be rushed. The pike has been concreted from the Uniontown city line to the Turkey's Nest. Traffic will not be closed.

Special Enumerator Knows 12 Languages

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4.—H. R. Campbell, census supervisor for Washington and Greene counties, has enrolled Joseph Drobiszewski, 28, of Donora, who speaks 12 languages, as a special enumerator.

Many nationalities are represented in the district and Drobiszewski will assist enumerators encountering linguistic difficulties. Drobiszewski has attended California Teachers College, Waynesburg College and Duquesne University.

Curtis Appoints Founding Committee

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis has appointed a committee composed of Senators Oddie, of Nevada; Walcott, of Connecticut, and Blease, of South Carolina, to represent the Senate at the celebration next week of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Charleston, S. C.

RUSS SENTENCE RABBI, OTHERS

W, April 4.—(AP)—Telegraphic Agency)—Rabbi Lazarev, the chief rabbi of Leningrad, who was arrested February 26, together with Rabbi Vasnogorowski by the Russian secret police on the chargre that they had been maintaining illegal connections abroad, was sentenced to 10 years' exile in a concentration camp.

Rabbi Lazarev's son was expelled for three years while the Beadle Zemach Zedek was expelled for two years. The 14 members of the Leningrad Jewish community, who had been arrested for disobeying the regulations laid down with regard to religious communities, were also expelled to a concentration camp for various periods of years.

The Home of the Jewish Aged that had been supported by the now liquidated Jewish community is closed for lack of funds. The Jewish old men and women, some of them more than 80, are being distributed among various Christian homes while a few are being transferred to a former monastery 10 miles from Pskov.

Flood Relief Cost In Butler $1,000,000

BUTLER, Pa., April 4.—Engineer Charles E. Ryder, of the State Water and Power Resources Board, estimates that it will cost Butler not less than $1,000,000 to prevent the overflow of the Connoquenessing Creek and Sullivan Run. Dredging and widening of both streams is recommended to avoid floods in the West End.

There's no law against the old fashioned method of house hunting. But the new way of reading the Classified Ads is much better.

Canine Mascot, Gassed in France, Near Death

UHRICHSVILLE, O., April 4.—"Bing," mascot of Company D, One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Machine Gun Battalion of the Thirty-seventh Division, who was born at Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala., and was wounded and gassed in France after being smuggled in a transport to the trenches by a soldier, is near death at the home of Ernest Gray, veteran, living in Dennison.

The dog was given an honorable discharge from the Army, and will be given military honors when he dies.

WALES TO FLY BACK TO SHIP

KHARTOUM, Sudan, April 4.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, who has been hunting in the Lotti country, has decided to return immediately by air from his Safari to the base steamer Omdurman at Juba.

Flight Lieut. Bowen Boscarlet, of the Forty-seventh Squadron, stationed here, who already has been appointed pilot to the Prince for the projected flight from Khartoum to Cairo, will leave for the Lotti to pick up the Prince and bring him back to the steamer.

Lieut. Boscarlet will take a two-seater airplane. He is one of the most experienced pilots in the Royal Air force. During the World War he had a miraculous escape after being shot down by the famous German ace, Baron von Richtofen.

FIND LAST OF 16 MINE VICTIMS

KETTLE ISLAND, Ky., April 4.—(AP)—The last of the bodies of the 16 miners entombed here Saturday by an explosion was recovered yesterday when rescue workers located the body of J. E. Hill, foreman.

All but one of the miners was married, and the disaster made 15 widows and orphans of 51 children. An appeal for aid for them has been made by the Red Cross.

An investigation to determine the cause of the explosion will be held next week, it was announced by John F. Daniel, of Lexington, chief of State Department of Mines. Either a gas pocket or coal dust was responsible, it was believed. The interior of the mine was wrecked, causing a heavy property damage.

Dead Man's Vote May Decide Election

LANSING, Mich., April 4.—(AP)—Attorney General Wilbur M. Brucker was asked to decide whether a dead man may vote.

A resident of Owosso, Mich., ill in a hospital, sent for an absent voter's ballot, marked it and mailed it in. He died later.

A close race in election of supervisors Monday is expected and the county clerk said one vote might make a difference.

Brucker reserved decision.

California Dredges Used in Siberia

OROVILLE, Cal., April 4.—(INS.)—The California dredge is used extensively in Siberia, according to George S. Dyer, Oroville mining engineer, who has returned for a brief visit here after three years of mining in Siberia.

Dredgers are operated there only several months a year due to the cold temperature, Dyer said. At times the temperature drops as low as 60 degrees below zero. He traveled 1,400 miles by horse and sled to Irkutsk and made the trip in 22 days traveling day and night, sleeping in the sled.

OWN YOUR HOME

The Tell-Tale Word

THE man who proudly says "Come up to the house . . . " betrays himself as a home-owner. It's THE house because it's his own; the center of his world; the 'little palace' that was built especially for him.

As important as the house itself is the location in which you build it. Let your selection of a home site or building lot be a wise one. Let the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads tell you of the best buys in the city.

MAN AND BRIDE HELD IN FRAUD

Accused of a "short-change" racket, Mrs. Clara Jennings, 20, of 921 Ridge avenue, was held for further investigation today at a hearing in Central police station.

Three girl cashiers from downtown stores and a hotel testified that the Jennings woman had defrauded them. Following her arrest yesterday in a downtown store, the woman is alleged to have told detectives that she was taught the "short-change" scheme by her husband on their honeymoon. At the hearing today, however, she denied this and also denied the cashiers' accusations.

Jennings, arrested yesterday, was held with his wife. Detectives claim they seized an opium-smoking outfit when they visited the Jennings apartment yesterday.

Sharon Foundry Moving to Alliance

SHARON, Pa., April 4.—Open hearth furnaces and stocks at the local plant of the American Steel Foundries are being dismantled and shipped to the Alliance plant.

The local plant has not been in operation for many years. The corporation owns 11 acres of land here and has several large building. Its plant adjoins the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Greensburg Pair Win Music Title

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 4.—John Soles, clarinetist and his accompanist, Richard Murphy, of Greensburg High School, won first place in the wind instrument contest held in Monessen High School.

Herbert Krause, clarinet and Nicholas Marchione, accompanist, of Monessen, took second place in the contest.

New Zealand Feels Sharp Earth Shock

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, April 4.—(INS.)—Severe earth shocks, felt early this morning here, swayed buildings and terrified the residents of Opotiki Township. First reports from the affected districts said the damage to property was extensive, but there were no casualties.

If your husband had to stand on the corner waiting for a street car while you used the family motor he would be for getting a second car. Show him the bargains in Used Cars offered in today's Classified Ads.

Engineer Builds Self Home of Stray Bricks

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 4.—(AP.)—Every time Joe Yandle, assistant in the city engineering department here, saw a stray brick he picked it up and took it home.

Mr. Yandle now has a three-room house entirely built of stray brick he found in streets, alleys and vacant lots.

It took him 18 months to get the 10,000 brick for his house, but he says it's a good "pick up" and was worth the time.

Courtney Girl, 15, Run Down by Car

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4.—Beatrice Vigliotti, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vigliotti, of Courtney, is in the Monongahela Hospital with a fracture of the leg as a result of being struck by an automobile driven by James Smith, 33, of Pittsburgh.

FOUR HELD AS POOL AGENTS

Four men, accused by police of being lottery pool number writers, denied the charge in East End Police Court today. Precinct detectives testified that one of the men, John Scully, of 523 Osceola street, had visited stores and shops in the Collier street district and had warned persons if they didn't buy pool tickets of him it "would be just too bad."

Books and records were found in a car used by the men and in their possession, according to testimony. Scully and the other three, Vincent Palino, Kelly street, Wilkinsburg; Correll Everly, 7752 Baxter street, and George Young, 1013 North Lang avenue, were held over by Magistrate Charles Papale.

STATE PLANS 4 MORE AIRWAYS

BURG, April 4.—(AP.) ...velers are to be supplied ... airways, in addition to ... and-New York air mail route over Pennsylvania.

The State Aeronautics Commission has announced establishment of a system of communicating airways designated with numbers, and linking the majority of the more important centers of population in the state. The main route in the system is that be... ...iladelphia and Pitts...

...y paralleling the two ... arteries of travel across the state, the Lincoln and the William Penn Highways, the Philadelphia - Pittsburgh route designated as airway No. 1, and that between Beaver Falls and the Maryland state line near McConnellsburg, No. 2, will be operated co-operatively by the Federal Department of Commerce and the State Commission. Beacon lights are to be placed at points every ten miles on both routes as soon as possible by the Commerce Department and the cross-state route is expected to be ready for operation by early September, and the other by July 1.

Airways 3 and 4, to be set up and run by the Commission itself, will connect McConnellsburg and Lancaster and McConnellsburg and Easton, respectively. Surveys have been started by commission engineers for the laying out of landing fields.

Cities and towns included in the Philadelphia - Pittsburgh route are: Coatesville, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Blain, Newton-Hamilton, Williamsburg, Altoona, Hollidaysburg, Ebensburg, Indiana and Washington, Pa., on route 2 will be Beaver Falls, Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Buckstown, Everett and McConnellsburg.

Find Liquor Cached In Van, Arrest Trio

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 4.—Three men are being held on liquor charges following the seizure of 420 gallons of moonshine in a moving van at Dilliner. Antonio Paglia, 24, Antonio Nunnall, 39, both of Mt. Pleasant, and Dominick Partell, 39, of Dilliner, were arrested.

Two of the men were arrested when Paglia drove up to Partell's home in a moving van in which the liquor was cached in a specially constructed apartment. Nunnall was arrested when he walked into the sheriff's office today to see the other two.

District Masons At Brownsville

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

WE FEEL flattered today. One of our admirers has presented us with a turtle, a real, live turtle which sings and walks and cries. The admirer was Milton D. Crandall. The professor, understand, was not motivated by the fact that he is holding a turtle race next month—no, sir! Out of the goodness of his heart he felt that there was something lacking in our life, and that something was a turtle.

"What you need," observed the professor, when he caught us thinking things out a few days ago, "is a turtle. Man's best friend is a turtle. In your hours of need, you can turn to the turtle for consolation. Simply turn to the turtle and say,

'Console me, turtle,' and sooner than you can recite Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, you'll be consoled."

Prof. Crandall cautioned us not to become overly vain now that we own a turtle.

"I'm afraid of that," the professor confessed. "After all, a lot of people don't own turtles. Andy Mellon, for instance, doesn't own a turtle. Neither does Mayor Kline. But you do."

Secretary of Labor Davis the other day told a story of his department having to rule in a brunette-blonde controversy, which was decided in favor of the brunette. The point Mr. Davis made was that not always do gentlemen prefer blondes. Of this we know nothing; but we are confident that Secretary Davis and Senator Grundy could attract more attention to their fight for the Senate if they debated the proposition.

This may seem a trivial question to debate for such a distinguished stake, but why not? How many persons are guided in their voting by what either candidate thinks of the tariff?

We suspect that many voters make up their minds on just such trivialities, that some will vote for Davis because he parts his hair in the middle, that others will cast for Grundy because he parts his hair on the side. But don't quote us—we don't know where either gentleman parts his hair.

THE Rev. H. A. Welday, of Sewickley, was once a high-school teacher, and his recollections of those days include the time he subbed for the instructor in stenography.

"I told the principal I knew nothing of the teaching of stenography, but he insisted that I bluff my way through this one day. He suggested I order the students to write each other letters and let them correct each other's efforts.

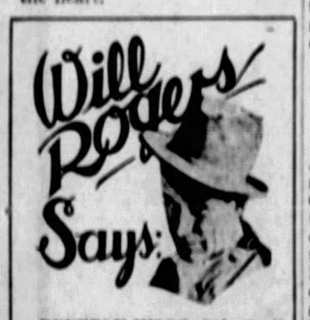
"I did just that. And I was pleasantly surprised to find that a boy and a girl each had written a perfect letter. They had graded each other's papers 100. I complimented them, for I didn't find out until later that they were sweethearts and, instead of writing business letters, had penned each other words of the heart.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 4.—Say California didn't get over so big, we fed Mr. Coolidge and bragged on him and showed him everything we had out here and he went straight back to Massachusetts and bought him a home. He has got some political devilment on his mind back there.

We got one good delegation out. They are down in Mexico looking over 'at auto road that will eventually run down Mexico's beautiful west coast, from Portland to Panama. At the present time our automobile communication ends with Mexico, and the north end of the first bar over the line. The idea of this road is to have it so long that Americans will have to pass by some bars without stopping.

Yours,
WILL.

STREETS URGED THROUGH PARKS

North Side Chamber of Commerce members will petition City Council to cut streets through the East and West Parks, North Side. It was decided at the annual banquet of the chamber last night in Boggs & Buhl's store.

The North Side merchants believe the parks constitute a "fence" against business. H. P. Burnworth, chairman of the municipal affairs committee, declared that a petition asking for the streets would be presented to Council soon.

Speakers at the banquet declared the parks have been a barrier to business for many years and that they cut off much of the trade that might be expected to come into the North Side business district. A general discussion on the subject followed the meeting.

A. V. Snell, business manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. Honor guests were Attorney Frank I. Gollmar, representing the West View Board of Trade, and State Senator Morris Einstein. W. H. Newmyer, a director of the chamber; Councilman Clifford B. Connelley, Senator Einstein and Attorney Gollmar also spoke. F. E. Tencate, president of the body, was toastmaster.

ROSELIA AIDED BY CARTOON

Within a few hours after a Quin Hall cartoon urging aid for the Roselia Foundling Asylum appeared in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, gifts for the home's fund began arriving at campaign headquarters in the William Penn Hotel.

The first check was one for $2 and it was followed shortly afterwards by another for $100. The checks were pinned to the cartoon and mailed to the headquarters.

The campaign is to raise $100,000 for the foundling home.

Four living examples of the work of Roselia, a foundling, an abandoned child, another left for adoption) and a foundling who has been a patient in the hospital of the home for more than a year, were guests yesterday of the workers in the campaign to raise $100,000 at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel at which satisfactory progress was reported.

The story of the handicaps under which they are starting life—almost daily occurences at Roselia—was related by D. L. Lawrence, secretary of the board of directors. John F. O'Toole, president of the board, presided. The campaign which is to furnish milk, food and provisions for the small inmates of Roselia, began last Monday. Another meeting will be held in the William Penn Hotel Tuesday.

Right Ankle Broken, Girl Asks $15,000

For a broken right ankle, Mrs. Jennie Radon has brought suit against the Pittsburgh Melting Company for $15,000. She alleges that a truck of the defendant company collided with an automobile in which she was riding in Finleyville January 15 last. In addition to the broken ankle, she also received other hurts. Sam B. Radon, her husband, is a party to the suit filed by Attorney David M. Janavitz.

The grand assembly meeting of the Polish Intercollegiate Club of Pittsburgh will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the club's headquarters, 2625 Penn avenue. The organization is composed of Polish alumni and undergraduates of the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology and Duquesne University.

Imperial Bandits Escape With $50

County detectives today were searching for two thugs who held up the grocery of David Markovich at Cliff Mine, near Imperial, last night. Markovich was covered by a revolver while a thug rifled a cash till of $50. The bandits escaped in an automobile.

Boulevard Skater, Hit By Auto, Dies

Roller-skating in the McKinley Park branch of the new Saw Mill Run boulevard proved fatal early today for Richard Brown, 13, of 98 Arlington avenue. The youth was struck by an automobile while skating last Sunday, and died in Mercy Hospital this morning of a fractured skull, according to the coroner's report. Harry Kramer, 24, of 131 Sycamore street, driver of the machine, will post bond with the coroner today pending the inquest.

19 Boys, One Girl Ready For Hike to Santa Fe

One girl and 19 boys will start a three-month hike from Pittsburgh to Santa Fe, N. M., from the City-County Building at 6 o'clock Monday morning.

The contest is being conducted by the Woodsmen of the World. Prizes totalling 1,900 items will be given the winners. The girl will be Miss Clara Smith, of Morewood avenue, who won a hike from Pittsburgh to New Hampshire last summer.

The hikers will travel daily from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. The minimum distance necessary to be covered daily will be 3½ miles. They will travel through West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. Letters from Mayor Charles H. Kline will be carried to the chief executive in Santa Fe.

WHITE HOUSE GANG

Bravery of Gang Member Wins Him Tribute

Theodore Roosevelt, when President of the United States, started the adventurous, rollicking, joyous career of the White House Gang by sending his youngest son, Quentin, to the Force Public School in Washington. Here the gang was recruited. The accredited members are Charles (Taffy) Taft, "Brom" Seeley, Dick (Sailor) Chew, Edward (Slats) Stead, also called "Bedstead," Walker White, "T. R.," the most active member of the gang; Quentin, the leader, and Earle Looker, the author of this story.

Each day, after school, the gang went into a huddle to confound all rules of deportment in high places, mingle in the lives of presidents and policemen, win victories, taste honor, suffer punishments and engage in escapades which were swept along the wires to national publicity. Many exploits of the gang, however, either remain unknown or were known only to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Some there were securely hidden even from them.

CHAPTER XXVII.

NOW, here, was a major crime! Nothing, within our experience, had ever seemed so criminally shocking. The Gang was more than incensed; it was consumed with raging fury by the thought of what might have been the consequences of a fire at the White House! Q expressed it best. Trembling with indignation, he said, "Burned by the British and burned by the Gang! That sounds fine, doesn't it?"

The honor of the Gang was impugned; a blot flung, disfiguringly, on its escutcheon. We forcibly arrested the culprit, and dragging him up into the living quarters, from which he could not escape, proceeded to trial, in camera.

Everybody of an official character was out that afternoon, so the hearing proceeded without interruption, and with expedition. The criminal admitted his guilt, but was not at all repentant, and continued to regard his action as being more or less of a joke. So it seemed necessary to punish him with severity sufficient to vindicate the honor of the Gang, and to convert his amused attitude to one of permanent penitence. To expel him from membership would be to bring the incident to the ears of Mrs. Roosevelt and the President, and that was unthinkable.

The decision of the Gang took the form of locking the door to prevent intrusion of Wilkins, the houseman, and of lighting a wood-fire that was ready laid and, despite the vehement protestations of the delinquent, of heating a poker in the flames.

Shows Bravery
Prepares to Take His Punishment

"We don't want to be cruel," Q told him, "but the punishment must be made to fit the crime, and you've got to be made to remember this as long as you live, and to have something to remember it by that won't wash off, and that will make you feel ashamed, whenever you see it . . . . forever——"

"Entirely for your own good," commented another member of the Gang. But this assurance had not the slightest soothing effect on the criminal who struggled all the more.

He fought desperately, but was subdued with a tentative tap with a fire-shovel, and informed that a continuance of his obstreperousness will lead to his being clouted with it, over the head.

The poker in the fire began to turn ominously brown.

"Please!" the offender said, becoming amazingly calm. "Lay off! I'll show you! Let me roll up my own sleeve, will you——"

Amazed by his sudden coolness, as the preparations for the branding advanced, we instantly let go of him, but he made no attempt to break away. We all decided at about the same instant, that none of us desired to go through with the punishment, no matter how just it appeared to be. Yet each was afraid to be the first to exhibit softness or to cry quits.

Quite evidently our comrade had come to repentance and was prepared to take his punishment like a man. "I won't be able to keep from yelling," he said tremulously, "so I'm going to stuff my handkerchief into my mouth. . . ."

Reinstated
Boy's Courage Wins Him A Badge

The poker now glowed, red-hot, and was taken from the fire. The boy began to weep silently; nevertheless he looked steadily at the poker as it approached his arm. It came closer and closer—within an inch of his bare flesh—and the Gang tightened their grip upon him. . . .

Suddenly Quentin pushed away the boy who held the poker, walked unsteadily across the room to the bed, and lay face downward, with his head buried in the pillows. . . .

Relieved at his unexpected reprieve, the offender almost collapsed, and some of the Gang led him to a seat. The trial by fire was over. . . .

The whole thing was an exhibition of fine courage on the part of the offending comrade, and Quentin, rising from the bed, immediately told him so. He was reinstated, at once, into full Gang membership, which he had forfeited by conviction. The incident of the waste-fire was to be forgiven and forgotten, and, then and there, he was presented with the Gang's First Order of Courage. The immediate ceremony temporarily consisted of the bestowal of a ribbon of the Navy colors, from which was suspended a miniature football. The recipient was given the right to wear the Order, always, and the injunction to pass it down to his eldest son and so on, through all time.

The authentic Order we purposed having made by a jeweler on F street. In such parallel ways do boys' minds run, on many subjects, that it is worth while to revert for a moment to the Grant Gang's selection of a badge, which the members desired to wear. ". . . Louis Redfern," its records say, "was appointed a committee on badge, and after many weeks he presented his design, or rather brought in a sample. It was an elaborately-embossed, wide ribbon with a brass bar and heavy gold fringe, said to weigh about two and a half pounds . . ."

Strange Name
Norris Called Gangsters 'Bad Pennies'

The Lincoln Gang—as far as is known—is all gone now, without record of names or numbers. The Grant Gang of 76 members, is going fast. Its record of achievement is a more honorable one in the Army, Navy, the church, diplomacy, medicine, law, literature and business. Twenty-one of its sons served in the World War. The Roosevent Gang cannot hope to vie with this record; in extenuation, however, it must be remembered that there were only seven members . . . But it is doing its bit.

"Seven bad pennies," Eddie Norris called the Gang long ago. Today, he tells how Q, just before the family left the White House, came to him to remind him that in a hole in the doorframe of the elevator—where a smooth surface was needed to prevent the collection of dust—a penny had been soldered.

"Eddie," Q insisted, "we're leaving and I want you to be sure to take that penny out of the elevator, because it's our

RAID 3 HOMES, TWO CLUBS

Two clubs, one in the Strip and the other in Homestead, and three dwellings were raided by prohibition agents yesterday.

Duna Miller, 24, was arrested in a raid on a second-floor club at 1145 Penn avenue, where large seizures of whisky and gin were made, according to the agents. Whisky was also reported seized in a club at 315 East Seventh street, Homestead, where Mike Efthimoco, 46, was arrested.

Stills were seized, agents said, in raids on the homes of Stanley Kowalski, at 2616 Sumner street; Charles Sicilia, at 5164 Keystone street, and at 5236 Gertrude street.

Woman Hit By Auto, Driver Being Held

Mrs. Mary Coyne, 30, of 3504 Frazier street, is in a serious condition in the Magee Hospital today, suffering from a fractured skull, as a result of being struck by an automobile at Craft avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies. Police arrested D. B. Noble, of 114 Bailey avenue, driver of the machine.

William Wood, 10, of 311 Garland street, was slightly injured when knocked to the street by a machine while crossing Ellsworth avenue near Neville street.

Plumbing Fixture Fee Bill Approved

The bill fixing fees for plumbing fixtures was passed by Council yesterday in spite of the opposition of the Real Estate Board. The fees range from 50 cents for each of the first 100 fixtures to 10 cents each when more than 400 are installed.

QUITS SINGING FOR SCIENCE

Folks who know said Zita Hill, who will be 21 some of these days, should go in seriously for opera. Because—her mother and fa'her both sang, her ma taught music, and because since Zita was a child she had a lovely soprano voice.

She studied and sang with the Pittsburgh Opera, she liked opera and light opera, she studied piano and did radio and church work.

But she's at what she likes best now. She's studying metallurgy at Carnegie Tech, and although there's no more than a handful—if more than one woman metallurgist in the country, she's going through with it.

"I tried to study chemical engineering," she said, "but there just aren't any women allowed in engineering school here. Then I went to Margaret Morrison school for Women here at Tech and took two years of science. Then I studied at night at the Pittsburgh Academy and became a stenog. Then I got a job here as laboratory assistant—I polish steel, attend the furnaces and clean 'em out, I take microscopic photographs of steel and make myself useful around the metallurgical lab.

"And that's the trick. By working here I can go to night classes. In nine years—12 hours a week—I expect to get my doctor's degree and do research in metallurgy.

"And which do I like best? Why research. It's easy to answer that. Digging into the mysteries of a scientific problem is engrossing—far more than music. And my dad was a steel man, which may be a reason."

Miss Hill lives in Luster street, Squirrell Hill.

Woman, Election Judge, Prepared to Run Polls

Miss Lucy Anne O'Donnell is busy today conning the pages of the Voters' Guide, following her appointment yesterday by Judge Harry H. Rowand to be judge of elections in the Seventh District of the Tenth Ward.

"What are the duties of a judge of elections?" asked Judge Rowand when the applicant came before him.

"She opens the polls," she replied.

"When a voter appears and gives his name, who ascertains if he is registered?" asked the Judge.

"The judge of elections," was the reply.

"Who gives him his ballot?"

"The judge."

"Who deposits it in the ballot box?"

"The judge."

"Who appoints the clerks?"

"The judge."

"Well, what do the inspectors and clerks do on the board?" finally asked Judge Rowand.

"I don't know yet. I have only studied up on the judge's duties. I haven't finished the book yet," replied Miss O'Donnell.

"Well, I will appoint you, but you must study it all," said the Judge.

David Nossokoff was appointed judge for the Fourth Precinct of the Twenty-first Ward and E. C. Kunde for the Third Ward, Aspinwall.

WOMEN BALK AT TELLING AGES

Home Owners Object to Giving Property Value; Appeal to Headquarters

All is not smooth in the task of taking Allegheny County's census. Scores of persons, refusing to answer enumerators' questions, are appealing to the supervisors in the headquarters in the American State Bank Building for advice.

Officers of the state organization of the American Legion complained that World War veterans were ignored in the appointing of enumerators, and in reply to this a statement has been issued setting forth that ex-service men and their mothers, wives and widows had the preference in appointments in this locality.

BALK AT AGE

Women don't like to give their age on their last birthday, as shown in the list of questions. Home owners are reluctant in some cases in placing a value on their property.

"When the enumerator leaves my house every person down the street will look over his shoulder at his return sheet and see my age and how much I value my house," declared a woman who stormed the census headquarters today.

She was told that her replies and the answers of every other resident would be treated as confidential and that enumerators were not permitted to allow an examination of their sheets by unauthorized persons. She seemed to be satisfied, but not so with a man who called.

CONSULTS ATTORNEY

"I am not compelled to answer these questions," he said, "and will see my attorney."

He was advised to do so.

Supervisors J. E. Routley, A. D. Levy and George Metzgar, replying to the American Legion statement, said that they had given every consideration to ex-service men. Their statement concluded:

"We have employed every veteran available and in making appointments we found ourselves confronted with a dearth rather than a wealth of material. Consequently, every veteran elegible for appointment was taken care of. More than that, we tried to appoint widows and wives of soldiers who were successful in passing the eligibility tests."

Pitt Announces Parents Reception

University of Pittsburgh's annual reception to parents of mid-year freshman will be held April 11, Dean Robert C. Clothier has announced. J. SURGERY USED IN TUBERCULAR TREATMENT

40 Per Cent of Operations Successful; Lungs Rested By Process of Deflation

By MAX HENRICI

Surgery is being used in the treatment of 12 per cent of the patients at the Tuberculosis Hospital, Dr. Howard Marcy, medical director, disclosed today.

The knife is resorted to only in desperate cases, and of those operated on 40 per cent get well, 25 per cent die, and the others show no effects one way or the other, Dr. Marcy said.

GIVE LUNGS REST

Three forms of procedure are followed, and the purpose is the same in all—to give a badly diseased lung a rest and permit the ulcers to heal.

Dr. Marcy pointed out that the lungs normally are constantly in motion and that the motion interferes with the healing of the ulcers of tuberculosis. Consequently, he said, in cases where the patient's condition is critical the more badly diseased of the two lungs is sometimes made to collapse and thus given a chance to heal, if the other lung seems capable of sustaining the whole burden of breathing.

For many years physicians have occasionally caused a diseased lung to collapse by injecting air between the chest wall and the lung. But many lungs cannot be made to collapse in this way because of adhesions that bind them to the chest wall. Two new ways of producing the same result have accordingly been developed.

NERVE REMOVED

One way is to remove the phrenic nerve, which controls the diaphragm. The diaphragm which operates the lung that it is desired to collapse is paralyzed as a result. But the lung does not always collapse in consequence, and if it does not, recourse is had to a major operation called "thoracoplasty."

In thoracoplasty sections four or five inches long are removed from 11 ribs on the side of the diseased lung. This results in permanent destruction of the lung. The patient is not deformed by the operation, because it is conducted underneath the muscles, which remain intact. Notwithstanding the loss of large sections of 11 ribs the patients retain the use of their arms.

"We have had a fair degree of success," said Dr. Marcy, "having salvaged by the use of surgery and restored to useful lives about 40 per cent of the cases operated on—cases that otherwise would have been almost hopeless.

"Thoracoplasty is opening up a wonderful new field of chest surgery. It will receive a great deal of attention at the convention of the National Tuberculosis Association at Memphis in May."

POLICE SPREAD NET AROUND PITTSBURGH

Stepdaughter, Shot Trying To Protect Mother, Near Death; Sister Aids Search

Police throughout Western Pennsylvania today were on the hunt for Frank Corea, 42, who shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Carmella Corea, 40, and seriously wounded his stepdaughter, Melen DeLallo, 16, in their home at 3239 Rothpletz street, Woods Run, last night, police say.

Helen, who braved the gunfire in an attempt to save her mother, was shot through the mouth. She was reported in a serious condition in St. John's Hospital.

GIRL TELLS OF ABUSE

Helen was in a basement kitchen with her sister, Eva, 15, and Anna Chichinski, 15, of 1111 Woods Run avenue, when she heard the shots. Running into the parlor, Helen made an attempt to rescue her mother and was shot.

Gun in hand, Corea, police said, brushed by Eva and the Chichinski girl and ran into the street.

To Lieut. Frank Ferris and Detective James O'Kane, Eva told of the abuse her mother bore at the hands of Corea.

"My stepfather posed as a single man when he married my mother eight years ago," the girl related to detectives. "Five years ago my mother discovered that he already had a wife and two children in Italy, and this caused arguments almost daily. Last night my stepfather came home from work and picked another quarrel with mother."

PREPARING TO LEAVE

Eva said that Corea's son, Salvatore, 18, came from Italy to live with them February 28.

Questioning of the girl developed that Mrs. Corea had left her husband but returned to him. She was planning to leave him again because of his alleged abuse, according to Eva.

The death of Mrs. Corea's first husband left her with four children, three of whom are living. He was killed in railroad accident.

Eva, her brother, Alfred, 12, and two boarders, Vincenzo Andrea, and Salvatore Lia, 46, were held for questioning.

$90,000 ASKED OF RAILROAD

Two suits seeking damages aggregating $90,000 were filed in Federal Court against the Pittsburgh and Shawmut Railroad Company.

In one, Mrs. Myrtle Keough, of Brookville, Pa., administratrix of the estate of James O. Keough, asks $60,000 because of the death of the latter, an engineer in the employ of the defendant company, November 1, 1928, when he died from injuries, Mrs. Keough avers, he received when the engine he was driving was derailed and overturned.

Harry E. Osborne, a fireman, asks $30,000 because of permanent injuries he alleges he received in the same accident, which occurred, according to the bills of complaint, when a pusher engine they were operating jumped the track at Reitz, near Brookville. Keough had been an engineer 22 years.

He was said to have been pinned under the engine and scalded, dying eight hours after the accident.

Both suits charge the company with negligence by claiming the roadbed was unlevel and rails in need of repair, and that the flanges of the engine and tender were old, weak and worn. Keough left three minor children, who were entirely dependent upon him, according to Mrs. Keough's bill of complaint.

FINTEX OPENS NEW STORE

The eighteenth in the chain of Fintex clothing stores opened this morning at 6212 Penn avenue East Liberty, with a complete line of Fintex clothes.

The new store is a reproduction of the Fintex store at 345 Fifth avenue, including the appointments and the arched entrance. The downtown establishment was opened only last October. But its business has gained such proportions, according to Adolph Finsterwald, president of Fintex Corporation, that a second store in the Pittsburgh district was considered necessary.

Mell Morgan, associated with the corporation since last October, has been appointed manager.

Before installing the furniture and fixtures at the new address, the entire lower floor of the building which the store occupies had to be remodeled and renovated. A fully equipped tailor shop occupies the basement.

$10,000 ASKED IN ARREST

Joseph Blumberg, 2204 Sarah street, has brought suit against Joseph W. Palucis, a deputy constable in the Sixteenth Ward, for $10,000 damages for alleged false arrest.

In the bill of particulars filed by Attorney David L. Mitchell, Blumberg says that Palucis made an information against him before Justice of the Peace Ira M. Edmundson, of Mt. Lebanon, charging him with the larceny of a washing machine and electric mangle.

Blumberg says that he was arrested March 3, last, without a warrant being read or told why he was being arrested and taken to jail. At the hearing the case was dismissed. Blumberg claims the incident damaged his reputation.

Forney Witnesses' Arrest Expected

The arrest of Lawrence, Mack and Dale McCarthy, brothers, missing witnesses in the trial of A. W. Forney, slot machine concessionaire, is expected within a few days, District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner has announced. County detectives searching for the three have a good tip as to their whereabouts, the district attorney said.

The brothers forfeited $1,500 bail each by failure to appear at the trial of Forney, for whom they had worked. Detectives L. A. Kline and William S. Black are searching for the missing witnesses.

River Guard Saves Man, Buys His Boat

Damage left by the explosion, believed by many at the time to have been an "earthquake." Traffic was tied up and thousands of workers in buildings vacated. A broken gas main was blamed. Some telephones will be "dead" until late today.

BLAST VICTIM'S BODY FOUND

The body of John B. Martin, 63, of 608 Atlantic avenue, McKeesport, who lost his life yesterday in a boiler explosion on a pump boat moored alongside the steamboat A. B. Sheets, in the Monongahela River, at Dravosburg, was recovered from the stream late yesterday.

Dravosburg was rocked by the blast which hurtled the boiler, weighing one ton, across the river.

Two men on the Sheets craft, William H. Comstock, 46, of Point Pleasant, W. Va., the engineer, and George Harvell, 30, Negro fireman, of Locust street, McKeesport, who were injured, were reported improving in the McKeesport Hospital today.

The body of Martin, engineer and sole occupant of the pump boat which was supplying steam to the A. B. Sheets while her boilers were being cleaned, was recovered by workmen near the scene of the explosion.

Says Wife Formerly Wed, Asks Divorce

It took Carl E. Swanson, who lives at the Downtown Y. M. C. A., nearly 14 years to discover that his wife, Mayme Navoni Swanson, Dallas City, McKe., County, had a husband when she married him in 1915. The record showed that his wife had married Edward Elmire Miller, at Lewis Run, McKean County, September 30, 1911, and that at the time of her marriage to Swanson, May 21, 1915 Miller was still living. Divorce is asked.

Admits Thefts, Puts Blame on Drink

"One drink of the stuff they are making now is enough to make a man lose his head," John Schwartz, 43, of 813 Phineas street, pleaded when arraigned in Morals Court today charged with theft. He admitted thefts from a North Side store. He was held over by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

JURY CHANGE PARLEY CALLED

The demand for a change in the method of selecting jurors, prompted by alleged disregard of the law and evidence by juries in racketeering and coal and iron police cases, will find expression in a judicial conference to be held in Philadelphia next Thursday and Friday, the third of a series called by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

The conferees—judges and district attorneys from all parts of the state—will consider a number of proposed bills amending the present procedure.

Among other proposals scheduled for consideration are recommendations for the unification of court rules of practice, resolutions empowering trial courts to decide if persons jointly indicted for capital offenses shall have separate trials, limiting the time for taking appeals in criminal cases to three weeks, and authorizing the trial of the less serious criminal cases without jury, if the defendants consent.

SUGGEST SPLIT OF 19TH WARD

The Nineteenth Ward, the largest in the city, would be cut from 30 voting districts to 19, under a plan presented to the redistricting commission of Allegheny County by Ward Chairman Samuel J. Reno at a meeting last night. Commissioners David L. Lawrence, Mortimer B. Lesher and George E. Meyers worked four hours, but failed to complete their task.

All that was agreed upon by those present, was that the First District, the narrow strip along the south side of Carson street, should remain intact. The division of the remainder of the ward, however, brought much discussion and the task was still uncompleted when the meeting adjourned at midnight.

Architects' Exhibit Judges Selected

C. H. Hammond, of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Architects, and Harry T. Lindeberg and Frank J. Forster, of New York, have been elected to act as the jury of award in the first anual architectural exhibition to be held in Pittsburgh under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce next week.

Three hundred architects of Pittsburgh, and many surrounding towns will take part in the exhibit. A bronze plaque, resigned by Ulrich Schoenberger, of the class of 1925, Carnegie Institute of Technology, school of architecture, will be given each of the three winning architects.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Does working overtime and keeping late social engagements decrease your efficiency "the morning after?"

EDNA FETTIS, East End: "Staying up late never makes me feel "ragged" the next morning. Everybody should have a good time after work in order to forget hum drum existence. It is my opinion that a person is more efficient "the morning after" if he or she has had an enjoyable "the night before." Hard work and hard play never hurt anyone."

Miss Fettis

EDWARD PRITCHARD, North Side, detective: "If possible, a man should not overtax his strength by keeping late hours. Efficiency will be decreased if this is done. Of course, much depends on the individual. Some people are able to stay up late and yet feel trim in the morning while others are effected by late hours."

Ed Pritchard

BEN BROWN, East End, superintendent: "Anything in excess tends to break down one's strength. This is particularly true with anybody who keeps late hours, whether by working overtime or going out on a date. I know my job suffers when I feel played out; but its hard to keep from going out and staying late."

Ben Brown

HELEN RUTH BARCH, Aliquippa, stenographer: "Give me a nice peppy evening and no matter how late I'm out I won't moan about it the next morning. I find that I can always get enough sleep to carry me through the next day's work and do that work as it should be done, too. Enjoyment is as important as efficiency."

Miss Barch

W. R. HARRIS, East End, city detective: "If a man or woman is in good physical condition, he or she can go without sleep for a considerable period without feeling any bad effects. However, it is always advisable to secure as much rest as possible so that you will not sacrifice efficiency."

W. R. Harris

ETHEL SEIGEL, East End, secretary: "No, working overtime and keeping late social engagements does not decrease my efficiency. It has been my experience that I get up in the morning feeling full of pep after an exciting evening. When I forget my work for a short time I always find that I'm more efficient than otherwise."

Miss Seigel

Freed on Parole, Held in Robbery

John Baker, alias John Wilson, 24, was held for court today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Station on charges of robbery and felonious assault and battery. Baker is accused of having struck Moe Kurtz with an iron bar in attempt to rob the Kurtz pawn shop at 412 Water street last Monday. Police testified that Baker had been paroled from Western Penitentiary January 5.

Desertion Charged In Husband's Suit

After being married one year to the day, Webster R. Ruse, 1439 Beverly place, says his wife, Kathryn M. Ruse, Mt. Union, Pa., deserted him. This was revealed in a divorce libel filed in Common Pleas Court by the husband, who alleges desertion. The couple were married November 24, 1927.

SHERIFF DENIES CONTEMPT

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson reserved decision in the case of Sheriff George W. Shaffer, of Armstrong County, who was called into court for contempt in permitting three government prisoners to be on the street in Kittanning, while undergoing terms in the Armstrong County Jail.

Sheriff Shaffer testified he had no knowledge of the three prisoners, who were "trusties," taking special privileges until after they had been picked up on the street by prolibition agents, March 5, and brought to Pittsburgh. The following day they were returned to the Armstrong jail, but subsequently transferred to the Allegheny County jail.

Worcester Poly to Hold Alumni Dinner

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Pittsburgh section of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Alumni Association will be celebrated this evening with a dinner in the University Club. The principal speaker will be Prof. Zelotes Wood Coombs, according to H. C. Hickock, general engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and president of the alumni association.

Refrigerators Shown Here for Two Weeks

An exhibition of models of practically every electric refrigerator device manufactured in the United States will be held at 933 and 935 Liberty avenue, which opens at 11 a. m. tomorrow and continues two weeks. It will be held under the direction of Girard H. Nickerson, of the Electric League of Pittsburgh.

BRIDGE HEARING SET MAY 8

A hearing on location and construction of the proposed bridge over the Allegheny River to replace the Highland Park span, will be held May 8, it was decided at a meeting of the County Planning Commission yesterday. Representatives of the Shades Run and Wilkinsburg Crosstown Association as well as the Fox Chapel District Association will appear at the hearing.

At yesterday's meeting Samuel J. Topley, Clerk of Courts, was elected chairman of the commission, succeeding R. B. Mellon, who resigned. Ralph H. Watson, of Homestead, was named first vice chairman.

The commission also approved plans for the new Turtle Creek viaduct and the widening of Ardmore boulevard. It authorized its engineers to make a survey of the extension of the Boulevard of the Allies to connect with the Ardmore boulevard with the idea of giving a 17 minute thoroughfare from downtown Pittsburgh to Turtle Creek. Plans for rebuilding the Flaugherty's Run Bridge near Coraopolis also were approved.

Detectives Leave For Holdup Suspect

City Detectives Walter Monaghan and Thomas Morgan were en route to Baltimore today to return Martin Dunlap, 29, of Pittsburgh, who was arrested there at the request of local detectives in connection with a series of holdups.

Dunlap, characterized as a dangerous man, was arrested in a Baltimore rooming house along with William Colte, 26, of New York, Baltimore police reported. Dunlap was searched as he left his room. A gun was found on him, police said. Colte was being held for questioning.

INSURANCE MEN TALK SALES

Sales methods were discussed by insurance authorities at the second day's sessions of the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' Association today in its ninth annual sales congress in the William Penn Hotel.

Oliver Thurman, of Newark, N. J., and Dr. Charles J. Rockwell, director of the Rockwell School of Life Insurance Salesmanship, were heard at the morning and afternpon sessions. Alexander P. Reed, vice president of the Fidelity Trust Company, was on the early program. Henry W. Abbot presided this morning, while George W. Hoffman, Jr., conducted the session this afternoon.

Dr. S. S. Huebner, dean of the American College of Life Underwriters, Philadelphia, will be the principal speaker at the closing session tomorrow morning.

Bellevue Named In $25,000 Claim

Gilbert Joseph Holiday, Glenfield, injured when a truck owned by Bellevue Borough and driven by Chief of Police Daniel Rosemyer, struck a motorcycle he was riding and broke his leg and hurt his hip, has sued the borough for $25,000 damages. The accident occurred January 2, last.

Prison Gymnast Breaks Back, Dies

A broken back suffered while engaging in gymnastics, caused the death today of Mike Popek 21, a prisoner in Western Penitentiary. Popek was hurt Monday while tumbling with several other prisoners. He died in the prison hospital, according to the coroner's report.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Ruth Drake To Wed on June 26

THREE popular months for weddings are April, May and June, and the most popular of these is June. All three months this year will be marked by a succession of society weddings with their accompaniment of many entertainments for the bridal parties.

Most of the weddings taking place this month will be in homes, and after Easter (April 20), church ceremonies will be numerous, I believe. And when June comes, with its lovely scenery, out-of-door weddings will be the loveliest of all.

One of the most attractive ceremonies will take place at the summer home of the bride-to-be's father and mother.

Country Wedding

THE bride will be charming Ruth Drake, daughter of the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place, whose engagement to Chester Harding Lasell, son of the Josiah Manning Lasells, of Whitinsville, Mass., was announced during the yuletide season. The Drake summer home is in Hyannisport, Mass., where each summer a number of Pittsburgh folks go for June, July and August. And the date of the wedding is June 26.

Ruth made her debut at a tea in the family home last fall. Her betrothal was made known at a dinner her father and mother gave for her during the Christmas season in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Bridal Party

AND now for some more news about weddings to add to our bridal conversation these spring days. Word has reached me about who is going to be in the bridal party at the marriage of Eleanor F. Shannon Scoville and Jonathan Godfrey Wells, Jr., on April 30 in New York. Eleanor is the daughter of the Royal L. Scovilles, of New York, formerly of Sewickley, and her fiance is the son of the Jonathan Godfrey Wellses, of New York and Southport, Conn.

Mary Oliver, daughter of the Henry Olivers, of Sewickley, will be one of the bridesmaids, as will the brides' cousin, Florence Scoville Brown, of Cleveland; Rosamond Starr and Edith Wells, sister of the bridegroom, both of New York. Cornelius Wells will be his brother's best man, and Edward Courtney and John Dunn will be ushers.

After the ceremony, to take place in the chapel of the Beloved Disciple of the Church of Heavenly Rest that afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, there'll be a reception in the home of the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, the Herbert Scovilles, of New York. After a honeymoon in Bermuda, Mr. Wells and his bride will live in New York.

Travel Chat

In Lancaster, the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, the C. Dudley Armstrongs, is Mrs. Charles Dickey Armstrong. The young Armstrongs have recently moved into Abbeville, a picturesque old estate on the Lincoln highway, west of the town. And the Dwight L. Armstrongs will move soon into "Fiddler's Green," on the outskirts of Lancaster.

And did you know that Mrs. William W. Collin, Jr., of Sewickley, left Tuesday for Hot Springs, Va., to spend a fortnight with her father and mother, the George Hubbard Clapps?

Dance Dinner

OUT in Pasadena, Cal., resort life is becoming gayer and gayer as spring advances. At the Hotel Huntington there has been a large Pittsburgh colony, some of the members of which have just returned home.

Dorothy Williams entertained the younger set at the Hotel Huntington's Gold Rush dinner dance on March 29. And among her guests were Mary Oliver, Virginia Willock and Peggy Milligan, all popular members of Pittsburgh and Sewickley society. And at the same event the H. N. Van Voorhises entertained as did the P. G. Hollansbees.

Among the recent arrivals at the hotel are Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan and their daughter, Peggy, who made her debut during the season just past. The Milligans will spend this week-end in Palm Springs, popular desert resort of the West.

David McCargo has been a member of the Pasadena colony, and the Henry Olivers and their daughter, Mary, are recent arrivals.

Wilson Wedding

LAST evening at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Ruth Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Wilson, of the North Side, became the bride of Charles Newton Taft, son of Mrs. Frederick L. Taft, of Cleveland, in St. Luke's Lutheran Church. The Rev. Dr. G. Arthur Fry officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Alonzo J. Turkle. The altar was decorated with palms and snapdragons, and tall standards of pink snapdragons and delphinium with cibotium ferns were placed

Outlook Alliance Names Officers, Celebrates 23rd Anniversary

OFFICERS elected yesterday by the Outlook Alliance are: Second vice president, Mrs. Charles S. Hutchison; recording secretary, Mrs. A. M. McBride; treasurer, Mrs. P. W. Dutton; and the directors, Mrs. J. C. Park, Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. W. A. Thompson.

It was the club's twenty-third anniversary and in celebration there was a birthday cake, baked by the president, Mrs. H. D. Stark, and lighted with 23 candles and the past presidents were honor guests. Elmer Kenyon gave one of his "Strange Interlude" talks, analyzing the play from technical and artistic standpoints. Music was by Mrs. Norma Hageman Miller, whose mother was an Alliance member. Her acompanist was Miss Eleanor Steinbrenner.

Short reminiscent talks were given by the past presidents, Mrs. Marcus Spiro commenting on the establishment of the still very active beneficent committee and on the institution of American music day, the first such day in the country. Mrs. John Zoerb mentioned the war work done by the club and Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock, Jr., by request, told something of her present activities as county chairman of American citizenship and district state chairman of citizenship training. Mrs. Florence Stewart Blackmore, who was responsible for founding the music day, spoke of the assistance given young music students, and Mrs. Aden L. Fillmore, Mrs. Stark's immediate predecessor, recalled the Yuletide frolic, and stressed the purpose of the club.

Then, if anything else were needed to complete the day, Mrs. Charles S. Hutchinson, as leader, announced a gift of $1 for every year of the club's life from its founder, Miss Grace V. W. Henderson, of Meadville, and Mrs. Thomas Clayton, one of the earliest members, was introduced. Tea was served.

Elect Officers

ELECTION of officers will take place Thursday at the meeting of the Wilkinsburg Civic Club in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock, Jr., district chairman of citizenship training in the State Federation, and Miss Lyde Kerr Wilson, of Torrance House, the home for blind women, are the speakers and music will be furnished by the Madrigal Club of the Wilkinsburg High School and Mrs. Bertha Gross King, musical director of the club.

THE "affiliated club day" to be held April 16 at the Congress of Clubs has been arranged to give each club an opportunity to learn what the other clubs are doing. It will be an all-day meeting, beginning at 10:30 o'clock.

The board of directors are planning a benefit theater party at the Pitt, Tuesday, April 29, when Anne Forrest will be the guest star.

Because of the illness of Karl Heinrich, Congress instructor of the dance, there will be no kirmess this year, but in its place a children's ballet will be substituted. Two performances will be given in the clubhouse, May 16 and 17 being the dates chosen.

Colonial Playlet

"LOVE AND TEA," a colonial play in two acts, will be presented by the Gen. John Neville Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday night in the Congress of Clubs. Miss Guiletta Plympton, a chapter member, is directing the cast, which includes Mrs. Joseph Baldridge, Mrs. Eugene Bransford, Mrs. John Winner, Mrs. William Gorman, Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Archibald Alston, Mrs. Paul Irwin and Mrs. John Applegate.

Easter Program

THE next meeting of the Triangle Club of Wilkinsburg will be with Mrs. S. H. Murphy, of Frankstown road, on May 1. Mrs. George H. Humbert, of Elm street, was hostess yesterday afternoon when a program appropriate to the Easter season was given. A paper on "The Holy Land" was contributed by Mrs. Frank H. Steele, and Easter music was sung in assembly under the direction of Mrs. F. O. Armstrong. Later a talk on the work and needs of the blind was given by Mrs. Eugene Morgret.

LAURA HOLLAND M'DONALD, director of Allegheny County Girl Scouts, heads the reception committee for the Scout flag pageant to be given in Moose Temple tomorrow afternoon. Miss Marie Koellman, who is directing the pageant, is assisted by Miss Helen Baker, Miss Helen Pool and Miss Gladys Lentz, in charge of properties; Miss Isabel Hummel, lighting and costuming, and the ushers committee, Miss Jeanne Christy, Miss Belle Moore, Miss Jeanne Brook and Miss Elsie Davison.

Guest Day

THE Ben Avon Woman's Club is to have a guest day Tuesday in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The program will be by Florence Fisher Parry, who will speak on "Interesting Personalities of the Stage," and Mrs. Walter E. Close, who will read. Tea will follow the program.

THE ticket elected by the Woman's Club of Carrick is: President, Mrs. O. H. Graff; vice presidents, Mrs. Carl P. Kerr and Mrs. John C. Attenborough; recording secretary, Mrs. Clyde C. Cain; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John W. Sankey; assistant, Mrs. Perry Antiss; treasurer, Mrs. Harry New; directors, Mrs. J. R. Bradley, Mrs. J. A. Buddemeyer, Mrs. J. C. Baxendell, Mrs. P. A. Weber, Mrs. Robert A. Schneider.

JUDGE A. D. BRANDON, formerly of Morals Court, will speak concerning the court and its problems at the luncheon meeting of the Housekeepers' Club in the Congress clubhouse next Thursday. Music will be by Mrs. Richard Moon and Mrs. Blanche Jamieson Kensey.

ATTORNEY RALPH H. SMITH will give his deferred talk before the National Better Magazines Council in Utility Hall Monday, April 14. At the meeting, which is called for 10:30 o'clock, important reports will be heard.

* * *

PITTSBURGH CHAPTER, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will observe the sixty-eighth anniversary of the battle of Shiloh with a special program at the meeting next Monday in the Hotel Roosevelt. Maj. A. B. Hay, national commander of the Union Veteran Legion, will be the guest of honor and speaker.

STYLISTS PRESENT LATEST MODE IN EVENING GOWNS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 4.—The tide of evening fashions changes with the first crescent moon of spring. Upon this restless, ever changing sea shadows of new and beauteous outline are cast by gowns destined for the night-time hours and one discovers another version of this season's silhouette coming up on the style horizon. Light has been shed on this current movement by the viewing of late collections in which there is a definite tendency to raise the position of skirt fullness. Although retaining the long, slender lines and the effect of molded hips, skirts generally begin to widen above the knees, flounces are set on at a higher level or godets are imposed nearer the waistline. This influence is noted not only in the evening mode but is prevalent in late models of all types, particularly in coats.

THE shades of night are revealing much black and white, pink, blue and green. One of the most startling color schemes for which popularity is predicted because of its ready acceptance among fashionable notables here is the wearing of long, tobacco brown suede gloves with evening gowns. This innovation was featured by Worth in his recent spring collection. An interesting model from this collection is sketched today and reveals the long brown gloves as an important adjunct of the frock of heavy black satin. It is cut on princess lines with a deep flounced skirt in diagonal tiers, each tier bordered with a narrow shirred ruffle in such a manner as to suggest bolero inspiration.

SILVER threads are shimmering from many of the dark hour frocks as illustrated by this entrancing model of sea-green chiffon created by Lanvin. Silver ribbon in graduated widths is used in horizontal bands on the frock following the princess lines. Here an example of the tendency not to exaggerate the close-fitting hips, as previously discussed, is offered. The skirt flares in a rather stiff manner below the hips, ending just at the instep and is of equal length all around. A removable jacket accompanies the frock.

BOGGS & BUHL

Apparel Suggestions for Easter

The importance of ensembling coat and dress has made it very necessary to ensemble your shopping. Only by doing this will your costume be authentically smart.

The Basis of Many Spring Ensembles Will Be

Black Coats

$59.50

BLACK because dresses of almost any color will ensemble with it.

BLACK because it is becoming to youth as well as age.

BLACK because it is the most popular note in Paris today.

BLACK because some of the smartest models of the season are made of black faulkrepe, telga, broadcloth.

These Coats Are Fur Trimmed

Much of the fur trimming on black coats is light weight pelts—in black, Galyak, American broadtail, and mole. Or should you prefer light fur choose fox, mink, or lapin.

More Half Size

Dresses

$15.75

Truly, Boggs & Buhl is becoming the rendezvous for women seeking half-size dresses. Scarcely are the dresses hung on the racks until they are snatched off and sold.

That's because Boggs & Buhl make a great effort to select smart, wearable, becoming styles for dresses in these very wearable half sizes.

Small Half Sizes and Half Sizes for Large Women

Little jacket and lace-trimmed dresses are prominent in this new collection of dresses just ready to be placed on display. Plain and printed georgettes and chiffons; polka dot, floral and plain crepes.

You will not be surprised at the popularity of the group when you see that the size range is complete as:

Living Room Suites

In the Spring Furniture Sale

$95 to $345.00

We're crowded beyond relief in the living room section of the furniture floor by the newly arrived stocks of out doors and porch furniture. We were obliged to do one of two things: store these 19 suites away in the warehouse or offer them at reductions that would practically guarantee their sale. Tomorrow they are offered at such drastic reductions. In many cases prices are less than half! Every suite is new and style right—eminently desirable, emphatically so at its new price.

Also 25 Odd Chairs Tomorrow Your Choice ½ Price

With living room furniture in more demand, these price concessions should bring a host of people to visit Boggs & Buhl tomorrow.

3-Piece Bedroom Suites

$75.00

About twenty-five suites remain from the week's selling—they consist of full size bed, chest of drawers and vanity dresser. In two styles: Spool colonial and Sheraton design. A splendid suite for the spare bedroom—and a value that Boggs & Buhl has never been able to offer heretofore. Stop to see them, if you are interested in new bedroom furniture.

PLEATING

Means Color on the Costume

When the 1930 spring fashion picture is painted, color contrast will have played an important part in the making.

One very clever and inexpensive way to introduce the color note is by means of pleatings by the yard—and a full, frilly flounce can be made from ¾ of a yard of material, with ½ yard to add for cuffs.

In piques, georgettes and satins. Plain or contrasting footings. Striking or conventional color combinations, and white.

RAIL MERGERS UNDER QUIZ

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(INS)—Congressional investigation of railroad holding companies which may determine the fate of all proposals for legislation to facilitate giant rail mergers will be started tomorrow by the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Backed by blanket authority to explore every phase of the purchase of stock in several railroads by one holding company investment trust or other financial agency, the committee's investigation is expected to present a complete story of present day railroad financing.

Joseph B. Eastman, commissioner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will be summoned before the committee as the first witness, Representative Parker (Rep.), of New York, chairman announced.

His testimony will be followed by requests of more than 100 holding companies and other financial agencies for a complete statement of their railroad interests, after which expert investigators will be put to work on their books.

WIDOW SUES IN FRAUD KILLING

BENTONVILLE, Ark., April 4.—(AP)—The widow and two children of William Robert Pearman of Columbia, Mo., found dead near Gravette last Saturday with three bullet wounds in his head, today filed a civil suit for $200,000 damages in Circuit Court here against Dr. Andrew J. Bass, 55, retired dentist, of Columbia, who is charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Pearman in an alleged insurance conspiracy.

Pearman is believed to have been a party to the plot and to have been "double-crossed."

Dr. Bass was in jail here while attorneys sought to arrange his release on a $20,000 bond set late yesterday shortly after the murder indictment was returned.

West Liberty Bond Issue Is Authorized

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 4.—(AP)—Authority was granted West Liberty borough, Butler county, today by James F. Woodward, secretary of internal affairs, to float a bond issue of $7,100 for street improvements.

KIDNAPED CHILD STILL MISSING

DETROIT, April 4.—(AP)—Convinced by corroborative evidence of the truth of her brother's story of the kidnaping of 6-year-old Mary Suboch, police continued their search for the girl, missing more than 54 hours from the home of her parents in the suburb of Dearborn.

Investigators found several persons whose stories bore out that of Joseph Suboch, 9, that he and Mary were taken into an automobile near their home Tuesday afternoon and that he later was sent away on an errand. Two workmen told of finding the boy crying and saying that the man in the car had driven away with his sister. They made no report of the incident at the time, they said, because they believed he was referring to a grown sister.

GIRL WOUNDED BY IRATE WIFE

DALLAS, Tex., April 4.—(AP)—Asserting she acted in defense of her home, Mrs. H. E. Evans was held in jail here today charged with probably fatally wounding Miss Bernice Burger, 18, last night as the girl alighted from an automobile in front of her home.

In a statement to police, Miss Burger said she was shot by Mrs. Evans who found her husband had escorted the girl home. The wife fired after saying, "Bernice, I'm going to kill you," the victim declared.

After wounding the young woman, Mrs. Evans pointed the pistol at her husband, who drove rapidly away, it was said. An hour later the wife surrendered to police. The prisoner is Evans' third wife. She has three children.

Asks Counsel Fees In Divorce Suit

Claiming her husband earns $400 a month, Mrs. Anna A. Hood, LaClair street, wife of John C. Hood, against whom she has filed suit for divorce, has filed a petition for an allowance and counsel fees. Mrs. Hood says her husband is half owner of the Manufacturers Lubricating Oil Company. The Hoods were married January 4, 1900, and lived together until March 25 last, the date of the filing of the libel. Mrs. Hood, who is 53, charges her husband with cruel and barbarous treatment.

MAN SHOT, BOAT FIRED IN RIVER

WINDSOR, Ont., April 4.—(AP)—Another victim of warfare on the Detroit river was fighting for life in Grace Hospital here today.

A flaming speedboat with no one at its helm crashed against a liquor export dock at LaSalle, Ont., about midnight last night. An attendant at the dock dragged the man to safety before fire consumed his craft.

At Grace Hospital here the man was identified as Steve Jurecke, 25, of Ecorse, a Detroit suburb.

No signs of liquor were found in Jurecke's boat. This led police to believe that the speed boat was returning to Canada after delivering a liquor cargo to the Michigan side of the river, when the shooting took place.

U. S. Will Try Flier As Alien Smuggler

BRAWLEY, Cal., April 4.—(INS)—Accused of conspiring to smuggle alien Japanese into the United States from Mexico, Loren W. Mendell, well known aviator, will be turned over to American authorities for prosecution, it was asserted today.

Mendell is held in jail at Mexicali. The plane in which he and Pete Reinhardt once established a refueling flight record has been confiscated by Mexican authorities.

She Can't tell the Truth

It happens every month, but its very regularity makes excuses the more embarrassing. What a pity all women harassed by painful periods have not learned to depend on Midol!

A tiny tablet of Midol ends periodic pain in five to seven minutes. Not even discomfort need now be experienced at such times. Your first trial of this marvelous product of specialists will prove the truth of this glorious news. Midol is not a narcotic and is perfectly harmless to use, but it acts directly on the organs affected and relieves completely and immediately in even severest cases. And Midol costs but fifty cents! You will find it at any drugstore in handy little metal carrying case that will tuck away in the smallest purse or pocket. Many have found Midol the quickest relief for headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, and other pain.

FRENCH AMAZE U. S. STUDENTS

PARIS, April 4.—(AP.)—Immediately upon their arrival in France to study, several thousand American young men and women annually ask: "What is a French school like?" The answer for them is: "Nothing that you have ever seen before."

Imagine what a great surprise it is to an American student to find that in order to get a seat in the first four rows—which are usually shunned in the United States—it is necessary to show up from an hour to two hours before the lecture. And, again what a lack of familiarity he feels when he finds the long tables unmarked with initials, queer looking faces and designs.

The fight for seats is intense and in some schools students who live outside the city are given preferential rights because they are unable to arrive long enough ahead of time to compete with their city brothers. Many intrigues arise. Friends retain seats for friends and often a student who has not made some alliance is forced to take a back seat. Some actually sit through one or two lectures in which they are not interested in order to be certain of a comfortable writing space for their own class.

If fraternities existed in France the fight for seats would turn out to be a battle among fraternities.

The entrance of the professor into the classroom is a ceremonial affair. Professors as a rule teach in several schools. They are not provided with departmental or individual offices in school buildings. Hence, they arrive for their lecture from the street. A small room for their coats and hats is provided. From this room they are ushered into the classroom by a beadle who steps aside with a smile as he passes the threshold and lets the teacher mount the rostrum.

The beadle's smile has a meaning, for students are prone to greet some professors rather rudely. Regardless, as soon as the usher appears in the doorway, the hall resounds with applause. During the lecture there is frequent applause.

ANTI-PASSOVER DRIVE CURBED

MOSCOW, April 4.—(AP.)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that the Atheist Society, the League of the Godless, has issued an order forbidding the use of compulsion during the anti-Passover campaign for converts.

The order says that no house-to-house collection of candlesticks, praying shawls or phylacteries should take place during Passover, and that the delivery of such articles should be of an absolutely voluntary nature.

"We know that the Jewish nepmen and the Jewish clericals will resent our anti-Passover campaign as an evil edict and persecution and will try to compromise it by saying that we confiscate their religious articles and sell them for junk, thus robbing them," the order says.

C. E. Rally Meets In Brownsville

WHALEN TELLS OF RED THREAT

NEW YORK, April 4.—(INS.)—Asserting that he will soon make public "documents from Moscow outlining a plan for a nation-wide demonstration on May 1," Police Commissioner Whalen warned the New York State Chamber of Commerce of Red activities.

The commissioner spoke before 400 members at the monthly meeting.

"It is unfortunate," he said, "that there is no agency in our government that is studying the Red movement, which is trying to make this country the United States of Soviet Russia.

"Information is in the hands of our police department that the Reds are launching an attack in this country on the theory that if they can make any headway in the United States the rest of the world will follow easily and that shortly they will start a world movement.

"They are thoroughly organized here. They are boring themselves into every industry and they are sowing seeds of discontent in the Army and Navy.

"I will shortly make public documents from Moscow outlining a plan for a nation-wide demonstration on May 1."

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

CHINA HEALTH WORK EXPANDS

SHANGHAI, April 4.—(AP.)—The work of the Rockefeller Foundation in China has expanded so rapidly the last few years that nearly every province now receives some of its benefits.

The hospitals and missions which have received some aid and expert assistance from professors maintained by the foundation number 45.

Fifty-three fellowships were given so that teachers in China might study and specialize in the United States and Europe. Of this number 37 went to Chinese.

An additional 67 fellowships were granted to the Peiping Union Medical College, of which 47 went to Chinese students. Two fellowships were given for study in Shantung Christian University Hospital at Tsinanfu, while five were granted to Chinese students at Yenching University in Peiping.

Besides the fellowships and money grants the foundation carried on exhaustive research work in China and at the same time extended valuable assistance to the National Government health authorities.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

NEW HEALTH TO SUFFERS: NEW HOPE TO THE WORRIED

Monroe's Formula No. 7 Succeeds Where Others Fail

MR. GEO. CONNORS
981 Paradrome St.
Cincinnati, Ohio

To all who have tried and tried to regain health; to free themselves from the maddening tortures of sickness; to escape the awful worry of constant run-down condition, this NEW medicine comes as a special blessing. MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 succeeds where others fail for it is prepared from the best recognized health-giving ingredients, none of them harmful, and so well recommended that we urge you to ask the No. 7 Man to explain just what is in every bottle. Ask him to show you the pink slip and tell you all about this greater master medicine.

Mr. George Connors, a prominent business man of Cincinnati, Ohio, stated freely: "I was feeling run-down, out of sorts and just about managed to get around. I wondered what could be wrong. Several friends told me about MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 and I tried it. What I needed was a good nerve and body builder. Today I thank my lucky stars that this medicine came to my rescue. I surely recommend it to everybody who feels as I did."

MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 is the proved medicine for rheumatism, neuritis, indigestion, constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and general run-down condition. Come in to see the No. 7 Man at DOW'S, Diamond and Smithfield Sts., Pittsburgh, any day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. or on Saturday, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. He will give you his advice without charge.

HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY IN REVIEW; ALSO LOCAL THEATER NOTES

Mr. Cantor in Filmland, So Is His Wife and Five Children

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.

EDDIE CANTOR has decided to lease a house in Bev Hills. His wife and five youngsters came along with him this trip, Mebbe because Eddie is going to make "Whoopee." But Eddie's explanation of the house is different. He anticipates settling down and sending his kids to school out here.

"Somebody," volunteers Eddie patriotically, "has got to learn to talk English."

"BILLY THE KID"

YOU should know that one picture that has aroused interest before it is even in active production is "Billy the Kid" John-Mack Brown is spotted on M G M lot "Tother afternoon in tight fitting pink trousers, flannel blue shirt, and wide brimmed black hat. He will star in the pic. Johnny is carried a large envelope. envelope contained photographs of his pride and joy, Harriet Jane. "I think that's her name". The baby is getting along the year mark and she looks a honey. Blond silky hair and tiny little stubby nose. There's talk that Wallace Berry will portray the role of the sheriff in "Billy the Kid." He's the dark who finally hangs Billy. that Lu-

Eddie Cantor

Powers may be the heroine I don't know very much about Miss Powers. Inquiries have resulted ditto. Nothing other than she played in Paul Whiteman's picture, "King of Jazz." But so did hundreds of girls. Clara Bow megaphone Billy the Kid." Part of the scenes will be shot in Arizona at nearby Interiors at the studio M & M. is kinda excited about the film, which gives Johnny Mack Brown his biggest break in the celluloiders.

BODY GETS UP

LEWIS STONE in a reminiscent moment, recounted the time Wm Cody spent the night at his home. Seems that Lew slept in Cody's bed, the host taking the guest room. In the morn Stone's new Jap valet pulled Cody out of bed by main force. Stone had a 7 a. m. studio call and any guy in Cody's bed was Lewis regardless. What Cody had to say about the matter is not for publication.

KEEPS ON THE GAS

EDDIE QUILLEN steps on the gas when he's late for appointment. He was late yesterday and headed for the Pathe lot at 50 miles per. Whizzing through Culver City, he spotted a motorcycle cop chasing him. Eddie groaned. The cop ordered him to the curb.

Quillen saw visions of a hefty speeding fine but decided upon an air of injured innocence.

"How fast was I going officer?"

"How in so-and-so do I know?" snarled the copper. "You're going to get a ticket for passing a boulevard stop."

"Oh," sighed Eddie, gratefully accepting the ticket costing two bucks, instead of a speeding ticket that would have smacked him a twenty-fiver.

SLATED FOR "GRUMPY"

RICHARD ARLEN is slated to transfer his grease paintings from Hollywood to New York upon the completion of "Border Legion." Dick is wanted for the juvenile lead in "Grumpy," which will star Cyril Maude, direction Dorothy Arzner. For the past few flicks, Arlen has gone Western with box office hurrahs. "Grumpy" would see him without the open space trimmings. In the event he goes to New York for this film, his wife, Jobyna Ralston Arlen, goes along. Joby hasn't bothered about the movies, lately. She's busy being the mayoress of the Tuluca Lake colony and playing golf.

THINGS I NEVER KNEW TILL NOW

THAT Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary, just out, finally includes the word "Whoopee." It states that "whoope" was first used in a play produced in 1622, but what it doesn't explain is why over 300 years passed before "whoopee" was finally recognized and admitted to the language.

That the gal who unveiled the Statue of Liberty is still alive and dwells in White Plains, N. Y.

That there is hardly room left for sightseers to inscribe their initials inside the head of the same statue.

That you can get Swiss cheese without the holes.

THE ORIGINAL

THAT Alan Edwards, the actor, is the original collar ad man. J. Leydendecker made the first illustration 12 yrs. ago.

That in Massachusetts you get life for robbery, armed.

That while it is against the law to expectorate, the elevated railways can be fined for not maintaining enough cuspidors.

That business is so bad the price for "putting a man on the spot" has dropped from $250 to $75.

That the first time they had to pay anyone to listen to John McCormack sing was when they hired "extras" for his movie.

That to drop a banana skin on the sidewalk is punishable.

THE HANDY MAN

THAT Leonardo da Vinci once wrote in applying for work, that he could trim the hair, was a good gardener . . . "and, among other things," wrote the applicant, "I do a little painting."

That speakeasies put as little sugar as possible in your "Old Fashioneds" to keep you from getting drunk too quick.

That according to "Comstock Stalks" in the April Scribner's you are liable to a fine of $5,000 or five yrs. in the jusgado, or both, if you should write a pal telling him where he could get Joyce's "Ulysses."

That you can be arrested in Washington for playing immoral music.

That you can be jailed for saying damn via the phone.

That the reason the releasing ring on a parachute is on the left side is that in falling through space your hand automatically reaches for your heart; and, if yours is in the right place, it'll be under the ring.

TWO, TOO, TO

THAT an English sentence which can't be written is: "There are three twos in the English language."

I can't do it, either; I'm just trying to tell you.

That you can play certain high notes on an elaborated zither that will inevitably make a dog howl.

That the term "motor car" is supposed to have been coined by a journalist named G. R. Sims in 1895.

That the word "Esquire" comes from two Latin words and means "Shield Bearer." In the old days, an esquire was the youth who carried his knight's shield when the latter rode to battle.

That among other long words in the Standard Dicksh is "honorificabilitudinity," meaning honorableness.

That when we blink we wash our eyes. The upper eyelid resembles a tiny sponge, which is kept perpetually damp.

BOOK-KEEPING NOTE

THAT freshly made mustard will remove red ink stains. And tepid water will erase the mustard.

That professors at a Berlin university have trained fish to read letters of the alphabet and recognize colors.

That stage dogs are usually fed caffein just before going on to do their tricks. It is supposed to make them alert.

That one of the better known New York girl colleges is called "Adelphi College," Adelphi being Greek for "brothers."

That photographs of thoughts and measurements of cogitations are among the latest marvels of science.

That in England an effeminate man is called a "Mint."

MUST DO DUTY

THAT it is the duty of a lawyer whose client confesses his guilt of a crime to continue to defend him.

That more people live in India than live in the entire North American continent.

That the busiest editor is George Horace Lorimer of the Saturday Evepost, who does the selecting of all that mag's covers.

That the only street that starts on Broadway and finishes on Broadway is Pearl street.

That every Italian name ends in a vowel.

That it was C. Simmons who parented the wisest of wiseys: "The best throw of the dice is to throw them away."

And that a rarer thing than a day in June is a bean sandwich.

HARRIS DENIES GERMAN OPERA THEATERS SALE WRITER DIES

A report from New York that Warner Brothers had practically completed negotiations to purchase the Harris chain of 20 theaters in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Delaware, was denied here today by Eugene L. Connelly, general manager of the Harris Amusement Company.

"We have entered into no transaction to sell the Harris theaters," Mr. Connelly declared. "From time to time we have received offers for them just as such offers are made in all businesses, but we have not sold them."

Harry M. Warner, in New York, also denied that his company is negotiating for the Harris chain.

You can walk all over the city looking for living quarters, but it's much easier to read the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads.

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Gen. Baron George Von Der Goltz, soldier and composer, died in Berlin yesterday at the age of 77.

Born in Berlin in October, 1852, he fought in the War of 1870 and before the World War was commander of the Thirtieth Division. During the war, he was in command of a Landwehr division under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, and took part in the battles of Tannenberg, Lyck and Osowiec.

He also was deeply interested in music. He composed a torch dance for the wedding of the former kaiser and also wrote the operas "Myrrah" and "Witichis."

He was not related to Count Rudiger Von Der Goltz, nor the late Gen. Colmar Von Der Goltz, both noted soldiers.

CHICKIE

Vacation Ends and Chickie Returns to Office

CHAPTER LI

BARRY was gone, the impulsive ardor of his words chilling in Chickie's ears.

And in the forlorn quiet of her emotions her spirit—shoved aside by his arms, by his tender, seeking eyes—returned. It brought back the cup he had dashed aside, forced it to her lips.

Not the thing she had done, but her own thought of it crushed her. She couldn't rise above the reluctance and the fear that were in the fiber of her flesh.

She went for a walk, tackling up hills, stopping faint in the heat. It was there to meet her, holding out the cup, brimming with anguish. Each time she drained it the shock and bitterness went through her, new, fresh, unsoftened.

She tried to knock it from her, repeating: "Oh, I'll not shame it so! Why—it swept us—" But she saw herself stepping from the canoe following him, the darkness, his vivid eyes. She sank in the shrubs and began to cry.

Then she grew afraid. Every one would know. If she kept on like this even Jennie would suspect her. She went home by the spring and kneeling on the rocks bathed her face, dipping it under the silver trickle of water. She felt a gratitude to the earth, to this spring.

She would be gay. Leave Jonathan—put her arms about Jennie. She hadn't been so kind to them these weeks, off on her own pleasure from morning till night. Now she had a wild longing to win them—make them laugh.

She went in, swinging her hat. But at her place was a bunch of sweet peas. Jonathan had done that. Now he took her chin in his hand. "Lonesome, Chickie girl? But your dad was the gallant lover in his day. Ask your mother."

End Vacation

She dropped her face down and rubbed it against his palm. Oh—if he kept doing things like this the first thing she knew he'd have her crying in his arms. Then he'd know. She'd die first. Let Jonathan know that! See the light go out of his chuckling eyes—giant that he was.

During dinner this fear came and ate at her breast. Its teeth sank in her heart. She glanced over to him, then at Jennie.

Jennie said getting up quickly: "Oh, I forgot the sauce. Is that what you're looking for?"

"No—mother, you spoil me! No wonder I'm selfish un—" Lips shaking, she crumbled the bread. "No, why don't we go home tomorrow? I have some shopping to do and then I ought to be back at work," Janina wrote.

Jonathan said: "Yes, we'll go. Vacation enough. What say, Jennie?"

It was decided. She went about in a restless fever gathering her things. Green dress she had worn, rolling it into a knot, stowing it in the bottom of her trunk. Books he had given her—turning the pages, snapping them abruptly closed.

Get back to work, plunge herself into it, hammer at the typewriter till her fingers ached. Close out these hills, never look at the sea again.

But the morning she dressed for the office she shivered with nervousness. She brushed her hair again and again, taking a bleak satisfaction in the roughness of her stroke. She stared a long time at her image, wondering if there was anything different in her face, some pitiless, revealing mark. She was afraid to meet Janina.

Returns to Office

On the car she glanced furtively at other girls going to work; speculated in a kind of despairing excitement about their lives—their thoughts. Did any one but herself have a cold, trembling weight lodged remorselessly in her heart?

A smartly dressed girl with a wink in her black eyes laughed merrily, as she talked to a much older woman. The sound rang jarringly along Chickie's nerves. She opened her book, shunning the brightness. She would never be flippantly happy like that again.

But Janina met her with a refreshing vigor, and Stella Wilson put her arm about her. They told her all the news. They missed her. She looked wonderful—freckles on her nose. Lemon juice for that. Oh, she found herself laughing, too.

But when she sat at her desk and all by chance glanced across the alley, a pulsing cold went over her. Her fingers stiffened on the keys. For a long while she did no work. Lewis happened to pass. He twitted her. "Too much vacation, Miss Bryce? Or not enough?"

Her mind sharpened. For an hour she typed relentlessly and pausing to get a new piece of carbon paper she was suddenly back on the bay, paddling into the dark, feeling it close about her—. All that first day terror gripped her.

That night there were letters he had written on the train—they were warm in her hand, living things, breathing hotly now with impetuous fire, now gentle as he had been that last day.

flame. Oh, he didn't want her to bow herself down. No—that was no way to look at it—that was the coward way.

And Chickie remembers when we've watched the ocean and sometimes a great wave rushed in, resistless and bore on the rocks. Something magnificent in the power and the flash of it. Isn't there? Think of it like that, I do."

Then again: Suppose we were alone in the world. We are in a way. No other can know or have a say for what we feel unless we permit it. Who should we? This is ours—ours only. Keep it so, free from the touch of others' thoughts."

Cries Over Letters

She read it over, poured it into her mind. Dearer than anything else was this: "I love you, Chickie. I think I did even the first day I saw you sitting up there like a blessed thing. Now I know what you are thinking. Don't think it. You are more beautiful by far than you were before. Write to me—tell me what you are thinking. I love you."

Like a sanction. She took it as though his hand reached to her, led her away. And they were alone and she was glad.

In the middle of the night she read the letters again. She cried over them. He loved her so. He thought of it as a magnificent wave, flashing, resistless.

She tried to focus this image of beauty on her mind, look at it that way. Little things made it shift, made it fade. Janina saying to her: "Well, proud and pure, how goes it? Do I step to the altar with the vestal soon?"

And then one afternoon she came home a little early and found Jennie sitting in the living-room on the small, old-fashioned sofa. Jennie had a white celluloid box with silver corners in her lap. She was going over her trinkets, sorting them. This was a favorite pastime. Now she blushed, saying to Chickie: "I have some pins here that need repairing."

Meets Jimmy

Chickie knew that her mother was merely fondling these old relics that she was going back to her girlhood. Jonathan had given her this jewel box with a brooch of carved abalone shell the first week they were married. Now the faded, wistful look in Jennie's eyes caught her with a pang. Suddenly she was aware that she had neglected her mother. She was just sweet Jennie as she carefully mended Chickie's silk stockings, as she ironed frilly waists and laid them with anxious pride on Chickie's bed.

Now, looking at the mild, round face with the old dreams still showing, seeing tears in Jennie's eyes, Chickie had a wish to sit on the little sofa, put her head down on Jennie's ample breast, sleep, till she, too, was old with faded eyes.

Old like that, oh, sweet, then she would forget—

Jennie asked her to run down to the bakery—get some of those little rolls Jonathan liked them.

As she was hurrying back she stopped abruptly half way down the block. Too late. Jimmy saw her and was all but running to meet her.

He looked jaunty, new blue suit—little pink bud in his coat. Jimmy looked handsome, big fellow, grinning. "Where do you get this stuff, Miss Bryce—take a step and salute your old darling."

She said, trembling: "Why, Jimmy—get a raise—all dolled up?"

"Like me, Chickie? New suit for the new car! Oh, we're sporty. Say, how about stepping forth with your old love tonight? My private sleuth tells me you have no date. Aw, please, Chickie—like old times."

And he had to hold her elbow, driving his fingers against it.

Almost beside herself, her breath failing, she said: "Oh—why, Jimmy, well you see."

And then Jimmy stooped down and looked her square in the face. He said brusquely: "Do you mean that you won't, Chickie? You won't take a ride with me, not that much?"

She laughed, wild with fear, ready to die rather than this. But she said: "Why, of course! Of course I will!"

Ink stains on serges are cleared by rubbing them with cotton-wool dipped in warm milk, then with pure water.

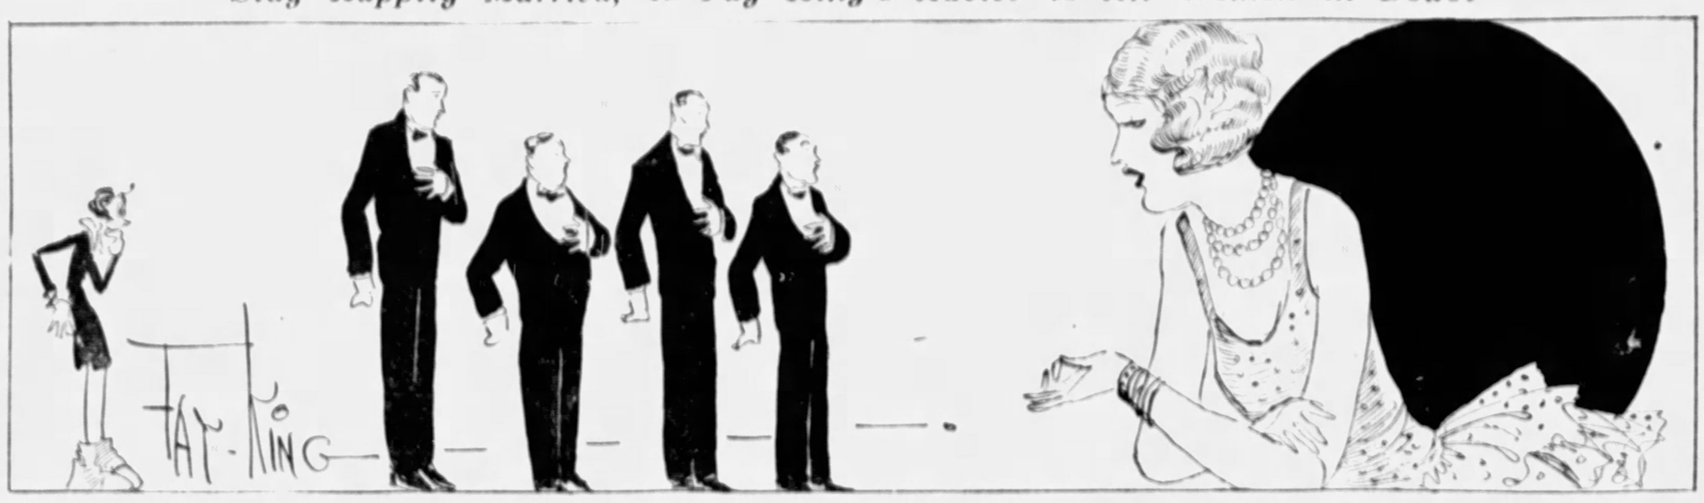
Stay Happily Married, Is Fay King's Advice to All Women in Doubt



By FAY KING

A LOT of women seem to think these days that successful marriage is not how long you stay married, but how often you get married.

A golden wedding anniversary does not register as big with them as a series of honeymoons with new husbands.

They read with a certain degree of envy about the woman who is always getting married again.

They seem to lose sight entirely of the fact that her marriages are all flops.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again"—is a cheer yell for failures not successes. Getting married now and then for a little while is merely a series of shallow and unsuccessful adventures in matrimony.

Staying happily married is the only real success in marriage.

Mother Graham Is Bent on Warfare With Katie

"SIT DOWN," my mother-in-law graciously as we came into her room, and I saw that my appeal for her advice had been the one thing necessary to put her into a royal good humor. "Now what is it you wish to ask me about?"

"It's quite a long story," I said, but I'll try to make it brief. You remember the Brixtons who visited the Underwoods last fall?"

"Remember them" my mother-in-law snorted. "I'm not likely to forget them. A party of five people coming and quartering themselves on perfect strangers! You're as soft-headed as you're soft-hearted, Margaret, or you'd never have fallen for it."

I took the reproach meekly, glad that she had mounted her prejudice so soon and was off for a canter upon it.

"Well, we won't have to entertain them again, except perhaps at a dinner or something like that, but I do have to find a house for them near here."

"What?" Mother Graham fairly shouted the word at me. "You don't mean those people are coming down here to live? Oh, I don't mean that the young folks and their mother aren't all right as people go, but those two men, especially that Owen, if ever there was a villain unhung it's that man, and that you'll find out."

"They're not going to live here all the time," I said, but Mrs. Brixton wants a furnished house for the Christmas holidays where she can entertain some school friends of her son and daughter. She will be in her New York apartment during part of the vacation, but she wishes an old-fashioned Christmas in the country, and, of course, Marion and Carolyn will be wild over the scheme."

"And I suppose you're the goat who is going to hunt the house for her," Mother Graham went on witheringly. "Well, my advice to you is to imitate the darky who looked for work and prayed he wouldn't find it. Just be blind in your near eye when you see a house you think she'd like and write her you can't find any. Why Christmas would just be ruined with those two men around."

"But they're not going to be around," I said and went on to tell her of the business trips which would keep Samuel Brixton and his half-brother away from home during the Christmas holidays.

"They're just moving down to New York for four years at least," I explained, and my mother-in-law bent forward and put the tips of her fingers together with a gesture of resigned disapproval.

"Well, all I hope is that none of you regret that move the way I fear you will," she said.

"I know," I said in docile assent, "but I really don't know what to do about getting Mrs. Brixton a house for the holidays. Lillian wishes me to find one if I can."

"She would." My mother-in-law's tone was withering. "How a woman as brilliant as she is can be such a softy I don't know. But that doesn't help matters any. For my part, I don't see how you can get out of it, seeing that the woman and her children will be alone at Christmas time. But there's only one house near here that would do, and that's The Larches."

"Oh, that would be just the thing," I said enthusiastically, trying to convey by my manner that the idea of the The Larches had not entered my brain until she had uttered the name. "Mother, couldn't you come with me now and see the agent? I'll run down and tell Katie to have lunch ready when we come back, and that will give us time not only to see the agent, but to look over the house."

The Marry-Go-Round

Mrs. Solomon's Sayings

HEARKEN, my Daughter, to the Credo of the Snob.

Who worshipeth at the shrine of the Social Register and glorifieth the Almighty Dollar.

Go to, saith the Snob. A millionaire may consort with Bohemians and chum with the unwashed.

But, to command the respect and homage of Head Waiters requireth a "grande opera" manner and an English accent. For they cannot be deceived by false signs.

Better a dinner of herbs served by a flunky in livery than a feast in the house where there is no butler. And, where the cook waiteth on the table, it is folly to linger.

For, what profiteth it a man though he win a place in the Hall of Fame, if the doors of the SMART houses be closed against him?

Lo, the shimmer of a silk hat becometh the brow more than the light of intelligence; and a good wine cellar is more to be honored than canceled debts. It putteth thee among the SOPHISTICATES!

A cheap coat may cover a warm heart; but a mantle of ermine dazzleth the eyes of the first-nighters and impresseth the ushers and doormen.

Go to. Though a woman possess all the grace of a princess and all the style of a Paris manikin, what honor hath she in the eyes of the salesladies if she cannot say, "CHARGE it?"

An understanding of the spoons and forks is more to be desired than great wisdom; and a smattering of near-French is the sum of all knowledge.

A witty companion delighteth the soul and exalteth the spirit; but to be seen in a box at the opera beside the dull dowager is good PUBLICITY.

Behold, a man may attain a high polish and a woman may acquire much savior faire. But who hath the grande manner of a little Pomeranian? And the hauteur of a Pekingese, who can surpass it?

Better a nod from the imported limousine than a warm greeting and a "lift" from a flivver; and the frozen salute of a liveried chauffeur out-weigheth much cordiality from a second-hand tin Lizzie.

To cut an old friend is hard; but what is so comforting as a jeweled lorgnette, wherewith to snub the officious?

A smile for the haughty, a snub for the friendly, a stare for the humble and a kiss for the foot that would spurn thee. THIS is the Credo of the Snob.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Sties Warn of Sight Defects

WHEN we are in perfect health our bodies are armed with mysterious powers of resistance to diseases. Wrong living and eating improper foods tend to lower this resistance to such an extent that we become susceptible to disease germs.

DR. COPELAND

Any condition in which there is pus formation is thought to be due to an infection. Not an hour passes when we are not touching, handling or swallowing some of the thousands of germs that linger in the air, or are being blown about.

The body in perfect health fights off these germs. The skin and the mucous membrane act as protectors to the body, and they help in this armed resistance to disease. If there is a break in the skin or in the mucous membrane of nose or mouth, then the wily germ finds a lodging place.

In the case of sties, the bodily resistance may be lowered to a great extent by some illness—it may be influenza or other debilitating sickness—or by too little sleep, overwork, chronic constipation. Or there may be poisons in the system from bad teeth or other sources.

Then comes eyestrain from too much reading at night, poor lighting, or excessive use of the eyes. There may be irritation of the eyes by dust or smoke, rubbing the eyes, much weeping or anything that irritates and inflames these delicate organs.

There may be only one sty. If it is due to a passing or accidental infection from some mild germ. But there may be a crop of them, and then we are dealing with a miserable condition.

When this trouble appears it is an indication there is something fundamentally wrong with the system. You should see a doctor and find the underlying cause.

Bad habits of living and eating must be corrected. You should follow the advice of your doctor in building up your health and resistance to disease.

Have your eyes tested for eyestrain. If you have any defect of this sort it should be corrected with eyeglasses. Temporary relief for the inflammation of the eyes may be had by using a boric acid solution.

Sties are a danger signal and it is a warning that should be heeded. Sometimes they may be accompanied by boils. The condition of the system that will cause one may result in the other. See that your health improves. Be out in the fresh air and sunshine and take good sensible food.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Making-Up at the Theater

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When going to a theater with a gentleman, is it incorrect, after the performance, for the lady to ask the gentleman to pardon her while she goes to the ladies' room to powder her nose?

2. At a restaurant, provided one is not very hungry, is it proper to order only a fruit salad?

3. If it consists of a lot of fruit and whipped cream, how should it be eaten, with a fork or a spoon? B. S.

IT is quite correct for her to do this.

2. Yes. And now, when people are careful not to overeat and when the advantages of the eating of fruit are being understood, this is often done.

3. With a fork.

Dancing With One's Escort

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If a young man takes a girl to a dance, and pays the way, does the girl have to dance with him all evening, or may she dance with someone else without asking him? EVA.

IT is usual to take for granted, at a dance, that the girl will dance with partners other than the gentleman who takes her to the dance. With her partner, she dances, of course, the first dance, and customarily the dances before and after supper, and the last dance. Often, other dances, of course, also. But not all of the dances with him.

The White House Gang

penny, and I want you to have it."

Eddie reverently carries that useful penny with him to this day, touching with it other coins in his pocket, that presently go out into circulation.

On one well-remembered occasion, money—highly tempting wealth, really—was placed, quite unexpectedly, almost within the grasp of the Gang. A cunning yet clumsy intrigue, in which I was selected to play the part of catspaw, nearly succeeded in corrupting the loyalty and probity of the Gang. Under the trees on Massachusetts Avenue, and not far from the picket-fence of Force School, a stranger accosted me.

"Are you going to the White House this afternoon?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," I replied.

Mysterious Stranger

"Fine! Aren't you the lucky boy!" the stranger responded heartily. "Think of being able to come and go there just as you like! I wish I could do that!"

I was flattered, as he intended I should be, and willing to continue the conversation, which took an unexpected turn.

"I have a letter here," the man went on, taking one from his pocket, "I want you to give to my friend, the President——"

"But I may not see him today," I protested uneasily.

"Well, it need not be today—but sometime, soon. Hand it to him, when just you boys are around——"

"What boys?" I asked quickly.

"Oh, I know them all," the stranger laughed, proceeding to name the Gang without error. "Now listen. I will give you ten dollars to hand this letter to Mr. Roosevelt, when you can put it right into his hand—nobody's else, not even a secretary——"

"No—no thank you!" I said firmly, but frightened and backing away from him.

Whereupon, the fellow took a couple of steps in my direction and calmly slipped the letter together with the ten-dollar bill, into my breast-pocket. "Now," he ordered, "do exactly as you've just promised, and as I asked you——"

Boy Frightened

I had promised nothing and the man's calm assumption scared me into a panic. So, without answering him, and totally forgetting that I had the money and the message in my pocket, I turned and ran, as fast as my legs would carry me.

By the time I arrived breathless at the White House I was clutching the envelope tightly in my fist, apprehensive of losing it and with no tangible reason—still more fearful of delivering it. In the ushers' room, I came upon the other Gangsters, waiting for Quentin. "Just look at the postman!" little Walker remarked.

"Gosh!" I said anxiously, "Don't ask me anything about it just now——"

"Who's it for?" Charlie asked.

"The President," I answered. "Shut up, will you!"

"Who's it from?" queried Dick, taking up the questioning.

"I don't know," I admitted.

"Here, young man," interrupted an overhearing usher, "give the letter to me. I'll have it sent over to the offices——"

"No! No!" I objected.

"Why not?" asked the usher. "Is there any known reason why a letter, directed to the President, should not reach him at once?"

Fabulous Wealth

"Leave me alone!" I cried, bursting away from him. The Gang—loyal to me without needing to know the reason—blocked the usher in his attempt to get possession of the letter.

"It isn't for the President at all," I declared suddenly thinking a white lie to be the best way out. "It's for Quent——"

When we found Quentin, a few minutes later in the upper hall, the Gang went into immediate session. I told the full story, adding by way of illustrative detail that the man had a great, curling black moustache and was beautifully dressed.

A long argument ensued as to what should be done. Ten dollars was fabulous wealth! That much currency in the treasury of the Gang would work near-miracles and produce action of a startling character.

Ten dollars, someone pointed out, would buy sufficient stink-bombs to completely paralyze schoolwork, effect an adjournment of the session, and empty the building. But—

"Somebody," said Q, "is trying to do something that isn't regular. Otherwise, he would have mailed his letter in the usual way. And he wouldn't pay ten dollars, for what he could get done for two cents. And he's lying, anyway, when he says he's a friend of Father's. . . ."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, April 5

A DAY of initiative and enterprise is forecast from the prevailing lunar and mutual aspects. New ventures are under a benignant impetus for success, with fresh understandings and arrangements under especially flourishing auspices. Personal domestic and affectional affiliations should likewise thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of enterprise and bold initiative, with all new projects and fresh arrangements under high planetary stimulus. Personal matters should likewise flourish and bring much gratification.

A child born on this day may be enterprising and resourceful, with a tendency to venture bravely into new fields of progress. Its personal life may have much gratification.

THE BEAUTY BOX

By HELEN FOLLETT

BOBBED wigs are so cleverly made that it is impossible to detect them from the growth to which a woman is naturally attached. They are the solacement of the woman who, having used hair dye, decides to accept the whitened glory top. She can shave off the colored tresslocks, wear the wig for one year, and then sport a mop six inches in length.

PIMPLES, boils, slight skin lesions are often caused by infection carried by the fingertips. Therefore, it is not wise to fuss with blackheads and eruptions, which is the habit of some young ladies. Hands off! Won't do!

bachelors better wear blinders!

—if they expect to withstand the feminine allure of the new styles! Fashion is in league with fascination to make every woman irresistibly lovely!

And with the new clothes—the new complexions!

The skin must be "natural" in color—a flattering cream-pearl tone. Use Armand's Cold Cream Powder—its richer consistency films the face in becoming fairness. Rub it first into a fresh puff, then blend smoothly, carefully, over the skin, and see how long this beauty lasts!

At good toilet counters. New shades, $1 the box.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

SUNDAY MENU:

Grapefruit Mint Cup.
Chicken with Mushrooms.
Potato Rolls.
Brussels Sprouts, Sauce Piquante.
Asparagus and Pimento Salad.
Banana Cocoanut Pie.
Coffee.

THE most prosaic dish, it seems, is immediately lifted to culinary heights of glory by the simple addition of mushrooms. And when the dish to begin with happens to be chicken, can one ask more of a Sunday dinner?

The Chicken and Mushrooms served with tiny potato rolls ought to call forth a vote of thanks to the cook. I'm sure your family will rise to the occasion and respond most graciously!

I'd select a young chicken weighing about three pounds. After cleaning it, cut the chicken at the joints and season the pieces with salt. Heat ¼ cup butter in a deep frying pan and add 1 sliced onion. Then add the pieces of chicken and cook to a golden brown.

COVER the pan tightly and cook very slowly until tender. In the meantime wash 1 pound mushrooms and cook them in boiling, salted water for 5 minutes. Just before the chicken is done, add the mushrooms, and cook together slowly for 15 minutes longer. Add a dash of paprika and serve hot.

For the potato rolls, boil and mash 6 potatoes and add 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 beaten eggs, salt, pepper and a grating of nutmeg. Shape into small rolls, brush with melted butter and place in a buttered baking dish in a hot oven for about 10 minutes, until they are a rich brown color.

CRABMEAT is one of my very favorite foods. And certainly a more delicious seafood never left the cold clear waters of Japan. It does seem a long way for the crabmeat to come, but the world's finest and hugest crabs come from the turquoise depths of the Japanese waters.

Living in the cold of these semi-Arctic seas, unpolluted and free from any germs, these crabs attain enormous size, and, unlike the small crabs that frequent shallow waters, they yield large pieces of deliciously tender meat of marvelous flavor.

Use crabmeat in a cocktail, on a canape, as a salad, or for a splendid entree—it does the honors of the occasion nobly, and adds dignity and a touch of culinary luxury to the repast.

TO prepare a crab canape, spread tiny squares of buttered toast with anchovy paste. Cream 2 tablespoons of butter, add a cup of the canned crabmeat finely chopped, a teaspoonful of mustard, a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, a few grains of cayenne and half a dozen olives finely chopped. Spread the mixture on the toast, make each square artistic with cross strips of wafer-thin pimento.

DEVILED CRAB is a decided Lenten delicacy—you'll want a pound of the canned crabmeat, a cup of very fine bread crumbs moistened with a ½-cup of milk, yolks of 2 hardboiled eggs rubbed through a strainer, a small pinch of mustard, a level teaspoon of salt, a pinch of cayenne, ¼ cup melted butter. Mix well. Fill timbales or small dishes, or the scrubbed upper shell of the crab with the mixture, sift fine bread crumbs on top, dot with butter. Brown quickly in a hot oven.

CRAB RAREBIT—Make a white sauce by blending 2 tablespoons flour with 1 tablespoon melted ... er, add 2 cups cream, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon soda. Sprinkle with few grains pepper. To this hot sauce add 1 to 2 cups chopped canned crabmeat, and pour over buttered squares of toast on a hot platter. Sprinkle grated cheese over the top and garnish with sprigs of parsley. Serve piping hot.

IF the lady of the house is ingenious she can prepare many little savories from any leftover fish; and since fish is the order of the Lenten season she ought to have plenty of it in the refrigerator.

Remember that the fish canapé must be somewhat highly spiced to be at its most appetizing. And since the usual white fish is not highly flavored of itself it needs deft things done to it with cayenne or anchovies.

HERE is the usual recipe for a fish canapé. Cut up finely the remains of any white fish free from skin and bone. Mix it well with butter about the size of a walnut, a pinch of cayenne, a large spoonful of anchovy sauce or the same amount of tomato catsup. Spread on rounds of hot buttered toast and sprinkle the top of each crouton with chopped picked shrimp.

ANGELS ON HORSEBACK make a heavenly dish—you'd suspect they would from their name, of course. Roll each large and plump oyster in a slice of thinly cut bacon, sprinkle with lemon juice, add a dash of pepper and skewer them about six to a skewer. Put them under the grill for about five minutes, turning them constantly. Serve each oyster on a separate crouton. If you spice the oysters highly and make them very hot with a pinch of curry powder, they lose their gentle names and become Devils on Horseback.

SAUSAGES WITH PEAS. Expecting company for lunch? Then I suggest for the main dish sausages with peas. Cut 8 pork sausages into pieces about 1 inch long and brown them in the frying pan. When well browned remove from the pan, pour off all the fat except 1 tablespoon, add to it a tablespoon of flour, and when browned add a ½ cup of water. When the sauce is thick put in the pieces of sausage, a half cup of peas and 4 beaten eggs. Pour into a baking dish, set this in hot water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until the eggs are set.

BAKED NOODLE RING AND HAM A LA KING. Cook noodles in boiling salted water, drain and arrange a layer of noodles in a buttered ring mold. Season with salt and pepper and cover with cheese. Continue until the mold is filled and then bake in a moderate oven until firm, about 30 minutes. Turn out on a platter and fill the center with ham a la king and garnish with slices of fried apples, bits of parsley and stuffed olives.

EAST INDIA SALAD. Work 2 large cream cheeses until smooth. Moisten with milk and cream, using equal parts. Add ½ cup grated American cheese, 1 cup whipped cream and ¼ tablespoon granulated gelatine soaked in 1 tablespoon cold water and dissolved in 1 tablespoon hot water. Season highly with salt and paprika and turn into a buttered mold. Chill, remove from the mold, arrange on lettuce leaves, fill center with lettuce leaves or shredded lettuce and serve with curry dressing. Make as French dressing, using ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon curry powder, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 5 tablespoons oil and 3 tablespoons vinegar.

MUSHROOMS IN SPAGHETTI RING. Cook ½ pound spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and add to the drained spaghetti. Season with salt, pepper and a few grains paprika, mix and put into a buttered ring mold. Set the mold where it will keep hot. Simmer ½ pound mushrooms with 1 tablespoon butter for 20 minutes. Add ½ cup cream thickened with a little flour. Turn the spaghetti ring out on a serving plate and fill the center with the mushrooms.

CHEESE SURPRISE ON TOAST. Cook 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers and 1½ tablespoons chopped onion in 1 tablespoon butter for 3 minutes. Stir constantly. Add ½ cup drained tomato pulp and cook 5 minutes longer. Add ¾ pound mild cheese cut in small pieces, and season with ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and a dash of cayenne. Cook over hot water until the cheese is melted. Add 1 egg slightly beaten, and 2 tablespoons milk. Serve on slices of toast.

Don't yawn at your breakfast

Away with monotony—serve this modern pancake!

When breakfast becomes a bore, it's time to do something. Breakfast is an important meal, because it influences our spirits. Breakfast should never be monotonous. It should be more than good food—it should be interesting food. For instance, take pancakes—the modern kind of pancakes, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. There's something that brings a sparkle to the eye. A breakfast that is more than mere nourishment. A meal that's an occasion—a happy combination of good food with good cheer. Serve them tomorrow morning—notice the new atmosphere of zest and eagerness at the table—the real test of a perfect breakfast!

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. It means every-day health to people all over the world. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A Remarkable, New Curtain Dye Is Now Ready For American Women

A Swiss discovery that enables any housewife to dye the finest curtains easily and safely... and with professional results

Try today
Results Guaranteed

Modern science has at last developed a totally new-type dye that makes it actually as easy and safe to dye curtains at home as it is to launder them. No skill is required. There is absolutely no muss. Only a few minutes time is needed. Yet results are equal to any professional dyer.

Many women have already had unbelievably beautiful results. If you have any faded curtains in your home, we urge you to see the wonderful change this new dye will make in them. Results are fully guaranteed.

What It Is

Perfected by Fred W. Welti, renowned Swiss chemist, who is responsible for the famous Gypsy Liquid Dyes, this new discovery is different in compound and results from any old-fashioned dyes you have ever used.

It comes in the form of a finely ground powder that dissolves instantly boiling water is poured on it. No time is lost. No straining is necessary.

And because the powder dissolves so completely there is no danger of ugly spots, caused when dye granules fail to dissolve and touch the fabric.

That is why this dye is so amazingly simple and safe to use. Why it transforms faded curtains into fresh, new-looking hangings. Why it is vastly superior to all other dyes.

Try Today

You can get Gypsy Ecru Curtain Dye at your drug or department store. Accept no substitute if you want a true Ecru shade and beautiful results. 15c the package, 2 packages for 25c. Try today. You risk nothing. Results are guaranteed, or your money back. Gypsy Dyes, Inc., Chicago, Ill.

Elements in Carrots Are Valuable to Human System

The vitamins in the root vegetables, like carrots, squash and turnips, will do much toward building and maintaining a healthy body.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

SOME foods essential to good health unfortunately are consumed in too small quantities. The homely vegetables are what I have in mind. All the yellow vegetables, like carrots, squash, turnips and pumpkin, have certain qualities that make them of peculiar value to human being. These root vegetables contain vital seed germs which are capable of growing new plants. The life energy is here.

The plants of such vegetables find in their own substance a food supply upon which they depend until they can develop the root system and leaves. The "tuber" or root, like the carrot root, contains this essential supply. This concentrated food is just as good for us as it is to the plant. It is the part we should use for food.

We find in it those essential vitamins which give us growth and vitality. Here, too, are the minerals for the bones. Carrots are particularly rich in iron. The sugars and starches of carrots are valuable to the human system.

YOUNG CARROTS BEST

Tender young carrots are the best to use for the table. They should be cooked in as little water as possible, as they usually lose about 30 per cent of the valuable elements in the water poured from the vegetable after cooking. On this account, to cook them by steaming is an ideal way. Their delicate flavor is kept by this method of cooking. In fact many vegetables are better steamed than boiled.

Too many of us neglect the root vegetables as well as the leafy vegetables. This is a great mistake. The leafy vegetables supplement the root vegetables, and the heavy meal of the day should include both.

Children should be taught when young to like these root vegetables along with the leafy ones. Many times children will get notions about disliking the smell of these homely vegetables, or the taste may seem unpleasant. These dislikes may be overcome by persistence and persuasion as to the real merits of taking them.

WAYS OF SERVING

There are many ways of serving carrots which appeal to the appetite. Creamed carrots, with a bit of parsley, may be made to look most inviting. Buttered steamed carrots are excellent.

Carrots and peas combined together make the carbohydrate content soar. You will need to cut down on the amount of potatoes you eat with them.

Combined with crisp, chopped apple, raw carrots scraped and served on lettuce, makes a most wholesome and nutritious salad. The vitamins in young, raw carrots are present more abundantly than in older, cook carrots.

In early spring months, it is better to discontinue the heavier meals of winter for lighter meals containing vegetables of all kinds. You can get carrots the year round, and people are coming to realize their importance, as the large sale of them attests.

Everything that a man is, or hopes to be, depends upon the right food. You cannot have good health without plenty of vegetables, and the carrot is one of the best.

MEDICAL LIQUOR CURB DENIED

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP.) Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York's Democratic Senator, received official assurance that there would be no move for tightening restrictions on the use of medicinal liquor by doctors and hospitals.

Stirred by protests from doctors, Copeland conferred with Prohibition Administrator Doran.

It was understood at the Capitol that a proposal to restrict further the use of liquor by doctors and by hospitals in their practice was put up to Doran, and that it is now in the hands of high officials of the Justice Department.

"I am satisfied," Copeland added, "there is no intention at present to tighten the regulations."

2 eggs. Stir in 2 tablespoons melted butter, and pour the mixture into a well buttered baking dish. Bake in a hot oven about 40 minutes. Serve hot.

MAMMY'S FRUIT ROLL—Sift 2 cupfuls of flour, ¾ teaspoonful of salt, 4 teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Rub in 2 tablespoonfuls of shortening. Mix to light dough with ¾ cupful of milk. Roll ¼ inch thick. Brush with 1 tablespoonful of melted butter and sprinkle with mixture of 2 cupfuls of apples pared and sliced fine, ¼ cupful of sugar, 1 teaspoonful of seeded raisins, 1 tablespoonful cinnamon. Roll like jelly roll. Moisten edges and pinch together (one slightly larger than the roll is best) and cover with mixture of ¾ cupful of molasses, 1 cupful of water, 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, ¼ teaspoonful of nutmeg. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 35 to 40 minutes. Baste frequently. Serve with cream.

PEACH CAKE—Sift 2 cupfuls of flour with 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, ½ teaspoonful of salt, ¼ cupful of sugar. Mix 1 beaten egg with 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter (not too hot); add ½ cupful of molasses and ½ cupful of sweet milk. Gradually add molasses mixture to dry mixture, stirring gently until batter is smooth. Add 1 teaspoonful vanilla and scant ½ teaspoonful of almond extract. Spread in pan. Arrange sliced canned peaches on top, pressing slightly into dough. Sprinkle with 3 teaspoonfuls of granulated sugar mixed with ½ teaspoonful of cinnamon. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) Serve hot with cream or pudding sauce.

MARSHMALLOW COTTAGE PUDDING—Work ¼ cup butter and ½ cup sugar together until soft and creamy. Beat in 1 egg, then add ½ cup milk. Sift together 1½ cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and add to the first mixture. Beat until smooth; stir in 1 cup of berries, well drained or fresh, or ½ cup raisins, chopped dates or figs. Pour into a well greased shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from the oven and place marshmallows close together over the top. Let stand for 5 minutes in a warm oven, then cut in squares and serve hot with a fruit sauce.

FIG ECLAIRS—Cream a scant ½ cup butter, add 1 cup sugar and cream well. Sift 1⅞ cup flour with 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Mix with the first mixture alternately with ½ cup milk and a teaspoon vanilla. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of 4 eggs. Bake in shallow pans. Put the layers together with fig filling and cut in eclair strips. Top with confectioners' sugar. Make fig filling by mixing ½ pound finely chopped figs, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup water, a tablespoon lemon juice and boil in the double boiler until thick. Spread while hot.

MOULDER WINS ART HONORS

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 4.—(AP.)—A Scottish iron moulder has startled Glasgow art circles by running away with the honors at the Socialist Art Exhibition with his plaster statue called "The Runner," which he made in spare time.

A number of well-known artists and sculptors who were unaware of the artist's identity, declared that "The Runner" must be the work of a great foreign artist who was making his first appearance in Scotland.

John Longden, the laborer sculptor, has spent all his life moulding iron and never attended an art school. The idea for his statue was suggested by a clipping from a newspaper and he began working it out in his back yard. It took two years to finish it.

Critics are unanimous in praise of the figure, which is life-size and portrays a runner in full pace.

Man Awarded $1,500 In Assault Suit

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 4.—A Columbiana County Common Pleas Court jury today returned a $1,500 verdict in the $5,000 damage action filed at Lisbon by Arthur J. Green against Donald Powell, as an aftermath of an argument and fight over a horseshoe game here last July 25. Green alleged Powell assaulted him.

BORDER LIQUOR WAR DEBATED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 4.—(AP.)—A reported shooting affray in the Detroit River between a rum runner from the Canadian side and a United States Coast Guard boat, in which a Coast Guardsman was reported to have been wounded, was called to the attention of the Senate by Sir George Foster, Senator from Ottawa.

Quoting a news dispatch from Windsor, which said that after the shooting the rum runners returned to the Canadian side, Sir George asked if Canada was bound to afford harborage to rum-laden vessels which lay in wait to attack officers of another country.

Requesting the government to procure information as to the authenticity of the report, he declared that if the rum runners did not hold Canadian certificates of clearance, action should be taken against them.

Senator Dandurand, government leader, said he would try to get the information.

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Greenfield's Early Fall. Indifference Is Costly. Mostil Coming Back. | Severe Blow to Cubs. Will Miss Hornsby. Gagnon Won't Go Far.

RIGHT SPIRIT MUST BACK ABILITY

THAT a wealth of native ability counts for little in baseball, as in any other line of work, unless it is backed up by the right spirit and a strict attention to business, has been demonstrated again in the case of Kent Greenfield, former pitcher for the Giants, Braves and Dodgers. That hurler has been released by Brooklyn to the Fort Worth club of the Texas League, whereas if he had taken baseball with the proper degree of seriousness he probably would have been good for many years of service in the majors.

Kent Greenfield

Greenfield is not yet 26 years old, but after only four complete seasons in the upper set his career in the big leagues, where salaries are highest, appears to be ended. Not because he did not possess the necessary stuff to hold down a job there for a great while longer. On the contrary, he had everything of a mechanical nature that was needed to make him a great pitcher. But he could not or would not apply himself seriously to his work, nor show a proper regard for the training rules, so the result is, as in many similar cases in the past, he goes back to the sticks and small pay with a poor chance of ever coming up again.

AS a matter of fact, even the Fort Worth club refused to gamble on the possibility of his being serviceable, and instead of paying for him outright consented to take him only on 30 days' trial. The purchase price is not to be paid in full unless his work is still satisfactory at the end of that period.

Three National League clubs tried vainly to make Greenfield stick to the business of pitching. New York, Boston and Brooklyn discarded him in turn. Several others would have been glad to get him a couple of years back, and one of them was Pittsburgh. The Pirate management made an unsuccessful attempt to swing a deal for him in 1927. This week, no club in either of the major circuits hesitated to waive on him.

FROM present indications, Johnny Mostil, discarded White Sox outfielder, may safely be added to the list of former American League players who will be seen in the National League this year, a list that already includes Lil Stoner, Harry Heilmann, Bob Meusel, Herb Pruett, Johnny Neun, Russell Rollings, Archie Campbell and Al Shealy.

The Giants obtained Mostil from Toledo after he had been released to that club by the Sox, but John McGraw's failure to use him in the early practice games created the impression that the player had failed to measure up to expectations and would be sent back to the minors before the opening of the season.

Johnny Mostil

RECENT developments, however, have changed the complexion of things in Mostil's case. It seems that McGraw's idea in keeping him out was to let him get into condition slowly in his own way and thus avoid putting a strain too soon upon Johnny's right leg, which was broken last June. When he was finally given his first chance to start a game in center field at Shreveport this week, Mostil's work was brilliant. He clouted the first ball pitched to him over the fence, drove in three other runs later, made some good catches, threw well, and gave evidence that his doubtful leg was in pretty good shape again by showing a burst of speed on the bases.

SO Eddie Roush's failure to sign a Giant contract may have opened the way for Mostil to win a National League job, for the early part of the season at least, and one of McGraw's two spring problems (the other is second base) may have been solved. Chick Fullis also is a candidate for the vacant post on the picket line, but Mostil has the advantage of wide experience and greater hitting power.

Mostil is running without a sign of a limp, according to reports, and though there is no assurance yet that the leg broken in 1929 will hold out over a long stretch, McGraw apparently is willing to take a chance, and he says it is a matter of less concern to him than ever whether Roush reports or not.

THE Pirates are not alone in their spring misfortune or in the gloomy prospect that they may be forced to start the regular season one week from next Tuesday without having their full strength on the field.

Rogers Hornsby

The fates have also dealt a severe blow to the Cubs, if the condition of Rogers Hornsby's ailing right foot is as serious as reported. News dispatches from Los Angeles say that Hornsby will be out of commission for the first six weeks of the pennant campaign.

IF the services of the star hitter are lost for that length of time, the Bruins will be sorely handicapped in their efforts to get a flying start toward another National League flag. Hornsby isn't the greatest fielding second baseman in creation, and he was rather a bust even as a batter in the 1929 world series, with an average of only .227, but there is no discounting the part he played in helping the Cubs to win the pennant last year. He was in every one of his club's games, 156, led both major loops in runs scored with 156, a new modern National League record, was the leading slugger of his circuit for the second year in succession with a total of 410 bases and an average of .681, batted .380 and knocked in 149 runs, this last mark being beaten only by Hack Wilson and Melvin Ott.

BUT for the aid of Hornsby's batting and run-getting, therefore, Chicago hardly would have finished on top. No club is so strong that it could lose the services of such a player for an extended period without being handicapped, and it will take a lot out of the Cubs if Rogers is on the sidelines for six weeks.

It has been an usual spring for casualties among prominent players. Among others who have been laid up with injuries or illness are Pie Traynor, Lloyd Waner, Dick Bartell, Fred Brickell, Adam Comorosky, Babe Ruth, George Susce, Al Simmons, Lew Fonseca, Del Bissonette, Jim Moore, Jim Keesey, Bob Smith, Garland Braxton, Carl Reynolds, Owen Carroll, Freddie Lindstrom, Joe Genewich, Benny Bengough, Bubbles Hargrave, Hughey Critz, Lester Bell, Charley Dressen and Johnny Gooch.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 4.—(AP.)—Glenna Collett, national champion, and Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., star, stroked their way to the final today in the North and South Women's golf tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 4.—Miss Glenna Collett, national champion, was leading Miss Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J., 1 up, at the turn today in their semi-final match in the annual North and South women's golf tournament here.

Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L. I., and Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., playing in a semi-final match, were all square at the end of the first nine.

Miss Collett's medal score for the nine was 39, compared to a 40 for Miss Orcutt. The national champion was 2 up at the end of the seventh, but on the eighth her second shot dropped into a bunker and she took a 6 to Miss Orcutt's par 4. They halved the ninth in 5s.

Both Miss Quier and Miss Hicks had medal scores of 40 for the nine holes. Miss Quier was 2 down at the end of the seventh, but took the eighth and ninth holes to square the match.

CHICAGO SEEKS GAGNON BOUT

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Sailor Jack Gagnon, French-Canadian heavyweight from Boston, stands to make himself around $25,000 for meeting Jerry (Tuffy) Griffiths, of Sioux City, Ia., and Chicago, in the Chicago Stadium, April 30, all because Chicago fight fans refuse to believe his technical knockout of Tuffy at Philadelphia last Monday wasn't an accident.

Gagnon was not a high-priced attraction before his victory over Griffiths, but when matchmaker Nate Lewis, of the Stadium, tried to sign him up for a return match with Griffiths, the Boston puncher demanded a guarantee of $20,000.

The Stadium has changed its policy and no longer gives guarantees, but the bout stacks up as a great natural for Chicago, and Lewis offered Gagnon 20 per cent of the gate, which, in case of a sell-out at $4.99 tops, would amount to about $20,000. Gagnon, or whoever handles his business, apparently was not so certain of a sell-out, and Lewis finally was authorized by the Stadium directors to make it 30 per cent.

Homewood-Brushton Y Five Is Beaten

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 4.—Second-round games in the fourth annual independent amateur floor tourney got under way here last night. The Lees Restaurants of Charleroi, walloped the East End Tigers of Canonsburg, 34 to 20.

In the senior division the Logan Lumbers of New Kensington, defeated the Homewood-Brushton Y. M. C. A. quintet, 18 to 16.

Gentile Billiards of Waynesburg defeated the Tarentum Elks, 26 to 19.

The Monty A. C. of Leetsdale, playing its first game, defeated the Canonsburg Cardinals in a second-round senior division tilt, 21 to 12. The Connellsville University Five Junior Club defeated the Delcas Construction Company Five of Charleroi, 33 to 14.

The Homewood-Brushton Reserves defeated the Brownsville Longs, 17 to 8, in the intermediate division. The Columbia Gas Five of Youngstown, O., took a walloping from the Fleming Sandwich Shop quintet of East Liverpool, O., losing 18 to 13.

STILL IN DIXIE, April 4.—Babe Ruth is nursing a split finger and I hope it isn't on Babe's writing hand. When you are writing for a living and playing ball on the side you have to be careful of your salary digits. Us authors are very fragile. Take me for instance. I can't compose these dispatches if I even have a hangnail, and a hangover is much worse. Why last week in Chattanooga I contracted a sore thumb and I had to get a stenographer to mark my Literary Digest straw ballot. So us writers have to be careful. You'll notice Coolidge quit shaking hands with everybody when he started getting 82 a word.

Balduc Is Victor Over Eddie Reed

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Georgie Balduc, French-Canadian, of New York, defeated Eddie Reed, local Negro, in an eight-round windup at the New Broadway A. C. last night. Balduc weighed 134½ and Reed scaled 131¾. Danny Taub, 124¾, local youngster, scored his twenty-second victory in the semi-final, a six-rounder, defeating Tony Margano, 123, another resident fledgling, who boasted 20 wins without reverse previous to last night's encounter.

PLAYOFF CARDED

BUTLER, Pa., April 4.—The Armco and Valvolines won the first and second half championship of the Butler City Basketball League here last night and will meet in a three-game series for the championship of the loop next week. The first game will go on Monday.

Believe It Or Not By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Robert L. Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY—THE FIRST AIRMAIL—On November 7, 1836, a balloon manned by three Britons crossed the North Sea Channel from England and landed at Weilburg, Germany. They carried with them a letter addressed to King William I. of Holland, by J. W. May, King's Councillor-General. The letter was duly forwarded to The Hague, and, upon the King's orders, it was preserved in the Royal Dutch Archives as the first letter sent by International airmail. During the siege of Paris and in 1870 the besieged Parisians communicated with the outside world by airmail. FRAU GUSTA KEPT HER MOUTH FULL OF WATER FOR A WEEK—In 1917, Frau Gusta Wasserlauf, the wife of an innkeeper in one of the Hamburg suburbs, was arraigned in a Hamburg court charged with excessive cruelty to, and habitual nagging of, her husband. She won the Magistrate's clemency when she related her curious penitence to the court. Her husband and witnesses corroborated her statement. This bizarre cure was discussed editorially in many German newspapers at the time. A HUMAN BEING TAKEN IN PAYMENT FOR A COLLEGE—In 1857, to recover a balance of about $1,100 which Mars Hills College owed Clayton and Shakleford, building contractors, of Ashville, N. C., the builders levied on John Anderson, a Negro slave belonging to the Chairman of the Board of the College. The Act of Emancipation terminated a condition under which a human being could be legally levied on like a chattel.

TOMORROW—A MEANINGLESS WORD.

LYCEUMS CLASH FOR TITLE

St. Joseph's Lyceum, of Mt. Oliver, will meet St. John's Lyceum, of the South Side, tonight in the third and final battle of a series to settle the South Side Catholic Lyceum League championship. The deciding battle is scheduled at Duquesne University and should attract a large crowd judging from the interest shown in the contest.

St. Joseph's won the first half championship, while St. John's was the winner in the second half.

In the present post-season series, St. John's defeated St. Joseph's on the latter's floor in Mt. Oliver, while St. Joseph's evened the count by winning the second, played in the Thirteenth Street Turner Hall.

In the preliminary game, starting at 7:30, the reserve teams representing St. Joseph's and St. John's Lyceum will furnish the fireworks.

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie quint captured the C. & I. League title last night by defeating Real Estate, 29 to 24, in the South Side Market House.

Playing at Petrolia, the Hyatt Collegians swamped the home club, 85 to 35. Sales and Service won its game with West Penn Power, 31 to 30. The lineups:

Real Estate—24.	F.	P. & L. E.—29
Bantley	F	Schuchman
Renkin	F	Black

Local Water Poloists Enter Chicago Meet

The Homestead Library Club water polo team will leave this evening for Chicago, where it will compete in the National water polo championships. The games will take place at the Illinois Athletic Club pool next Monday and Tuesday.

Last Friday, at Duquesne, the local team took over the Duquesne Library team in easy fashion.

Four high school boys will make the trip, including Lindberg and Lebedda, of Munhall, and Vallowe and Adlersberg, of Homestead high school. Others on the squad are Laughlin, Al and John Martin, Albert Muha, Sam Smith, Ray Schaltenbrand and Lu Marks.

Traynor May Play In Opening Battle

Pie Traynor, captain and star third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who returned here Wednesday night to undergo treatment for iritis, may be in shape to play in the opening game at Cincinnati a week from next Tuesday, according to Dr. Stanley Smith, local eye specialist, who is treating the local favorite.

"Traynor received excellent treatment before he came to see me and there is a possibility that he will be in shape to play in the opener," Dr. Smith said.

PROS, 'AMS' BOX TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Local boxing fans have a professional and an amateur boxing show to choose between tonight, as the Moose Temple Club stages its weekly show in its downtown quarters and a card of eight amateur battles is listed for Duquesne Garden to raise funds to send the local amateur champions to Boston for the National senior championships beginning Monday night.

Andy Andrucci

Phil Goldstein and Andy Andrucci, local lightweights, whose rivalry dates back to their days in the amateur ranks, when they met three times, with Goldstein the winner each time, furnish the windup action at the Moose Temple. It will be Phil's first start in five months and he will go to the post for the first time under the new direction of Jimmy Dunn, of Cleveland, who has been personally supervising his training at Flynn's gym for the battle.

Tommy Ward, of the South Side, and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, meet again in the semi-final. A couple of weeks ago, at Duquesne Garden, Ward upset the dope by copping a decision over Dominick in a hard-fought bout. Jimmy Perry, of Alliance, O., makes his local debut in the second bout, against Mickey Hart, of New Kensington, and Roy Ryan, brother of Bricky Ryan, meets Al Farone in the six-round opener.

BUSY BOXING NIGHT

The amateur show at Duquesne Garden will get under way promptly at 8 o'clock. The tentative card follows:

S. Senich vs. Jimmy Giannatti, Jackie Peters vs. Joe Shell, Clair Repole vs. Ray Jarres, A. Kosel vs. Ray Barker, Jack McGahan vs. Andy Tortorice, Paul Monar vs. Lawrence Lyons, Pat Powers vs. Bobby Barnes and Mike Lynch vs. Mike Chomyak.

Boxing shows also are scheduled tonight at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, where the Pennsylvania Railroad System boxing and wrestling titles will be decided; at Franklin, Pa., where Howard Mayberry vs. Frisco Grande, 10 rounds; Allie Beatty vs. Benny Burns, 8 rounds, and Tommy Heilmann vs. Chip Walther, 8 rounds, Franklin, Pa.

Joe Glick vs. Jack (Kid) Berg, Ben John vs. Vince Dundee and Joey Medill vs. Gaston Lefondre, 10 rounds each; Freddie Anderson vs. Al Hauer, 6 rounds, and Harry Vigna vs. Ben Kember, 4 rounds, Madison Square Garden, New York.

Fidel LaBarba vs. Tommy Paul and Frankie Schmidt vs. Jack Gibbs, 10 rounds each, Buffalo.

Frankie Hayes vs. Joe Marsters and Mac Fisher vs. Johnny Hayes, 10 rounds each, Scranton, Pa.

Mike Mandell vs. Ralph Alexander, 10 rounds, Waterbury, Ct.

Freddie Fitzgerald vs. Al Ross and Ray Collins vs. Jimmy Reed, 10 rounds each, Erie, Pa.

Andy DiVoli vs. Madison Ots, 10 rounds, San Francisco.

Steve Reichel vs. Milton Sample, 8 rounds, Pittsfield, Mass.

Ramon Montoya vs. Santiago Zorilla, 10 rounds, San Diego, Cal.

Nick Palmer vs. Eddie (Kid) Whalen, 12 rounds, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Tony Tedesco vs. Tommy Donahue and Tom Gleason vs. Jimmy Kennedy, 8 rounds each, Norristown, Pa.

Boxing Bouts Carded For Tonight

Phil Goldstein vs. Andy Andrucci, 10 rounds, and Dominick Profio vs. Tommy Ward, Jimmy Perry vs. Mickey Hart and Roy Ryan vs. Al Farone, 6 rounds each, Moose Temple.

Benefit amateur show to raise funds to send Pittsburgh team to National A. A. U. championships next week, Duquesne Garden.

P. R. R. System boxing and wrestling eliminations, Jolly Bowl, New Castle, Pa.

Howard Mayberry vs. Frisco Grande, 10 rounds; Allie Beatty vs. Benny Burns, 8 rounds, and Tommy Heilmann vs. Chip Walther, 8 rounds, Franklin, Pa.

HURLER SENT BACK TO WICHITA

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 4.—Coincident with the game today at Harlingen between Wichita and the Pirate second team, officials of the Pittsburgh Club announced that Pitcher Herbert Sanders was returned to the Wichita team under the terms of an agreement between the two clubs.

Herb Sanders

Sanders, a star right-hander with Wichita last year, reported to Manager Ens for a trial at the Paso Robles camp. He did not sign a Pirate contract, the stipulation being that in case he were retained, Pittsburgh owners were to pay Wichita a stated sum for his services.

Herb was quite impressive in the few chances he had to show in a Pittsburgh uniform, but owing to the plentitude of promising young hurlers, Manager Ens decided he did not need him. However, it would be a simple matter for Sanders to get back to the Pirates in the event of a run of good luck in the Western League. The relations between the Pittsburgh and Wichita Club are of such a friendly nature that the Pirates would have the first crack at Herb's contract.

SANDERS UNFORTUNATE

Sanders has been unfortunate in his diamond career. Typhoid fever slowed him down for several years. Some of the veterans of the Pittsburgh squad figured Herb to be the most impressive of the new crop of pitchers. The right-hander is 28 and he has had considerable experience both in the Pacific Coast and Western leagues.

Paul Waner was the only outstanding star of the crazy-quilt team scheduled to meet Wichita at Harlingen. The patched-up combination will be in charge of Outfielder Ira Flagstead, who also will play in the outfield. Due to the big injured list, Coach Oscar Stanage is listed as one of the catchers of the club. Al Bool is down to catch, but if a second receiver is needed, that person will be the former Tiger star. And don't think that Spinner cannot do the job. The veteran is in fine physical trim. Catcher Johnny O'Connell, of Verona, is the third sacker of the afternoon unless he runs in on a bunt and gets tagged with a liner. Ervin Brame will start on the mound in this sidelight contest.

Harlingen is about 250 miles south of Houston, the trip requiring a night's ride for the travelers. They left last night and will make the return journey tonight. Remy Kremer is all set to face Joe Schulta's Buffaloes this afternoon in second game of the series in the Big Houston Park.

SUHR IS STAR

Gussie Suhr's two smashing Pirate tallies, enabled the Pirates to trim the Buffaloes yesterday in the opening game, 8 to 7. Suhr twice socked the rocket out of the park by way of the faraway right-field wall. Gus found the range on the ramparts in the third round with Grantham on the runways, and he scored P. Waner and Clarke on his second circuit drive in the sixth.

The contest was the first in which a Pirate pitcher had traveled the entire route. Larry French started and finished the battle. Ray Lingrel, once a Quaker, toiled the nine rounds for the home team. French was not his regular self, but the batting of his mates, especially Suhr, pulled him through.

LES CANADIENS SIX COPS STANLEY CUP

BRUINS LOSE, 4-3, AS ICE SERIES ENDS

MONTREAL, April 4.—(AP.)—The Stanley Cup, professional hockey's most prized trophy, came back to the Dominion last night when Les Canadiens defeated the courageous and hard-fighting Boston Bruins by a 4-3 score. This victory was the Flying Frenchmen's second straight in the play-off for the world championship for they shut out the Bruins by a 3-0 in Boston on Tuesday night.

This defeat, the first the Bruins suffered in Canada this season, was not accepted until every member of the club had fought himself almost to the breaking point. The colorful Frenchmen, by playing their defensemen on the blue line, turned back almost every Boston drive for two periods during which they piled up a 4-1 lead.

Les Canadiens, who won the Stanley Cup back in 1925, advanced to the final round by eliminating the Chicago Blackhawks and New York Rangers in the preliminary play-offs.

Though minus the Stanley Cup, the Bruins will carry out their plans for an exhibition tour of British Columbia and California. They will depart for the West from this city tonight. The lineup:

Canadiens—4		Bruins—3
Hainsworth	G	Thompson
Burke	LD	Hindman
C. Mantha	RD	Shore
Morenz	C	Barry
Gagnon	LW	Galbraith
Lamoriello	RW	Oliver

Scores—Morenz, Wasson, Lamoriello, Lepine, McCaffrey, G. Mantha, G. Carbotte, Oliver, Weiland, Clapper, Galbraith, Owen, Mantha, W. Carbotte, Gagnon.

Officials—Hewitson and Matheson.

Scoring summary: First period: 1, Canadiens, McCaffrey (Lepine), 9:15; 2, Canadiens, Wasson (Lepine), 16:45. Penalties—Morenz, E. Galbraith, Oliver, Hindman. Second period: 3, Canadiens, G. Mantha (Wasson), 16:05. 4, Boston, Shore (unassisted), 16:50. 5, Les Canadiens, Morenz (Lamoriello), 17:50. Penalties—Barker, Lamoriello. Third period: 6, Boston, Galbraith (Oliver), 5:30. 7, Boston, Clapper (Weiland), 8:05. Penalties—Shore, Lamoriello, G. Mantha, Lepine.

CLEVELAND VICTOR

CLEVELAND, April 4.—(AP.)—The Cleveland Indians won the International League hockey championship here last night by defeating the Buffalo Bisons, 3 to 0, in the last of a four-game series. Last night's win made it three out of four for Cleveland.

Juniata 'Y' Loses In National Event

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Completion of first round games and the opening of the second round was on today's International Y. M. C. A. basketball schedule.

Two of the outstanding teams of the tournament were matched in the first of the second round contests today. They were Hamilton, O., which yesterday defeated Juniata, Pa., 35 to 19, and Vincennes, Ind., which eliminated Adams branch of Detroit, 26 to 21, from the championship struggle.

The only other second round game already scheduled was between Kansas City, 32-to-30 victor over Cambridge, Mass., and Portsmouth, O., which nipped Greenwich, Conn., 23 to 21.

Other victors yesterday and last night were Lincoln, Neb., which downed Northern branch, Detroit, 29 to 28; the defending champion, Buffalo, N. Y., which defeated Englewood, of Chicago, 29 to 22, and Montclair, N. J., 23-to-7 conqueror of Naperville, Ill.

PHILS RETURN HOME

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia Nationals returned home yesterday. They arrived ready for the start of the city championship with the Athletics Sunday.

Sport Vignettes

Jack Curley, dean of wrestling promoters, who ought to know, says George Hackenschmidt was the greatest wrestler of modern times, although he bowed to Frank Gotch . . . . He avers Gotch was a plodder, while Hack was a brilliant performer capable of rising to great heights . . . . Trained in the European school of Graeco-Roman wrestling, which bars holds below the waist, Hack's only weakness when pitted against American opponents lay in his failure to master the powerful leg holds to the extent of the leading exponents on this side of the Atlantic . . . . Curley rates Dick Shikat the best of the present-day grapplers and Gus Sonnenberg a laugh as a champion . . . . Next to Shikat he places Hans Steinke, another German product . . . . Strangler Lewis, Joe Stecher and Wladek Zbyszko, he says, have gone over the top . . . . Shikat was drawn into the German Navy at the age of 14 and when he returned home learned his father and mother had died, a brother had been killed in action and his sister, a nurse, had been killed during an air raid . . . . Shikat is recognized by many commissions, including that of this state, as the world champion, despite Sonnenberg's claims to that title . . . . Most of the wrestling matches are the bunk, and sometimes the few that are on the level appear that way . . . . For instance, according to Curley, there was the return match between Earl Caddock, the Man of a Thousand Holds, and Stecher . . . . Caddock had beaten Stecher in their first meeting and there was so much bad feeling between them that Caddock refused to permit Stecher to make any real money out of a return match . . . . They drew a $50,000 gate, of which Caddock received $22,000 and Stecher only $3,000 . . . . Caddock had been gassed in the World War and was far from himself and Stecher went in to play a waiting game, keeping in back of Earl until the latter tired . . . . Feeling his strength ebbing, Caddock sought to lure Joe into grips by verbally abusing him every time they got close . . . . Stecher finally won . . . . The next day, Frank Craven, the actor, and others, who were matsiders, swore it was one of those things . . . . "Why, Caddock was whispering to him in every clinch," they declared by way of proof . . . . Even Chicago referees count in the census . . . . The Anatomy Class now will dissect the case of the matador who was gored in the arena . . . . Ray Eberle, the fight announcer, who chucked that role to become matchmaker at the Junction Park Arena, New Brighton, has received permission to resume announcing in connection with that assignment and in the future will announce at his own shows and also for some of the other clubs in this section . . . . The fans will welcome him back . . . . His nickname, by the way, is Spike, and he formerly was a boxer . . . . Carl Shatto, of this department, seldom goes to see a show the first week it's in town . . . . He likes to give the cast a chance to become acquainted with the play before he gives it his critical inspection.—HARRY KECK.

berry, of Donora, boxes Frisco Grande, of Buffalo, in the main bout and Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, meets Benny Burns, of Akron, in the semi-final, and at Erie, Pa., where Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, boxes Al Reno, of Philadelphia, and Ray Collins, of Erie, meets Jimmy Reed, of Erie, in two 10-round bouts.

Between Rounds

Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, has been forced to quit training and will be out of the ring for another month or six weeks because of his injured heel.

Joe Trippe, Rochester (N. Y.) welterweight, also is laid up for repairs. He has been suffering from a couple of bad ribs since his last bout here with Sergt. Sammy Baker and had the hurts aggravated in a recent go with Joe Dundee, former welterweight champion.

Matchmaker Nate Lieff, of Duquesne Garden, is arranging a double window of two 10-round bouts for his opening show in the downstairs auditorium of Duquesne Garden next Wednesday night. He has Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, in the main bout with Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, who gave him an unexpectedly hard fight at the Moose Temple last season, and will match George Fabus, Homestead heavyweight stablemate of McTiernan, against a good opponent for the other long-distance bout.

The Motor Square Club is all set for its Arthur Bell-Jackie Rodgers show Monday night, and is awaiting the arrival of Bell tomorrow to finish his training in Flick's gym. The card was completed yesterday with Jimmy Belmont boxing Matty Mario of New York in the eight-round semi-final. George Breisch meeting Russell Powers of Youngstown in the second bout and Young Saporito boxing Jack Benton in the opener. For the following Monday night, the Garden has closed a 10-round windup between Vincent Hamberger, of Uniontown, and Sergt. Sammy Baker, of New York.

Belmont has been substituted for the elaborate Young Rudy against Mario, because it is understood Mario will enter the ring scaling around 150 pounds and Rudy weighs only 140-142.

The P. A. A. will stage its final amateur boxing show of the season on April 16. Eight bouts are planned.

A 10-round card has been arranged for the benefit show to be held in Baltimore next Monday night to raise funds for the families of Kid Williams, former bantam weight champion, and Bobby Garcia, former featherweight star, both of whom are desperate. Phil Raymond, of Baltimore, will box Tommy Liberto, of York, Pa., in the eight-round main bout, and the following will meet in six-rounders: Benny Goldstein vs. Al Martin, Joe Pinkston vs. Pete Berry, Lew Raymond vs. Sailor McKenna, Louis Guglielmini vs. Angelo Mesca, Jimmy Tramberia vs. Lawrence Gunn, Clarence Sloat vs. Sammy Hogan and Tommy Brown vs. Vince Gardina.

SCHOOL SWIM FINAL TESTS CARDED TODAY

The junior and senior city high school swimming championship final round will be staged this afternoon in the Fifth Avenue High School pool. Yesterday the semi-finals were held, with the winner and second place men in each class winning the right to compete today.

Only one final was decided yesterday, Faust, of Oliver, copping the junior diving championship, Stevenson, of Gladstone, ranked second. Yesterday's summary:

Junior Medley—First heat, Padavic, Fifth Avenue; first, Moore, Langley; second, Clifford Latimer, first; Martin, South; second, Faust, Oliver; first, Reed, Allderdice; second, South heat, Hutchinson, Schenley; first, Keys, Langley; second.

THE SECRET IS IN THE BLEND

You'll find no fancy trimmings to El Producto—just quality tobaccos blended to give a mild, distinctive and unchanging character—and made into generous sizes that most smokers appreciate.

That blend is the secret of El Producto's popularity—it's a blend that cannot be duplicated and, what's more, never varies.

And that is one reason why El Producto is a big favorite in every size—be it 10c, 2 for 25c, or 3 for 50c.

The Right Hon.

The Earl of Kinnoul

Balhousie Castle—PERTH

Member of the House of Lords

IN selecting Styles for HIS MAJESTY THE AMERICAN CITIZEN we went to HIS LORDSHIP THE EARL OF KINNOUL.

He is a real, live honest-to-goodness English Earl who lives in his Town House in London while Parliament is in session and spends his week-ends and holidays in his castle in Scotland. The Earl of Kinnoul is a man of wealth and social position and is recognized today as one of the best dressed men in the House of Lords.

It isn't sufficient to send a man to England to look at the shoes in the London shop windows and pick out the Style he personally likes best. If it were possible, you would like to have the Earl of Kinnoul go shopping with you and show you the Styles that his friends are wearing, and ask him to pick out the Styles that he would select for himself.

And that is just what we did.

We couldn't ask the Earl to spend the time to personally interview every Custom Bootmaker in London, but we actually bought 25 of the most popular models from the best known bootmakers in London and asked the Earl of Kinnoul to drop in and look them over.

This collection of shoes represented a big variety of Styles in different patterns and leathers, and after carefully examining every shoe, the Earl had no hesitation in finally selecting this new Semi-Brogue Brown Willow Calf by Bunting of Dover Street.

We paid 6 guineas ($30.24) for Bunting's original hand made model, and we placed an order for 44 pairs so that we could actually show you today, side by side, one of Bunting's ($30.24) Originals with the ($6.60) Regal Reproduction in every Regal Store.

The Upper Leather in Bunting's Original is an Imported Brown Willow Calf tanned in Oisterwyk, Holland, and we are using exactly the same tannage in the Regal Reproduction.

Last, Leather, Pattern, Design and every Style Detail is exactly the same. We want you to compare the two shoes—George W. Bunting's original English hand-made ($30.24) model selected by the Earl of Kinnoul, and the Regal Reproduction made in our own factory and sold in our own stores for $6.60.

SHANNOPIN WOMEN'S DATE SET

ONE-DAY GOLF EVENT SLATED FOR JUNE 19

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

At least one of the women's one-day golf tournaments has been set for this season. The Shannopin Country Club, up on Ben Avon Heights, will be host to district linkswomen on Thursday, June 19, according to the schedule set forth at this time.

Last year there was some mix-up in dates, and when the Shannopin event was played, the field was cut considerably due to the fact that another tourney was being played at another club on the same day.

Shannopin officials are hoping there will be no recurrence this year.

It would not be surprising if Shannopin would make a bid this year for the Western Pennsylvania championships, and if it does, it will be given real consideration. The last West Penn event of sectional importance played at Shannopin was the West Penn junior, two years ago, when Denny St. Clair copped the title from Fred Brand, Jr.

Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang has said that if the weather permits and the links are in shape, the Schenley Park municipal course may be opened to the public—the permit-holding public—April 20, or thereabouts. It will be a happy Eastertide for a lot of folks if it comes to pass, and present weather indications prove it a likelihood.

Joe Sexton and Jimmy Kelly, the Oakland duo, are getting things set "just right" for Oakmont Country Club members as the season opening nears.

Wagner Names McGraw Pilot of All-Time Nine

Babe Ruth is the only present day player awarded recognition on the "all-time all-America" baseball team named by Honus Wagner, former Pittsburgh Pirate star, in the current issue of Collier's Weekly. Wagner's selections are:

Pitcher—Mathewson.
Catcher—Johnny Kling.
First Base—Hal Chase.
Second Base—Larry Lajoie.
Shortstop—Joe Tinker.
Third Base—Jimmy Collins.
Leftfield—Fred Clarke.
Centerfield—Ty Cobb.
Rightfield—Babe Ruth.

"For manager of that team I'd nominate John McGraw, a hard man, but a just man, who always protected his players," said Wagner, "and the ideal umpires for the all-America team would be Bob Emslie and Bill Klem."

Lott and Doeg Extended to Win

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—(AP)—George Lott of Chicago and Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., were extended here yesterday to win from Arthur Waters and Charles Granger, both of New Orleans, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, in the New Orleans Country Club's invitation tennis tournament. Other doubles results were:

Doeg and Lott defeated Hume and Ed Sutter, both of New Orleans, 6-2, 6-2.

John Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., and Don and Cram, Nashville, Tenn., defeated Fred Boggs, Newark, N. J., and Marcel Rainville, of Canada, 6-3, 6-1.

Cliff Sutter and Maurice Baton, both of New Orleans, defeated Hackett and Abrahamson, both of Baton Rouge, 6-0, 6-0.

Van Ryn defeated Boggs 6-4, 6-4, in the only singles match.

OPEN TENNIS PROPOSAL REJECTED

PARIS, April 4.—(AP.)—Despite agitation, not much hope is held out for any future lifting of the International Tennis Federation's ban on open tournaments. The United States and England alone voted in favor of allowing amateurs to compete with professionals at the Federation Assembly, which overwhelmingly rejected the American proposal.

The 20 nations recorded in opposition are Germany, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Spain, France, Holland, Hungary, India, Italy, Monaco, New Zealand, Poland, South Africa, Switzerland, Jugoslavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

France was conspicuous in opposition, but the actual fight against the American proposal was led by Chevalier Paul De Borman, president of the Belgian Tennis Federation. The Belgian president, former Davis cup player himself, argued that if the motion were put through, "tennis matches would become spectacles analogous to prize-fighting shows."

M. De Borman thought and said that the work of tennis professionals should be confined to teaching the game to amateurs. To permit open tennis tournaments would sound the death knell of ameteur tennis, he asserted.

For the French, M. Pierre Gyllou, captain of the French Davis Cup team, confined himself to indorsing the views of Chevalier De Borman.

The delegates of Australia and New Zealand, although previously instructed to vote for open championships, refrained from voting as a result of the Chevalier's address.

Spectator Saves Natator Stricken With Cramps

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Tom Blankenburg, representing the Hollywood, Cal., athletic club, who barely qualified for the final of his event, last night became A. A. U. indoor 220-yard breast stroke swimming champion. He conquered the field in 2:52 3-5.

F. Rae, another New York A. C. qualifier, was stricken with cramps while making the last turn almost even with the leaders, and was pulled out by a spectator who dived fully clothed, into the pool.

The Chicago Athletic Association 400-yard relay team of Art Highland, Merton Wilcox, Paul Corbett and Ralph Breyer, equaled the world record, to beat out the New York A. C. team in 3:39 1-5.

Harold (Dutch) Smith, of the Los Angeles A. C., accounted for another upset in winning the low board fancy diving crown from his teammate, Mickey Reilley, the defending champion.

LINSLY LOSES TO CORINTH FIVE, 35-25

TODAY'S SCORES.
CONSOLATION.

Quincy, Mass., 26—Mt. Carmel, Chic., 24.

CHICAGO, April 4.—(AP.)—Linsly Institute of Wheeling, W. Va., fell before Corinth High School, from the neighboring state of Kentucky, last night in the third round of the National prep basketball championship tournament. The score was 35 to 25.

Linsly scored 10 points in the first quarter to five for the Kentucky five, but Corinth rallied to lead 16-13 at half time. The Kentuckians added to their advantage in the third quarter by adding five points, while Linsly was scoring one. The last period saw a desperate effort put forth by both sides, but the West Virginia entry was unable to bridge the gap. Corinth tossed 14 points to 11 for Linsly in the last quarter, which was full of action every second.

SOUTHERNERS LEAD

Basketeers from the South marched on in double quick time. They came from obscure hamlets, towns and cities scattered throughout Georgia, Texas, Louisiana and Kentucky, and so spectacular was their hardwood artistry that the championship drive resembled a Southern convention. The remaining three were from scattered regions of the East, West and Middle West—New Brunswick, N. J.; St. John's Military Academy, of Delafield, Wis., and a herd like rampaging elephants, from Wheatland, Wyo.

ATHENS FAVORED

This was the Southern lineup:

Athens, Tex., the defending titleholder and tourney favorite, which slaughtered the Y. M. C. A. Day School of Chicago.

Jena, La., a picturesque team recruited from a student body of 219 students and which drills outdoors on Mother Earth's floor under the scrutiny of their 20-year-old coach.

Savannah, Ga., a band of veritable bulldogs for hanging on and coming back to win.

Corinth, a Kentucky country village of 241 persons, and Braselton, Ga., a small village.

Yesterday's Linsly-Corinth lineup:

Linsly—25.		Corinth—35.
Moore	F	Rogers
Leithe	F	D. Lawrence
Bauman	C	Otter
Jacobs	G	Jones
Hudacek	G	F. Lawrence

Score by periods—

Corinth	5	11	8	14—35
Linsly	10	3	1	11—25

Linsly scoring: Field goals—Moore 5, Leithe 2, Bauman 1, Jacobs, Hudacek. Fouls—Moore, Bauman 3, Hudacek, Corinth scoring: Field goals—Rogers 4, Lawrence 6, Otter, Jones, F. Lawrence 5. (Two each guard). Fouls—D. Lawrence 2, F. Lawrence.

Vanities Honored At Annual Banquet

The Goldenson Vanities, girls' basketball champions of the tri-state district as a result of winning 28 games without meeting defeat, celebrated the close of their most successful season last night when they were guests at the annual banquet tendered them by Dr. L. G. Beinhauer in the South Hills Country Club dining room.

The Goldenson Vanities defeated all the leading clubs in the tri-state district, in many instances doubling the score on their opponents. One of the highlights of their season was the victory scored in the tournament in Cleveland, when they succeeded in winning the trophy offered by the Cleveland Municipal Athletic Association.

NO. 5.
CHARLEY MANNING,
Shannopin Country Club.

When Charley Manning, affable professional at Shannopin, first came among us, we all thought he was a southerner—but Charley isn't, he's a Yankee, having been born in Waltham, Mass. That was because he came here from Louisiana. He was teaching golf at the age of 15 at the Oaklyn Country Club, at Watertown, Mass., having worked himself to that stage from a caddie. One of the strongest players in Western Pennsylvania, as well as a capable, result-getting instructor, Manning got his first job as a pro at the Brooklands Golf Club at 20, after serving for several years as assistant pro to Mike Brady. He also has been affiliated with the Siwanoy, Texarkana and Shreveport Country clubs. This winter Charley has had the poorest health he has encountered since coming to Pittsburgh in April, 1927. He had picked up weight until he began to have ear trouble. He was operated on, and even at this time is improving, more or less slowly.

Twin Horses In Wheeling Race Meet

WHEELING, W. Va., April 4.—The first pair of twin horses to be seen under colors in the past 20 years on the American turf, will face the barrier for the first time here during the Golden Jubilee Race Meeting. They are Mr. Twin and Mrs. Twin, a pair of 2-year-olds from the stable of Miss E. M. Lanter. These youngsters, one a colt and the other a filly, were bred at Mrs. J. D. Hertz's establishment in Illinois.

These youngsters are by the stock horse, Chatterton, from the mare Delft. Ray Ryan, trainer for the Lanter stable, has them in rare form, and they will run in the first 2-year-old race of the meeting.

Robins Send Four Back to Minors

MACON, Ga., April 4.—(AP.)—Release of four more players has cut the Brooklyn Robins' squad to 27. Southpaw Jim Faulkner, obtained from Buffalo of the International League, was returned to that club; Clarence Blenthen, right-handed pitcher, was sent to Atlanta; Outfielder Max West to Jersey City of the Club of the South Atlantic International League and Bob League. The Robins attached Parham, outfielder, to the Macon strings only to Parham.

UNIVERSAL CLUB HAS FINE DIAMOND TEAM

CEMENT NINE AFTER WEST PENN TITLE

By TOM BIRKS.

Favorably comparing his club with the aggregation that won the Greater Pittsburgh Class A eliminations four seasons ago, Marshall McKeag, peppery manager of the Universal team of the West Penn League, has lined up a real combination that is going to make all pennant contenders step throughout the coming season.

GOOD BASEBALL TOWN

Universal always was a fine baseball town and McKeag is very optimistic regarding the support of the Cement followers this season. For many weeks Marshall has been building up a pitching staff, feeling that with a bunch of capable flingers ready to go on the mound at least half of his troubles are over.

So Ernie Vavra, Linhart and Kummer, together with Triman, Spider Watson and Felix Vichick were signed. Fans in the district will remember Vavra and his speed ball. Ernie at present is at New York University but will be home soon, and can be depended upon to win many games.

ALTERNATE AT FIRST

Linhart is just as well-known and has been classed as one of the headiest twirlers ever to work the Community towns and Kummer and the rest of the boys can win games. Frank and Joe Belin, two brothers, will take care of the receiving end of the battery, and McKeag expects much from this pair.

Hershey and Radovitch will alternate at first base, with Bagha at the keystone sack. Bituma will cover the shortfield, and the veteran Jelinek will play third—the hot corner also will be well taken care of. Marshall McKeag, Sarock and Scarsamucci will start in the outfield, but there is a host of material from that neck of the woods trying out for the team.

Bunts

The J. J. Thomas Club of the City League will hold a special meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The following players are requested to report at Longfellow and Pearl streets: Potts, Jones, Moffat, Nash, Loder, Bard, Ritter, McCrory, Lyons, Dimmitt, Leon, Pritzkiller, and any other players wishing a tryout.

The players of the W. O. W. Greater Pittsburgh Champions are requested to report at Manager Jellinek's home tomorrow afternoon for an important meeting. All of last season's players and any new men should be on hand.

BUTLERITES ORGANIZE

BUTLER, Pa., April 4.—With six teams already set for the opening and several others seeking admission, the Butler Industrial Baseball League will probably have a banner season. At a meeting held today, the Armco, Standard Steel, Standard Plate, West Penn Cement and Austin Car were represented. A second meeting will be held April 16. The league will open its schedule the week of May 19.

SQUASH PLAY CARDED TODAY

The city doubles squash racquets invitation tournament is slated to get under way this afternoon at the Keystone Athletic Club. It is being held in conjunction with the club's Class A, B and C tourney. The second round is slated for tomorrow, with the final matches Sunday. The club event will continue until a week from next Tuesday. Pairings for the invitational play today follow:

Corbus-Stocking vs. Bailey-McMahon; Hamm-Smith vs. Richert-Kennedy; White-Dean vs. Kennedy-Craig; Glass-Lytle vs. Hunt-McClintock.

The club handicap pairings: Class A, G. L. Stocking vs. E. F. Hodgson, F. E. Smith vs. C. A. Dean, Jr., C. Bailey vs. Glass-Lytle, W. Bickel vs. McClintock-Reed, J. Glass vs. T. E. Mason, M. E. Quay vs. H. J. McCutcheon, W. J. Vickers vs. F. D. Hoffman, C. A. Woods, Jr., vs. F. D. Hoffman.

Class B—D. J. Kennedy vs. Dr. Charles Auchmuty, J. F. Ryan vs. J. M. Yahner, H. J. Schneider vs. J. F. Gillespie, N. E. Reed vs. James Patton, J. H. Craig vs. W. Parker, W. Ladd vs. J. Hood Wright, Jones vs. W. A. Bugbee, Clifton Taylor vs. J. E. Flannery.

Class C—Dick vs. Miss McConnon, Veale vs. Brown, Sexton vs. O'Neil, Reed vs. Kelly vs. Abbott, Lee vs. A. Malone-Quay, Clough vs. Eberle vs. Hirsch, Landau vs. Henderson vs. Black-Scott vs. Isaac, Isherwood vs. Patterson, Carr vs. Warner, Robinson vs. Markland and W. J. M. Malone.

NO. 9—HOW TO THROW A CURVE BALL.

ED WAS doing a little boasting about his curve ball.

"Aw Eddie," Mac wise-cracked. "That thing you throw isn't a curve. It's just a wrinkle."

So Eddie called me over.

"Hi, Babe," he said, "Come on and look over this curve ball once. I'll bet if you show me I can throw one all right."

"How do you hold the ball?" I asked.

He showed me, and, like all kids, he gripped the ball with his thumb flat against his fingers.

"That's wrong," I told him. "You should hold your curve ball exactly the same as your fast one. The only difference is that instead of letting the ball slip over the ends of your fingers you twist your hand just as you let go of the ball, sending it out over the side of your fingers."

"But why?"

"Well," I explained, "it's the twist that is given the ball by the snap of your wrist that makes it curve—and the reason for holding it the same as the fast ball is so the hitter won't know whether it's a fast one or a curve that's coming."

"But I can make it curve a lot more if I keep my thumb flat" and let the ball go over my thumb," Ed argued.

"Sure," I agreed. "But it isn't the wide curve that works. The old roundhouse is easy to hit because you can see it coming from the minute it leaves the pitcher's hand. The good curve ball is the one that comes up straight and fast and then breaks just as it reaches the batter. It isn't the amount of break that counts, it's the quickness."

In the picture, Eddie is showing the grip I mean. To throw a curve you've got to practice a lot—and you've got to be sure to get the wrist snap into it. That takes a lot of hard work.

Then, after you have that, you've still got to learn control, which is even harder. A curve ball is much harder to control than a fast one—and in controlling a curve you have to do something more than get it over the plate. You've got to be able to keep it inside or outside or high or low as you wish. Walter Beall had the best curve ball I ever saw, but he didn't have control, and he's not even in the big leagues. On the other hand, there are a lot of good pitchers in the big leagues today whose curve ball, like Eddie's, is "just a wrinkle," but it's effective because they're able to conceal it, throw it right where they want it and make it break quickly.

(MONDAY—BASERUNNING—THE PROPER WAY TO TAKE A LEAD.)

DISTRICT PIN TOPPLERS WIN A. B. C. CASH

CLEVELAND, April 4.—Kane, New Castle, Erie and Youngstown qualified one or more pinsters in the American Bowling Congress tournament prize money here yesterday but not for any great amounts.

J. Stiles, with his singles of 611, was the lone Kane kegel. to put his hand through the cashier's window. In behalf of New Castle, J. Robinson tipped over a 597 while R. Cangey hit 588.

DOUBLES WINNERS

Erie slipped in with the only doubles winners of the Pittsburgh district when E. Walter and ". McCardell combined for a 1148. McCardell saved this team by rising to a 256 in his final game to make his series 646.

Both came back with singles series of 590 and 585 to be in the dough. As far as the doubles are concerned Youngstown bowlers always will claim that 13 is unlucky as 13 pairs from that city assailed the wood and none of the 13 landed in the money.

In the singles, however, a certain amount of cashing-in was accomplished, this resulting from the 633 of O. Miller, the 615 of E. Boldt, the 610 of E. Crute, the 591 of J. Westlake and the 588 of M. Mauser.

MOTIKA SEVENTH.

Frank Motika, of Cleveland, rose to a 702 and shot into seventh place in the singles event. Motika's count, a 671 and 660 by G. Kaisinger and H. Woods, of Cleveland, and a 651 by R. Griebel, Cleveland, were the only really good figures hit out.

In the doubles business was dull, O. Clost and W. Dawson, of Cleveland, and W. Merecki and J. Bock, of Detroit, shooting best with respective totals of 1217 and 1209.

In manufacturing his seventh spot count, Motika was off with a good 279. Two splits stopped him in the second game, which was a 205. In his third game he drew a split in the final frame on top of three strikes and closed with 218.

New Kensington Honors Champs

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., April 4.—The citizens of New Kensington and adjoining towns honored the local high school basketball team, W. P. I. A. L. champs, at a monster testimonial banquet here last night, with close to 400 in attendance.

Dr. H. C. Carlson, head coach of basketball at Pitt; Jess Carver, collegiate football writer of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph; Dan Burns, burgess of New Kensington, and Jim Mace, of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., Pittsburgh, made the principal talks.

WALTER ECKERSALL

The first time I ever saw the late Walter Eckersall was when he was playing quarterback on Hyde Park High School some 28 or 29 years ago. In my opinion this was the greatest high school football team of all time. It included in its makeup such stars as the Hammond brothers, who later went to Michigan; Sam Ransome, of Beloit; Bard, of Princeton, and so on. The University of Chicago just nosed out Hyde Park, 6 to 5, that year, and Eckie's crowd also gave the University of Wisconsin quite a scare. But the way they outclassed their high school rivals was a sight to behold. They beat Brooklyn Poly Prep in an intersectional game, 105 to 0.

Knute Rockne.

The next time I saw Eckie was at the Illinois interscholastics the following spring. On this occasion Eckie won the 50, 100 and 220-yard sprints and held the record in these for some time.

Eckersall also played the outfield in baseball. Entering the University of Chicago in the fall of 1902, he soon gave up his track and baseball propensities, but developed into what most of us think was the greatest quarterback of all time. His drop-kicking was remarkable. I believe one afternoon he put five of these over in a game against the University of Wisconsin.

He also was a great punter and with his remarkable speed was a very dangerous man returning punts. And how he could tackle, for a little fellow! I still remember that game in the snow against Michigan when Willie Heston broke loose and, seeing Eckersall the last man on the Chicago defense, crouched to make a tackle, leaped clear over him and continued down the field. Quick as a flash, Eckersall turned, and, catching Heston within 10 yards, tackled him from behind.

Eckie took more punishment that afternoon than any one I ever have seen his size endure.

For the past 26 years, Eckersall has been a special sports writer on the Chicago Tribune—never colorful, yet no one was a greater authority on the facts than he. Quiet and reserved, he was a real friend. He never hurt any one, but always was ready to lend a helping hand.

His passing is a great loss to football. His place will be hard to fill. To those who knew him he leaves kindly memories and deep, sincere regrets.

Walker May Hurl Opener for Giants

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 4.—(AP.)—Manager John McGraw, of the New York Giants, refuses to say who will pitch the opening game of the season, but the boys are guessing that Bill Walker, southpaw, will get the assignment.

National A. A. U. Mat Tournament Opens

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP.)—Most of the color in the national A. A. U. wrestling championships beginning today at the New York A. C. may revolve about the performance of the crack grapplers of Oklahoma College of Agriculture, National Collegiate A. A. titleholders.

Fresh from their third straight victory in the national collegiates at State College last week, the Aggies hoped to snare the National A. A. U. team title as well.

Virtually every member of the Aggies' team rated as a formidable contender in his class, but none more so than Earl McCready, the heavyweight, who won the unlimited championship at State College.

SUHR'S HOMERS LONG HITS

By Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, April 4.—Both of Goose Suhr's round-trippers of yesterday were of sufficient depth to land in the deep section of the right field stands at Forbes Field had they been struck in the Oakland Orchard. The second wallop was the longer of the two. Gus' timing as he connected with a curve ball on this drive was something to please the onlookers who have an interest in the Coast slugger. Suhr used a golf swing to clout the low curve, and the ball went high and wide over the right center section as Tony Kaufmann stood helpless at the fence.

Kaufmann and Gus Felix are two former major leaguers on whom Joe Schultz is counting for a lot of runs this year. Tony started his big league career as a star pitcher, but his slab work gradually fell off and after being sent to the International League he became a fly-chaser.

Chillysauce

Joe Schultz appears to be one of the most important figures in the big Cardinal rumbling, otherwise known as baseball's biggest chain-store system. It is known to a few that Gabby Street, present Cardinal pilot, wanted Schultz for a coach, but that the Cardinals' owners preferred to keep him in a managerial capacity.

Larry French didn't look an hot against the Buffaloes, but, as often stated in these columns, it is easier for a major league pitcher to star against minor league batters, whose weaknesses he knows, than to compete against minor league shooters of whom he has scant knowledge. French had a good fast ball, but he was wild. The fact that he revealed nine pounds proved that he is about ready.

ALABAMA POLY SIGNS WYNNE

AUBURN, Ala., April 4.—(AP.)—Chester (Chet) A. Wynne, football coach at Creighton University, Omaha, Neb., since 1923, has been signed by President Bradford Knapp as football coach at Alabama Polytechnic Institute for three years. Wynne will assume his new duties here May 1.

Wynne was selected by some experts in 1921 as being the outstanding fullback in collegiate football. He played fullback under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame for three years, graduating in 1922.

In addition to starring on the gridiron at Notre Dame, Wynne was also a track luminary and was captain of the track team in his senior year. He attended the 1928 Olympic games with Rockne.

After leaving Notre Dame, Wynne coached at Midland College, Nebraska, for one year, winning the Nebraska Collegiate Conference championship. He went to Creighton in 1923, where his teams won a majority of their games. Under his direction Creighton won 13 consecutive games and one season lost only one game.

The Kind of Child Most Mothers Want

"Jackie never gives us a bit of trouble," says his mother, Mrs. Rutledge, of 511 W. 136th St., New York City, "because I make sure that his little stomach is always sweet, so no sour food can hurt him. I give him a little Acidine, which tastes just like peppermint, at night. That takes away the acidity which comes when children eat too much cake and candy."

When children get sick and become puny so unexpectedly, it's the excessive acids, Mothers. They make your child drowsy, breath is bad, and skin becomes broken out and itchy. Give him Acidine—he'll like it, and before you realize it he will brighten up and look fine. More than 2 million people believe in Acidine because it is so sure, good to take and inexpensive. Get it at any drug store.

refusal to accept Griffiths as an opponent in his Florida match of February.

Sharkey points out that he said at the time Griffiths could not fight and would not draw. Most fans will continue to believe, however that Sharkey's real reason for rejecting Griffiths was a fear that he would prove too tough. As for his drawing powers, Tuffy certainly would have attracted as large a gate as did Phil Scott.

Tuffy Griffiths

THE truth is that the stopping of Griffiths in six rounds by such a pugilistic nobody as Gagnon was the biggest upset of the season to fight followers. It had not been anticipated by Sharkey or anybody else, and was merely one of those rare ring happenings that nobody can explain. It was a tough break for Griffiths to be forced into the background when he was in line for big money as one of the most promising of the up-coming heavyweight championship contenders. It will take Tuffy a long time to recover from that setback. Of course, an attempt will be made to play up Gagnon as a sensation on the strength of it, but it will be surprising if he proves good enough for more than one big shot. His record shows him to be utterly lacking in class. He has been knocked out by Tom Kirby, Pat McCarthy, Johnny Grosso and Ernie Schaff, and has lost decisions to Con O'Kelly, Joe Monte, Larry Gaines, George Gemas and even to old Battling Levinsky when the last named was attempting a come-back two years ago.

CARNEGIE SWIM MEET CARDED TOMORROW

19 SCHOOLS ENTERED IN RELAYS

By JESS CARVER.

Carnegie Tech will go wet tomorrow as the Tartans present their first annual Interscholastic aquatic relay carnival. This meet, for senior and junior high school splashers, will be run, or swum, off in the natatorium beginning at 3 o'clock.

Don Saunders

Graduate Manager Buddy Overend and Coach Allen Risedorph were a bit sanguine at first as to just how great an entry list their meet would attract for its inaugural. Their fears were well kicked about day by day as the entry blanks fluttered into the Tartan offices, and tomorrow 26 teams representing 19 separate schools will participate in the carnival.

FOUR EVENTS CARDED

Four events have been listed for both juniors and seniors. There will be a free style, breast stroke, back stroke and medley relay in each class. The seniors will swim over the 200-yard distance in all relays except the medley. The juniors will wriggle over half the distance in each case.

The rotund Henry Blum (who is always right, even if you think he isn't) is to referee, with Coach Risedorph serving in the capacity of director. The following schools will take part: Munhall, Schenley, Baxter, Langley, Gladstone, Fifth Avenue, Latimer, Westinghouse, Herron Hill, Taylor Allderdice, South, South Hills, Butler, Coraopolis, Carrick, Tarentum, Wilkinsburg, Peabody and Clairton.

Langley, Schenley and Taylor Allderdice lead in the matter of individual entries, the first named having 30 men entered and the latter 22 each.

ARMENTROUT OUT

Murray Armentrout, Carnegie Tech's dashing young halfback (dashed if he isn't) has been ordered to withdraw from spring football practice and to have his appendix taken out as soon as school is over.

Army has been ailing more or less for some time, and when his ills were diagnosed he was found to be suffering from a bum set of appendix. Hence the order to lay off spring grid drill and to go under the knife.

PITT CARD OUT

Pitt's varsity basketball schedule for 1930-31 has been given out by Athletic Director W. Don Harrison. The Panthers will play 24 ball games next year, 12 at home and 12 abroad.

Newcomers on the card include Western Reserve, Marquette, Dartmouth, Purdue, New York University, City College of New York, and Pennsylvania. The game with Ohio State, booked for Columbus December 13, will be the feature of the annual O. S. U. basketball clinic for coaches.

A feature of the home card will be the appearance in the Stadium of Syracuse, the team that ended Pitt's winning streak last campaign. The complete card follows:

(Dec. 5—Western Reserve at Stadium.
Dec. 13—Ohio State at Columbus.
Dec. 17—Marquette at Milwaukee.
Dec. 19—Nebraska at Lincoln.
Dec. 23—Dartmouth at Stadium.
Dec. 27—Syracuse at Stadium.
Jan. 1—Indiana at Stadium.
Jan. 3—Purdue at Stadium.
Jan. 10—New York U. at Stadium.
Jan. 15—Fordham at Stadium.
Jan. 17—West Virginia at Stadium.
Jan. 21—Carnegie Tech at Stadium.
Jan. 24—Notre Dame at South Bend.
Feb. 1—Wash. and Jeff. at Washington.
Feb. 7—Notre Dame at Stadium.
Feb. 14—Army at West Point.
Feb. 15—N. Y. U. C. at New York.
Feb. 21—Penn State at Stadium.
Feb. 28—Carnegie Tech at Tech Gym.
March 3—Wash. Jeff. at Stadium.
March 8—Penn at Philadelphia.
March 11—West Virginia at Morgantown.
March 14—Penn State at State College.)

ADIEU, DON, MY BOY

Don F. (Thumbs Up) Saunders, who has been publicity director at Pitt since 1927, has resigned his portfolio of office and will leave us for the wilds of Sterling, Ill., his home town, April 15.

Don's resignation was necessitated by the illness of his father. Mr. Saunders will not be able to take an active part in the operation of his manufacturing plant for some time, and Don will assist his brother in the management of the business.

Saunders is a graduate of Sterling High School and attended the University of Iowa. He was a hurdler at one time, but has successfully lived it down.

Saunders made a flock of friends while here, what with his engaging personality and ability to serve ham sandwiches between halves in the press box at the Stadium and make the hard-working scribes think they were eatin' chicken.

Bill Kern, Pitt star tackle in 1925, 1926 and 1927, has been appointed assistant coach of linesmen by Head Coach Jock Sutherland at the Blue and Gold institution for next season. He is on the job at this time assisting in the Panthers' spring grid training. He will instruct new candidates.

DAVIES IN CHICAGO

Coach Chick Davies, Duquesne University basketball mentor left for Chicago last night to attend the National Intercollegiate Basketball Coaches convention to be held today, tomorrow and Sunday. Davies is expected to return here Monday, according to John D. Holahan, graduate manager of athletics.

Joe Bach, assistant football coach and instructor in physical education for men at Duquesne University will stage a university-wide handball tournament to begin Tuesday, Elmer F. Layden, director of athletics has announced. Coach Bach will supervise all details of the tourney.

Four Horses Die, Boy Missing In Fire

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—(AP.)—Four race horses were burned to death last night in a fire that swept through a barn on the Jefferson Park race track. Jimmie (Red) Mulligan, exercise boy with the Jack Bishop Stable, was missing.

Three racers of the Al Gall stable, [illegible] owned by Bob [illegible] and Francis Stock, owned Jack Bishop, died in the flames.

Mulligan, who as exercise boy for the Bishop string, slept in the barn, could not be found after the fire. It was feared he lost his life.

Howard Bauer, 16, of Collinsville, Ill., was about to retire when he noticed the first flames bursting from the barn windows. Although barefooted, the youth rushed into the burning structure and brought two horses, Fenlight and Bunthorne, owned by Jack Keller, his employer, to safety.

DOUTHIT FAILS TO SLUG BALL

BRADENTON, Fla., April 4.—(AP.)—Taylor Douthit, idol of the Knotholers' Gang in Sportsman Park, may pick splinters instead of doing sentry duty for the St. Louis Cardinals, Manager Gabby Street has indicated. Douthit [illegible] credited with an average of .167 in the 17 games of the Cocoanut League. Homer Peel, likely looking rookie, may get the call from his preseason average of .400.

BARNESBORO, Pa., April 4.—Taken suddenly ill as he entered a ring to engage in the main bout of a boxing show here Wednesday night, Charles Bufalo, 19, of Vintondale was rushed to Memorial Hospital in Johnstown and underwent an operation for acute appendicitis. He is recovering.

SOCCER FANS VISIT OHIO

Many Western Pennsylvania soccer fans are going to make the trip to Luna Park, Cleveland, Sunday, to see the second game of the National Challenge cup final, featuring the Fall River club and the Bruell Insurance team of Cleveland. The first game was staged at the Polo Grounds, New York, last Sunday, and the easterners won a one-sided game, 7 to 2.

However, this time the Fall River club will make the long trip and the Clevelanders will be fighting with their backs to the wall.

The game will have a distinct Pittsburgh feature. Pithie, who will referee the game, started his career as a referee as a member of the West Penn Valley Referees' Association and now is living in Detroit.

The Caraffi brothers, former Pittsburgh boys, will be in the Bruell lineup. Both played with Dunlevy, Heidelberg and other teams before going to Cleveland.

Only one soccer game will be played in this district tomorrow. The Pierpoint Motors club will meet the Union Switch and Signal team at the Westinghouse High School field. Both teams are primed for the occasion and a good game should result.

The probable lineup for the Cleveland game:

Fall River		Bruell Insurance
Feder	G	Ramsay
J. McAulay	R F	Burton
McArthur	L F	McClimont
McPherson	R H	Russell
Proudfoot	C H	W. Scott
Ballantyne	L H	Abrahams
McNab	O R	Phillips
Gonsalves	I R	G. Caraffi
Patenaude	C F	Wilson
A. McAulay	I F	A. Scott
White	O L	P. Caraffi

Referee—Ruth S. Pithie, Detroit.
Linesmen—A. C. Patterson and M. Curran, Cleveland.

Important to Every Motor Car and Truck Owner—Everywhere.

Beginning today — we introduce in our three convenient stores, the complete new United States Tire line, a tire for every purpose now offered by us at the lowest prices in history, including the Royal Master, a tire for the man who wants the best regardless of cost — The U. S. Royal, a tire superior to any on today's market—The U. S. Peerless, a tire that outperforms any tire of its price class.

U. S. Tires are built by the world's largest producers of rubber. They are manufactured by exclusive process resulting from 38 years of tire building experience, and are all guaranteed for life.

This important change to U. S. Tires has come only after the most careful investigation and was influenced largely, not only by popular demand from our own customers, but by the motorists throughout the country—Everywhere—the big swing is to the U. S. Tire.

To mark this important event and to introduce U. S. Tires to our thousands of customers, we have launched a great introductory sale for one week only on U. S. Peerless 6 and 4-ply Tires. You will find unusual savings—not only in our great tire and tube offer, but also in other departments of our stores. Don't miss these savings. Come in today.

He Guarantees Steady Jobs to All His Workers

—By B. C. FORBES—

VERY cheerful is it, in these days, when we hear so much about unemployment, to turn to a very large organization that has very successfully solved the problem of providing steady employment. Col. William C. Procter, head of the famous soap company of Cincinnati, seven years ago undertook to guarantee to every one of the 10,000 workers 48 weeks' work a year. The plan, he tells me, has worked most satisfactorily all round.

SAYS Col. Procter:

"The stabilization which we have brought about in the last seven years is something of an industrial revolution, but it has paid in dividends and in satisfaction and has worked to the benefit of the company, its employes and the users of its products."

HE added:

"One great benefit we have derived from the stabilization of our business, which has enabled us in the past seven years to guarantee employment to every one of our 10,000 workers, has been the stabilizing of our advertising.

"With steady and regular production, we are able to make this very important advertising end of our business just as steady and regular, and, because we keep on such an even keel, we are not upset or thrown off our course by any temporary business derangement such as that through which the country is now passing. WE KNOW FROM EXPERIENCE THAT IF WE KEEP UP OUR ADVERTISING, WE KEEP UP OUR SALES. We are, therefore, going right ahead using just as much space in just as many media as we did last year."

IN addition to guaranteeing 48 weeks' work—less only time lost by fire, flood, strike or other extreme emergency—Procter & Gamble provide sickness insurance, old age pension opportunity to purchase stock on easy terms, profit-sharing dividends.

This policy of consistent treatment of workers has proved profitable. Col. Procter entered the business on leaving college, 47 years ago, and became president 23 years ago. He early became interested in striving to do the right thing by the workfolks, some of whom ha started during the regime of William A. Procter, the original partner, of whom Col. Procter is a grandson.

Incidentally, next week Col. Procter's signal achievement in establishing and maintaining steady employment from year's end to year's end, as well as his notable activities as a philanthropist, is to be recognized by many of our leading citizens, by giving a dinner in his honor.

IF a concern employing 10,000 workers can undertake to give its wage-earners 48 weeks' work every year, could not many other enterprises, if sufficiently interested, so arrange operations as to guarantee, if not 48 weeks, something approaching steady employment?

Presumably, Procter & Gamble are just as much affected by booms and depressions as are the majority of other organizations. Yet, by taking enough thought, this fine old type of business gentleman has been able to take care of his workfolks through good times and bad—and to do it without injuring the stability of the company in any way.

THIS recital is not intended so much a laundation of Col. Procter as an example, an inspiration, an inducement to other business leaders to address themselves earnestly, conscientiously, wholeheartedly to the problem of providing steady work and avoiding periodical wholesale dismissal of breadwinners.

If America had more Col. Procters, it would have less unemployment at this moment.

FOREIGN TRADE ESSENTIAL TO EXPANSION

U. S. Companies Working to Overcome Prejudices and Establish European Market

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, April 4.—American long-term business expansion depends in large measure on an increase in foreign trade, and American exports are in a sense limited by foreign jealousy of America's waxing economic power.

Overseas the American business genius must find ways to dissociate traditional notions of ruthless exploitation of foreign peoples from international trade. As in many other directions, the automobile executives are doing pioneering work in this direction. Both the Ford Motor Company and the General Motors Corporation are finding means of getting inside alien tariff walls. They are setting up foreign subsidiaries or are affiliating themselves with dominant native corporations. In another field, the progressively managed E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co., Wilmington makers of chemicals and explosives, are making similar foreign affiliations. The Du Pont company goes so far in seeking to avoid prejudice against foreigners as to limit itself to a 49 per cent interest in affiliated foreign ventures.

Instead of seeking to exploit foreigners, Mr. Ford is raising wage levels in England, Ireland, Germany and elsewhere. Though Mr. Ford's activities have attracted attention, other American manufacturers earlier moved in the same direction. Clarence Woolley, chairman of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation, whose foreign plants are widely flung throughout the world, told me that the introduction of American manufacturing technique in foreign countries inevitably tends to raise wages.

INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION

Referring to this new trend, Dr. E. R. A. Seligman, McVickar professor of political economy at Columbia University and brother of the Seligmans of Wall street banking fame, points out in Barron's:

"A new industrial and economic revolution is quietly taking place in the world today. There is no lack of indications as to the nature of the re-orientation of industry and commerce, and already two of its most important aspects have been recognized by those whose work it is to study industrial and economic policies.

"The first of these factors is the growing recognition throughout the world that, owing to the mechanization of industrial processes today, the difference between skilled and unskilled labor is far less important than it was a century ago. At first, industrialists took advantage of this fact to attempt to reduce the level of wages, but they are now realizing that badly paid labor is, in the long run, uneconomic. Hence emerges the vital truth that labor, to be efficient, must receive a good wage.

"One of the most startling features of this new development in economic policy is the attempt now being made by Henry Ford in Germany, where wages are lower than they are in Great Britain and lower than they are in the United States, to pay his workmen a rate of wages equivalent to that which he pays his workmen in America and Britain.

"The other great development which has in recent years marked the course of industrial policy, and which seems likely to develop still further, is the system of instalment selling, or distribution credit, which, beginning in America, has spread to Britain and the continent, and is now firmly consolidated in an assured position in the economic system of the world. As was the case when the banking system, or the system of production credit, first began to take shape and form, the comparatively new system of distribution credit has been faced with many difficulties and has received much adverse criticism from all classes of the community. But bankers and industrialists are now beginning to realize its value and importance."

Stock Exchange Topics

Sinclair Oil Reported Planning Capital Changes.

SINCLAIR CONSOLIDATED which is expected ultimately to go into a new combine which will include Prairie Oil and Gas and one or two other companies as well, is reported to be planning some adjustment of its capital structure prior to the completion of such a deal. Current report has it that the company will dispose of its half interest in pipe line properties, controlled jointly by it and the Standard of Indiana, to the latter company. The proceeds of the sale of the pipe properties would be used to cut the total of preferred stock outstanding and to extinguish a part of its funded indebtedness.

The expansion of $489,000,000 in loans during March, reported by the New York Stock Exchange, proved considerably heavier than had been anticipated. On a percentage basis this is equivalent to an increase of roughly 12 per cent in the loan total for the month. Such rate of interest might, of course, be viewed as rather too rapid to be entirely healthy. But there are compensating factors which tend to remove much of the cause for nervousness that might be aroused on that score. Loans, as reported by the Stock Exchange, reached their low point at the end of January. Since that time an increase of about 17 per cent in the total has been recorded. Against this increase, however, the fact remains that the average of stock prices has regained roughly 50 per cent of the loss suffered on the October-November decline, indicating that the bulk of the buying has been of sound character.

COLUMBIA GAS AND ELECTRIC, utility favorite, which has vindicated time and time again optimistic prospects, has settled into a more attractive price range now that it is selling ex the 25 per cent stock dividend. Although currently valued at a high ratio to earnings, the present trend of demand which places a high valuation of future prospects rather than immediate possibilities, should again serve to bring this stock to the market limelight.

The March report of the Chrysler Corporation on shipments, showing an expansion over February considered a good deal more than seasonal, did not stimulate any fresh bullish activity in the stock. Shipments last month totaled 33,778 units, an increase of 46 per cent over the total of 23,105 units reported shipped from the factories in February. Unusual activity at the Chrysler plants last month is believed explained in part at least by the company's entry into the low-priced field with a new model.

SIMMONS COMPANY fluctuated widely yesterday afternoon. Prior to the appearance of the statement of March sales put forth by the head of the company at the annual meeting, the stock had ruled about a point under Wednesday night's level. A brisk upturn, probably resulting from a further squeezing of shorts, developed coincident with the publication of the sales figures for March showing an increase of 9.9 per cent. But the stock slipped off again on the announcement that directors would meet for dividend action at 2 o'clock.

Nothing in the way of important change developed in the money market during yesterday. Demand was light and the supply plentifully adequate so far as call money was concerned, with 4 per cent the ruling rate on renewals and fresh accommodation. It is believed that money rates have seen their low levels for at least a while. This is evident from the gradual but steady increase in demand for time money, which incidentally reflected rather vividly in the stock exchange loan report. Ordinarily time loans constitute some 30 per cent of the total of collateral borrowings. At the peak of loans last year, however, time loans represented only 8.4 per cent of the total. Presently such loans comprise 13 per cent of the aggregate.

NEW OFFERINGS

New security offerings today include:

Caterpillar Tractor Company, $10,000,000 5-year 5 per cent convertible gold notes, due April 1, 1935, priced at 98½ per cent to yield about 5.35 per cent. Offered by Pierce, Fair & Co., Stone & Webster and Blodgett, Inc., and others.

Corporation Securities Company, of Chicago, 1,250,000 shares no par common stock, priced at $27.50 a share. Offered by the Utility Securities Corporation and others.

Philippine Government, $1,250,000 4½ per cent tax exempt gold bonds, yielding 4.20 per cent; due $750,000 September, 15, 1959, at 105.04 and interest, and $500,000 due October 15, 1959, at 105.05 and interest. Offered by C. F. Childs & Co.

N. Y. Reserve Bank Rate Is Unchanged

NEW YORK, April 4.—Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement after their regular weekly meeting yesterday regarding the rediscount rate, which is 3½ per cent.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 4.—Another active market for bonds with share features overshadowed dealings in more conservative issues today. The little trading that was done in the railroad liens, however, was on a firmer basis and it was apparent that the tonic effect of an ease in money rates could stimulate the general list rather easily. Time money, however, was a trifle firmer.

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and (bid) omitted of dollars):

STOCKS CLIMB AS TURNOVER INCREASES

Profit-Taking Interrupts Rally, but New Leaders Bring Rapid Recovery

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP.)—The "bull" movement in stocks was resumed with increased vigor today as the demand broadened to include a number of representative public utility, oil, motor, electrical and steel shares. The rally was interrupted for a time by heavy profit-taking in the amusement stocks, but new leaders were quickly brought forward and a general recovery took place by early afternoon.

Trading was again in enormous volume, total sales crossing the 2,500,000 share mark before midday. The ticker ran more than 20 minutes behind the market by early afternoon.

Modification of the bearish advices sent out by some of the large commission houses yesterday, new merger projects and the recent increase in steel mill and building activity apparently more than offset the large gains in broker's loans, the falling off in freight car traffic and some of the poor earnings reports made public in the last few days. Willys Overland reported a loss of nearly $5,000,000 last year.

MONEY PLENTIFUL

Call money was in plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 4 per cent and concessions in the outside market were reported later in the day. The time money market showed a firmer undertone, although business was quiet. A better demand was noted for bankers' acceptances. As generally expected, neither the New York nor Chicago Federal Reserve banks made any changes in their rediscount rates.

American Telephone ran up more than 6 points to a new high record above 269. General Electric was marked up 4½ points to a new high at 91½. Radio was turned over in enormous volume, crossing 62 for the first time this year.

Allied Chemical, Otis Elevator, Pacific Gas, Auburn Auto, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and American Rolling Mills all sold 4 to 7 points higher.

STEEL ADVANCES

United States Steel common, Colorado Fuel, Sloss Sheffield Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Underwood Elliott Fisher, Stone & Webster and Pacific Lighting were among the many issues to sell 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

Among the 50 or more stocks to reach new high ground were Standard Oils of New Jersey and New York, Skelly Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Thompson Products, Park & Tilford, General Motors, Savage Arms, Columbia Graphophone and Fox Film.

International Combustion preferred, United Aircraft and R. H. Macy were conspicuous soft spots.

Atterbury Hopeful Of Traffic Upturn

BOSTON, April 4—W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad states he does not see any hope of an immediate improvement in traffic. He said Pennsylvania's car loadings in January were off about 4½ per cent from last year. In February, they were off 7 per cent and in March about 11 per cent. He could not see much better comparisons for the second quarter.

Asked if he believed there was likely to be an upturn after the first half of the year in relation to 1929 traffic, he replied, "I hope so."

California Drawing Crude From Storage

LOS ANGELES, April 4—For the first time in more than two years the California output of refinable crude oil is below refinery needs and the state is drawing on stocks of crude in storage.

Estimated refinery needs within the state are placed at 609,000 barrels daily by the General State Oil Operators' Committee. Figures released March 28 show output at 612,000 barrels daily, or within 3,000 barrels of the mark set. Actually daily output is now slightly below the 609,000-barrel mark.

Erie Engine Order Goes to Baldwin

PHILADELPHIA, April 4—Baldwin Locomotive Works received an order from Erie Railroad for 10 switch engines and five extra tenders valued at $700,000.

N. Y. Curb Seat Sale Sets High for Year

NEW YORK, April 4—Sale of a New York Curb Exchange seat has been arranged for $225,000, up $27,000 and a new high for the year.

Atlantic Seaboard Business Improves

NEW YORK, April 4—There are many signs of improvement in general business conditions along the Atlantic Seaboard, according to the statistical research department of the National Electric Light Association, which uses as an indicator the demand for electric light and power. Throughout the great agricultural section lying between Minneapolis and Kansas City the situation was said to remain as it has during the past several months, "surprisingly good."

Refinery Gasoline Prices Are Firmer

CHICAGO, April 4—Refinery gasoline prices continue on an upward trend with U. S. Motor gasoline up ⅛c a gallon on both high and low range, being quoted 6½@6¾c a gallon, compared with 6⅜@6½c previously.

An advance of ⅛c a gallon was also recorded for 60@62 gravity, 400 end-point grade, the current quotation being 6¼@7c, against 6⅛@6¼c previously.

Profits Are Plowed Back By Aluminum Company

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

DEVELOPMENT of the Aluminum Company of America is being carried out along much the same lines as that of Gulf Oil. Both organizations have been making large expenditures for additional plant facilities. Both have been showing impressive growth in earnings, but they have been putting the major share of profits back into the business. Both organizations have done some financing in recent years, but they have preferred to expand through the reinvestment of earnings.

The annual report of the Aluminum Company, made public yesterday, showed net profit of $24,128,509 which, after deducting preferred dividends, was equivalent to $10.37 a share on the 1,472,625 shares of common stock. This compared with $19,279,464 or $7.08 a share in 1928.

While the present common stock is not on a dividend basis, the original holders have not been without their reward. Stock dividends of 100 per cent in 1904 and of 500 per cent in 1909 were declared. From 1901 to 1925 dividends were paid at varying rates on the old $100 par common stock. The rate in 1924 and 1925 was 12½ per cent annually. In the latter year six shares of new common, 3½ shares of new 6 per cent preferred and warrants for an additional 3½ shares of new preferred were exchanged for each old share. In addition, on June, 4, 1928, holders of each three shares of new common received a share of Aluminum Limited, a company which had been formed to take over some of the foreign properties.

Plant Improvements

LAST year the Aluminum Company plowed far more than its surplus earnings back into the business. After paying preferred dividends of $8,849,750, the company added $15,278,759 to its surplus. Physical properties increased $16,097,975 during the year.

The investments in affiliated companies also showed an increase of $7,060,748 to a total of $50,287,843. This makes a total of $23,158,723 put into the expansion of the company in a single year. Naturally working capital was reduced. The decline in this item during the year amounted to $7,554,871. Working capital at the close of 1929 stood at $54,373,560.

Dividends Unlikely

WHILE the balance sheet shows a strong financial position, it also indicates that the payment of dividends on the common stock will be rather unlikely for some time if expansion at the present rate is to continue. A short time ago it was announced that the company's improvement budget called for the expenditure of $50,000,000. If this is to be completed in 1930 it seems probable that additional financing will be necessary.

Current assets at the end of 1929 of $66,292,839 were 5.5 times current liabilities of $11,919,279. Cash amounted to $4,840,809 but this does not appear to be a particularly large amount in view of the fact that the preferred dividend of $2,212,437 was payable on the following day. Receivables amounted to $31,554,509 against accounts payable of $3,462,498 and bills payable of $1,500,000.

Funded debt amounted to only $40,205,000 against physical properties carried at $112,973,683 after reserves for amortization, depreciation and depletion. Total assets were $234,728,631. The preferred stock outstanding amounted to $147,262,500.

RIVER TONNAGE SHOWS GAIN

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 4.—Commerce on the Monongahela River during March was 165,950 tons above February. Lockmaster Charles W. Keibler revealed in his report yesterday. The total was 1,295,830 tons. Coal accounted for the greatest increase, 1,240,340 tons being shipped, 98,000 tons more than the previous month.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Oil Shares, Inc., reports for quarter ended March 31, 1930, net income of $129,402 after charges but before Federal taxes equal after preferred dividends to 3 cents a share on 4,460,220 common shares against $416,581 after taxes or $1.88 on 158,500 common shares in 1929 quarter.

Willys-Overland Company reports for year ended December 31 net loss of $1,970,807 after all charges and special expenses including $2,893,958 amortization of tools, dies, etc., and $2,829,000 loss on investments, etc., against net income of $6,182,357 or $2.09 a common share in 1928.

Engineers Public Service Co., Inc., reports for 12 months ended February 28, 1930, net income of $11,154,625 after all charges but before reserves, equal after depreciation charges of 6.2 per cent on gross to $2.78 a share on average common shares against $8,181,027 or $2.32 a common share on same basis in preceding 12 months.

* * *

S. W. Straus Investment Corp. reports for year ended January 31, 1930, net operating income was $927,462 undivided surplus after federal taxes, management fees and dividends on preferred $327,360, equal to 60 cents a common share.

Magma Copper Company reports for year ended December 31 net income of $3,051,706 after charges and estimated federal taxes, equal to $7.56 a share on 406,102 capital shares, against $1,902,495 or $4.78 a share in 1928.

Transcontinental Oil's Quarterly Net Higher

NEW YORK, April 4.—Indications are first quarter earnings of Transcontinental Oil will be slightly in excess of $1,000,000 after all charges, but before federal taxes. This will compare with $527,551 after all charges but before federal taxes in the first quarter of 1929.

The company has recently reduced the outstanding capital stock to 2,272,109 no-par shares, from 6,544,219 shares.

Although daily allowable output of Yates field in West Texas was reduced to 110,000 barrels daily on March 19, from the 130,000 barrels allowed from July 1, 1929, Transcontinental's yield from this field at the present time is 26,400 barrels of oil daily compared with about 21,000 barrels daily at this time in 1929. In addition, up to March 19 Transcontinental was recovering in conjunction with Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company, subsidiary of Ohio Oil Company, 63,300 barrels of oil daily, of which 31,500 barrels was credited to Transcontinental.

American Smelting Cuts Price of Lead

NEW YORK, April 4.—The American Smelting and Refining Company has reduced the price of refined lead 15 points to 5.60c a pound.

GAIN MADE IN EMPLOYMENT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 4.—Improved labor conditions are reported throughout the Mahoning Valley by employment bureaus, and by J. R. Goldstein, manager of the Youngstown Retail Credit Bureau, representing 500 merchants. There is less unemployment than at any time this year, but some irregularity in work continues, a survey reveals.

Substantially improved conditions benefiting employment are expected to develop in April.

The Funny Man

BERT BRISCOE was a "funny man." There was no doubt about it.

Now, Bert wasn't "funny" in the way of being unnatural or queer. He was witty, humorous, keen. He twisted things into jokes, he improvised on the stage and kept his audience in an uproar.

Bert came out of the West.

He started doing black-face and playing a banjo when he was 16. He traveled with a medicine show.

"Oh—cheap sort—medicine show," many readers will say. Is that so?

In the heydey of the medicine shows some of our best talent was recruited from the performers who gave the shows in barns, tents or under the flicker of a gasoline flare on the flooring of a democratic wagon. Between such times as old Doc Snodgrass was selling Nature's Cureallina at a dollar a bottle Bert and his fellow entertainers were singing songs, playing instruments and explaining that the hen wanted to cross the road to see where her husband had gone.

Anyhow, Bert came to New York where many medicine shows flopped and he got into vaudeville in the good old days when booking didn't consist of half a week in Pottsville and then a jump to Columbus for half of next week. Bookings then were around thirty weeks.

Vaudeville today—well, it just isn't.

But Bert got a bit in a musical comedy and was funny. He got a better part next season with a regular contract.

He brought his mother on.

Whatever happened to Bert, his mother always got the major part of his earnings. She thought it was rather too bad that Bert had to make such a fool of himself before, but then he was her son and she loved him and it was a good thing some folks were foolish enough to pay him so much for just cutting up didoes the way he did when he was a kid.

So Bert installed his mother in a nice little home uptown, away uptown where there could be a single house and a garden. His mother couldn't have stood it in an apartment.

Then Bert got a brand new contract with a big production called "Diana."

It was named that because it was written around the beautiful and sweet-voiced Diana Pearson.

Diana Not Snobbish

After "Diana" had its run a new show would be produced starring Bert and it would be called "Funny Man."

Diana Pearson wasn't snobbish. She was too clever and popular. She didn't have to be snobbish like some of the stars just struggling to remain stars.

And for the first time in his life Bert Briscoe met a girl who could make him, for the time being, forget his mother.

By this, let it be understood, is meant that heretofore Bert Briscoe always had a polite word to and for every girl, on and off the stage, and forgot them. They meant nothing to him. He wasn't interested. He had met all sorts, he thought, from the "I'll-do-anything-to-get-starred" little fools to the "hard-as-nails" types, and he had no use for any of them.

But Diana Pearson wasn't like any of them. She was one sweet girl.

But she was very human.

She was very feminine.

She could fall only to a proper degree for a handsome man, a matinee idol type. And she did fall good and plenty for Lionel Mooreland, her support in "Diana."

Naturally Lionel Mooreland was delighted to have the big star, the title-role of the piece, fall for his charms. Lionel Mooreland was no fool. Heretofore he had made many conquests and he had never mentioned matrimony or thought of it. Diana Pearson was quite different.

Her idea of falling for a man was to be willing to marry him.

Mooreland thought he could see where it would be to his advantage to marry Diana. She made big money, she would make big money for many years. He could play now and then or loaf and play around outside while his talented wife was earning the big money.

Sorry for Him

Mooreland would play around. If he had been a Mormon with a flock of wives he would still have played around. That was his sort.

It sure amused Mooreland to note that Bert Briscoe, the low comedy of "Diana," had fallen hard and seriously and honestly in love with Miss Pearson. He even mentioned it to Diana.

"He's a natural comedian and clean cut and polite, that's all, Lionel," she said.

"Aw, the big Zaney, he's low comedian and low everything," Mooreland insisted.

Diana Pearson took more notice after this. She knew from the way Bert looked at her he loved her.

It hurt her a great deal. She felt sorry for him. He was tall and gawky and—well, his face would never adorn a collar advertisement.

Meanwhile Mooreland was progressing well with Diana. For business reasons it wouldn't do to announce their engagement. But they had an understanding.

Audiences like to believe that the beautiful lady stars are single. It is best to keep up that delusion. Diana and Mooreland planned a secret marriage during the summer months when they would be rehearsing the next production.

Now that was all secretly settled—that is, secret to the outside, although everyone backstage knew about it—Mooreland believed he could let up a little in his attentions and look up some of his mash notes. He always found many silly girls and women who were easy prey among those who wrote to him.

Bert Briscoe still watched Diana, still felt that he couldn't complain—he had been lucky. He couldn't expect fairly good fame as a funny man and a big salary and his mother provided for and then to marry the only girl he ever loved. That was more good fortune than ever came to any man.

However, the "Funny Man" would always love Diana Pearson.

He used to take pictures of her home to his mother.

His mother had seen him twice in the show, and it irked her to see it again. She thought her boy was awfully silly and that New Yorkers must be hard up for something to laugh at.

Mother's Advice

But she thought that Diana girl was a right handsome girl. She guessed that Bert loved her.

"She'd be a fool not to marry you, Bertie," said his mother.

"She's engaged to the good looking Mooreland chap, mother. You know, the one who plays the Prince in the show?"

"Ain't she got no sense at all? I don't like his face. If you want her very hard all you got to do is tell her so, Bertie. She'd be proud to have you."

Mothers are like that.

Mooreland was cutting loose again on the quiet. Bert knew it. He wouldn't have told Diana for worlds but it made him sore. And Mooreland was drinking a lot. Perfumes and things for the breath might disguise it to Diana, but the bunch backstage were wise.

Bert didn't talk about himself. Probably no one except Dillfeld, the producer, knew that Bert Briscoe had a mother and that they lived away uptown in a small house.

Even Dillfeld didn't know that Bert's aged mother was failing and that he had a nurse for her as well as the maid.

On stage Bert was just as funny as ever. He always managed a few new gags, improvised a lot and had the cast as well as the audience in stitches.

Bert's last appearance in this production was in the middle of the last act.

Bert noticed one night that Mooreland had nearly a skinfull. He hoped Diana wouldn't be distressed. In the scene that was Bert's last he saw that Mooreland staggered offstage.

When he finished he said to Dillfield, who happened to be on hand that night, "Better get a shot of ammonia or something into Mooreland for his last scene."

"All right. Say, Bert, don't want to worry you, but a telephone message——"

"Mother? Is——"

"Nurse wanted you to hurry—pretty bad, I guess. Bert——sorry, we all have to go through with it——"

Bert Briscoe ran to get off his hideous makeup. Tears mingled with the cold cream. He rushed it.

He dashed out the stage entrance just in time to see a woman horsewhipping a man and the man was hopelessly drunk. The man was Mooreland and his face being lashed with the woman's whip.

Acts in Emergency

Bert Briscoe thought, "My God—his last scene—no one to do it—it will queer poor Diana."

Bert pictured her, helpless at the very crux of the climax which would become laughable without the character of the Prince.

Bert ran back. He got to Mooreland's dressing-room. Dillfield followed. Even as Bert got into the costume of the Prince he talked to Dillfield about why he was doing this.

"I know his lines. Dim the lights a little. I'll plaster on the makeup and get away with it," he said.

Diana was startled. She knew it wasn't Mooreland when Bert came on, but she didn't recognize Bert. He went through the lines with grace, but Diana had to take the curtain calls alone. This time Bert Briscoe put a raincoat over his costume and got a taxi.

"Step on it all the way, Buddy—it's my mother," he said to the taxi man.

"Jees, I know—I lost mine last year," the taxi man said, and he did step on it.

Bert believed that his mother did not know him when he got to her bedside.

But she did. She opened her eyes. "I waited," she said.

Bert didn't rub much of the makeup off. He just knelt there. The nurse told him with a nod to stay there and he knew what that meant.

Half an hour he was there. Now and then his mother smiled at him. Now and then she murmured: "My good boy."

Someone came in. Bert didn't notice it, he was watching his mother. But his mother noticed—she saw the beautiful girl of the stage, the girl her boy loved.

"I knew you'd come to your senses. Bert loves you so and you're a lucky girl to have him love you—"

The Funny Man turned around and saw Diana. She knelt beside Bert and touched the old lady's hand.

"Yes, I love him—I'm going to marry him—mother," she said.

Today, class, we take up headline writing. The first exercise will be to write headlines for this item from the Clark County, South Dakota, Courier—

One of those good old-time happy gatherings took place at the Frank Fuller home in southeast Day township on Tuesday night of last week, when old neighbors and friends gathered to tender a pleasant surprise to Hattie Pickles.

HATTIE PICKLES HOST OF FRIENDS

Try to avoid the ordinary mistake of writing a headline which says—

HOST OF HATTIE'S FRIENDS PICKLED

A New York chemist claims he has perfected sausage made from cotton seed to taste like pork.

That gives an advantage over the packers right at the start, because they don't seem to be able to even make pig sausage taste like pork.

Perhaps the packers have all along been trying to make their pork sausage taste like cotton seed.

And picks up lots of things
That Bulls and Bears all overlook;
While others weep, he sings!
He's happy, healthy, prosperous

Is Whitewing Harry Brand.

THE PRIZE LETTER

May I have the hospitality of your column for a plea in behalf of that most pitiable of all the victims of this age? I refer to the Unfound Fact (address on request) sought by numerous Fact-Finding Commissions. The Unfound Fact is a harmless creature, now alone in the world, and suffering the daily humiliation of being snubbed by all the other Facts (no whit better than he) which have been found over and over by one commission after another. Any rainy afternoon in government offices you may see him scampering from file to file, wistfully gnawing the covers of old departmental reports and softly crooning his pathetic lament—

I'm a poor little fact who has lost his way.
Baa, Baa, Baa!
Just a statistic who's gone astray,
Baa, Baa, Baa!
Data and Items and Figures I see
Placed End to End eternally!
Won't some commission discover me?
Baa, Baa, Baa!

Motion Picture Industry Needs Uniform Censorship

The moving picture industry apparently does not object to proper censorship.

The only question is what constitutes proper censorship.

Mr. Will Hays thinks that proper censorship is to have moving pictures censored by the moving picture industry.

Experience does not seem to sustain Mr. Hays' contention. There is always a certain element in the industry which will not hesitate to make improper pictures and that element, if unchecked by law, would speedily bring discredit on the whole industry.

If legal censorship were entirely removed, the moving picture industry would soon become as discredited as the stage has become.

There has been the contention among dramatic producers that the stage could censor its own productions, and dramatic producers of the better class have attempted to create stage censorship by stage people. But this well-intentioned effort has accomplished nothing to improve the character of modern stage productions, and the drama has so deteriorated that no one greatly regrets its threatened demise, or the fact that moving picture productions are so largely taking its place.

The stage might have been saved by censorship. The screen certainly is restrained within proper limitations by it.

The objection to censorship as it exists at present is the fact that it is of a different kind in different localities, that it is not always intelligent and not always honest.

There are a number of state censorship boards, each board with a different idea of what should go into a picture or should be taken out of a picture.

Producers are, therefore, harrassed by a great number of conflicting opinions and decisions.

Moving picture people never know exactly what will pass the censors.

Consequently they are always in a quandary as to how to make their pictures to please the various censor boards in the various states and at the same time to please the public.

Matters that are unimportant from the moral point of view but very important from the story point of view are frequently eliminated by the censors, destroying the continuity and dramatic effort of the picture.

On the other hand, exceedingly objectionable pictures are sometimes allowed to pass the censors without criticism or elision, and recently the expression of public opinion against one picture that had passed the censors in New York was so great that it had to be brought back and recensored and materially modified.

If we admit that uniform censorship and intelligent censorship are of actual benefit for the moving picture industry, then the only question is how to get uniform and intelligent censorship.

It obviously cannot be secured by different boards with different opinions and different methods in different states.

It probably could be secured by one national board of censorship which would review all pictures conscientiously and whose decisions and elisions would be accepted by all the states of the Union.

The consent of the states would have to be obtained in to secure the effective operation of such a board, his consent would doubtless not be difficult to obtain if esentative of every state was on the board.

censorships of pictures by the moving picture industry would probably not be any more effective than the attempted censorship of the stage by stage producers, and the consequence of the failure would probably be that more states would establish censorship than now possess it, and that there would be more variety and more pernicious variety of censorship than exist at the present.

It would only take a few offensive pictures, slipping past the board of self-censors, to make state censorship more drastic than it is today.

Why do not the moving picture producers get back of the idea of a single, national board of censorship on which could sit not only representatives of the states, but representatives of the moving picture interests?

The industry could then have careful and conscientious censorship, uniform censorship, intelligent and expert censorship; and the result would be that the industry would be safeguarded and even benefited by the criticism of such a board, and the demands of the public would be satisfied.

Mr. Hays would better support the practical and practicable idea of national censorship.

His self-censorship will never supplant public censorship, and a trial of it might make the situation for the moving picture producers a great deal worse than it is.

Public Rights Ignored By Taxicab Squabblers

Miss Emmilinne Pitt, local conciliator of the United States Department of Labor, takes a view of the taxicab situation th will strike the public as most sensible as well as being a point summation of the whole difficulty:

"Both sides to this grievous controversy," she says, "should bear in mind that they derive their revenue from the public, and that public rights and public service constitute the paramount issue above all selfish incentives. Cab service must, by some means, be restored without further delay."

In the strike, that has been going on for weeks, the public has been forgotten by the belligerents, and it is well to repeat the words of Miss Pitt that each party should keep in mind the source of its revenue. The public has granted this privilege of obtaining revenue in the belief that, in return, it would receive needed accommodation; but that has been withheld because both the taxicab company and its employes have ignored the fact that they are under obligation first of all to the public.

Above strikers' committees, taxicab companies, public service commissioners, police departments, mayors and courts and judges—above them all is the public, that can take away authority from any and all of these agencies it has created, or allowed to operate.

Because the public is long-suffering and slow to wrath, it is often ignored and flouted, as in this taxicab strike. That is pure folly. Only through recognition of public rights and rendering real service to the public will any agency succeed.

The public might decide to run its own transportation in Pittsburgh, as it has done in other American cities, with conspicuous success. It might start with municipal buses, in lieu of taxicabs, if it doesn't get the service it wants!

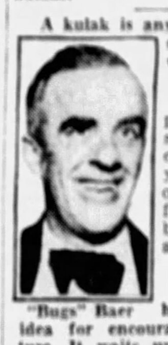
"Bugs" Baer Says:

Kulaks Are in Bloom

THE Soviet continues its struggle for smaller and worse kulaks.



A kulak is anybody who has something you want.

He is the rich peasant of Russia who has a cow. And when you have only one cow you are forced to choose between meat and milk.

The Soviet "Bugs" Baer has a great idea for encouraging agriculture. It waits until you plant something and then it confiscates all crops, including whiskers.

The Soviet is for the mujik who is a poorer peasant than a poor peasant. It claims the kulak has no ear for mujik.

When a farmer earns another wrinkle, which is the Soviet form of bookkeeping, and has 65 cents in the old knitted bank, the Soviet steps out and kulaks him.

He is placed up against a wall and staked to some violent perforations.

After you have been kulaked you are tossed under the sink with military honors.

This is government of the people, for the people and bye-bye to the people.

It's a little too rough for the American farmer who plants vötes and harvests opposition.

If a Kansas farmer has a flivver and a pig that would make him two kulaks. The Soviet not only grabs all it can reach but it throws bombs at the rest.

We do not think the kulak form of administration will ever become popular west of the Mason-Dixie line. When a Arizona suburbanite gets his mitts on a dollar no Soviet kulaker is going to play kissing games with him.

Burning the barn down to get rid of the mice is not constructive criticism. If the Soviet really loved the people it would kulak itself.

Liberty cancels itself automatically when it overlaps the liberty of another. The Soviet dove-tails progress with kulaking and thinks it has done a good job when it sandpapers the joints.

No glazier is going to be successful if he has an apprentice who throws rocks.

We advise the Soviet to lay off the kulak. If it wants to pick on something why not buy a uke?

'TWENTY YEARS AFTER'

By Herbert Kaufman

TWENTY years ago the highest admittance price to a motion picture show was 10 cents. No producing studio, if memory be accurate, had yet presented a two-reel film, and there wasn't a theater in the country built for the SPECIAL purpose of exhibiting shadow drama.

The star system, the fade-out, the close-up, the Kleig light, captions and scenarios hadn't even OCCURRED to possibility.

Not a billboard or painted sign in the land advertised the existence of the new industry, whose pioneers, like the proverbial Arab, nightly "folded their tents" and personally toted projection machines in the wake of circuses and carnivals, or squatted on short-term leases in vacant side-street shops.

Twenty years ago, lithographers were still unaware of the prodigious fortunes to be showered into their coffers from Hollywood's horn of plenty.

But for that matter, they weren't aware that Hollywood EXISTED.

MESSRS. Zukor and Loew, then conducting a catch-penny shooting gallery and phonograph parlor, didn't know it was on the map, EITHER.

And those three bold musketeers, Lasky, De Mille and Goldfish (later to Goldwyn his way to vast wealth and distinction), neither heard the call of destiny nor managed to scrape together the $15,000 to answer it, until 1913.

Motion pictures are exceedingly young, and of DECIDEDLY humble origin. In the vernacular of success-biography, they were born poor, and rose by dint of persistence and self-confidence to power and importance.

Twenty years is a very BRIEF period in which to create a multi-billion industry from nothing but VISION and INTREPIDITY.

It takes boundless time and capital to develope international markets for new habits and ideas.

NOTHING less than SUPER-GENIUS could have discovered, in EMPTY POCKETS, 20,000 show palaces, control of the world's amusements, and employment for more men and women than the Federation of Labor now claims to be jobless.

Please remember that necessity was their sole toolmaker, and experience their only rule-maker.

Like settlers on any OTHER frontier, they were compelled to begin crudely and push their roads ahead of them.

They made blunders, committed errors of taste and judgment, and sometimes stooped TOO FAR to conquer. But let the field of business, without SOME such sins to its discredit, cast the FIRST stone at motion pictures.

The vital thing to know that this particular industry, which contacts so intimately with the daily life of the entire nation, was FIRST to establish regulations, FIRST to set up its OWN court of morals, and FIRST to admit the public's right to a voice in the management of its affairs.

THE motion picture producer is a manufacturer. He must make the goods that his customers demand, or his customers will buy them somewhere ELSE. If his goods are too FINE, too EXOTIC, too far OVER THE HEADS of the majority, he can't expect to sell them widely.

Consequently, the balance sheet warns production to remain within the confines of the POPULAR approval or GO BROKE. As merchants go broke when THEY stock the wrong goods or publishers when they FOIST too many HIGHBROW books on the trade.

The announcement by Will H. Hays, that American Motion Picture Manufacturers have just voluntarily agreed to restrain the fervors of love-making, and eliminate from their presentations speech and actions that tend to exalt crime, adultery, coarseness or obscenity, is final evidence of their progressive endeavor to make the theater safe for ALL the family.

Which, incidentally, serves warning on the Broadway stage that Hollywood is no longer the secondary dumping-ground for its recent garbage.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

TOWARD evening I went down to Brooklyn Bridge.

Pretty muggy going. Fog coming in—blurring everything. I prowled around the streets for a while. One of the most interesting sights in America—that tangle of narrow, crooked streets on the New York end of the bridge. Something terribly human about them, particularly on a foggy night—like the blind trails you follow through the years—blundering your way along—never seeing clearly where you're going—winding up so often at a dead wall, or in the gutter!

Presently I came out of the tangle, to the bridge itself. Just the beginning of the Bridge—all the rest was lost in the fog—

No matter how often I see them, I can never get over the beauty of those great spans, rising so suddenly out of all the muck and confusion—rising up so grandly and surely—taking off, into a clearer, higher air—rising up, as life rises, out of tangled beginnings and taking off into—where?

Standing there, in the fog, with the darkness blotting out that flying arch, I asked myself that question. I was sad. Bitter, perhaps. I had been thinking of my dead boy and of the beauty and pity of that lovely life which had ended at 21. So much had gone into that life. So much of my own love and effort, and such priceless contribution from all generations that had gone before. Ever since the beginning of time life had been working toward that boy—forming him out of all the tangled beginnings, until at last his life rose in a flying span . . . only to be cut off so quickly by the dark. WAS THAT THE END?

I could not see the other end of the bridge. It was lost in the fog as my boy's spirit had been lost in that fog which my love could not pierce. But I knew the bridge had another end. I knew that it led to solid land, great highways, busy cities and, beyond them the sweet, green meadows and the sea.

I could not see the bridge go on but I knew that it did go on for I knew that men do not build great bridges to end in nothingness. One end of that bridge was proof to me of the other—even though the darkness lay between.

I had seen the beginning of life—the beautiful, complicated, infinitely precious beginning of life. And I had seen it vanish in the black, cold fog of death. But did it really vanish? Was that all there was?

Men do not build to end in nothingness.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

AGAIN, in a modern bird the tail skeleton is short, a stumpy little support for the fan of tail-feathers, but Archaeopteryx had a long lizard-tail with 20 vertebrae or more, and a row of large feathers on each side along its whole length.

H. G. Wells

And instead of the horny, toothless beak of a modern bird, this winged, feathered lizard had ordinary reptilian jaws with a fine array of socketed teeth.

Had it not been for the happy accident by which the feathers were preserved, it is doubtful whether the skeleton alone would have warranted us in definitely calling the creature a bird.

As it is, Archaeopteryx is in its general construction a perfect link between the two great groups of birds and reptiles, though more than half-way to modern birds. Its wings were too small to sustain its whole weight, and so the hind part of the body had to be supported (as in almost all aeroplanes today) by a large tail-plane.

Archaeopteryx must have lacked the power of rapid, controlled flight; that came only with stronger arm-skeleton and larger wings, which allowed the tail to be reduced and so permitted the bird to turn, check and drop suddenly, instead of planing along and coming to grief below a certain speed as an ordinary aeroplane will do.

But there are other linking fossil forms in the bird stock. In the Cretaceous period (IV C) birds have been discovered which were essentially similar to living birds in wings and tail, but still had teeth at the back of the jaws.

Before the Middle Eocene (V A2) these toothed birds had disappeared, and from thenceforward all bird fossils are of modern type. A somewhat similar example comes from reptiles.

All modern tortoises and turtles are toothless and beaked like modern birds; but far back in the Permain period (III F) there lived a tortoise, Eunotosaurus, with well-formed teeth like the majority of reptiles. The mammals, too, are now linked by fossils with their reptilian ancestors.

We know already that mammals must have sprung from reptiles. Apart from all other lines of evidence, the discovery of those "living fossils," the Platypus and the Ehidna, clinched the matter.

Had we nothing but the skeletons of these animals, it would be very doubtful whether we should call them reptiles in the last stage of becoming mammals, or mammals which had just ceased being reptiles.

But the fact that they nourish their young by a milky secretion, possess a coat of hair, and have a more or less constant temperature, stamp them as true mammals, even though their egg-laying habits and many other peculiarities show by how little they have crossed the boundary.

This is convincing proof; but all the same it is only indirect. However, in the Permian (III F) and Trias (IV A), as the Age of Reptiles was dawning, a group of creatures existed, whose name of Theromorphus implies a likeness to mammals.

Their teeth were already beginning to differentiate into incisors, dog-teeth, premolars and molars, and the whole form of the skull was approaching the mammal.

They did not crouch on their belly, but ran with body lifted off the ground. But they still retained the little hole in the top of the head, the pineal foramen, below which, in many modern reptiles, the third or pineal eye is still to be found; this has been lost in all known mammals, with the transformation of the third eye into the pineal gland.

And they link reptiles with mammals in yet another way. One of the most classical differences between existing mammals and all other vertebrates is the fact that in mammals the lower jaw consists of but one bone on each side, instead of several distinct bones stuck together.

At the same time, there are three little bones in the mammal's middle-ear, transmitting the vibrations of its ear-drum to its organ of hearing, while in all other land vertebrates there is but one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 4.—Thoughts while strolling: Those chunky fellows who sport big diamond rings and smoke fat cigars in front of chop houses. P. G. Wodehouse's fawn spats. And whose last name sounds like baby talk. Sign in a speakeasy window: "Hemstitching." Tailors don't sit cross-legged in windows anymore.

Burns Mantle, a Watertown, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. The eerie gloom of a theatrical costume shop. Jules Bache's monocle. Georges, the Algonquin head-waiter, who has been mentioned in a score of novels. The desolation in mammoth fur stores.

Bill Brady and his wife Grace George. A "hand beauty" parlor. And the tiny shop that sells only combs. The cafe with the profane parrot where sea captains go. Who remembers when boys carried button hooks in the sides of their shoes? Charles M. Schwab steps out of a taxi.

A jazz orchestra advertisement waxes poetic with: "Pleading violins, laughing piccolos, rumbling kettle drums and sonorous bass viols." Emily Post, the authority on good manners. Fred M. Knowles prowling about for antiques. Phil Dunning, the stage director.

A thunder storm comes up. Rain spatters down. Nothing prostrates New York like a shower. And no city responds so quickly to outdoors when the sun pops out again. Silly to have to make a living this way. Still it beats following a Missouri plow.

You wouldn't know Dr. Rockwell off the stage. He seems to have shrunk. The blind Negro who recites Omar and the Ballade of Reading Gaol. The library lions are getting their summer scrubbing. W. R. Coe, the millionaire turfman, who spends fortunes raising flowers as a diversion.

The side entrance of Fifth avenue five and tens. For the limousine trade. Erlanger's general manager Jack Dillon. The ex-Broadway wine agent who now clerks in a drug store. Parrar and Rinehart, the young publishers. And so ends another stroll. Poo-boop-pee-doo!

It strikes me—snatching the baton from Paul Whiteman for a moment—that the whistlingist tune of the year is "Happy Days are Here Again!"

In one of the big hotels nightly a benign gentleman with white whiskers occupies a deep cushioned chair in the lobby, tucks a large red silk handkerchief in his collar, napkin fashion, and smokes a cigar. The handkerchief is to keep ashes off his vest but a curious crowd always stands by, expecting him, no doubt, to take a goldfish out of his pocket or something as a prelude to a sales ballyhoo.

It is whispered a pretty actress recently submitted to the extraction of all upper and lower teeth. A gum infection brought about by drinking poisonous liquor was blamed by the officiating dentist.

Among the vanishing figures of Times Square life, whose return to England has evoked columns of comment, is Kitty Marion. For 12 years she stood on various corners peddling the Birth Control Review. Although an ardent suffrage zealot, she accepted the banter of after dark drunks with good humor and is credited with selling more than 100,000 of her tracts.

A writing man tells me that in those agonizing sterile moments that come to all members of the silly guild he turns on full a bathtub faucet and the sound of running water somehow breaks down the mental dam. Another thumbs a dictionary—words suggesting to him ideas and situations.

Three of the heaviest coffee drinkers in New York are Damon Runyon, Harry Reichenbach and Flo Ziegfeld. Each is a total abstainer from intoxicating liquor.

"What do you do," queries O. R. L., "when you are not writing a column?"

O, I practice esthetic dancing, match ribbons for my wife and ride up and down in skyscraper elevators.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

STOP thinking about your misfortunes if you would rid yourself of the effects of them.

As long as you think about them you cannot regain the loss sustained.

Self-pity makes you useless to self and retards accomplishments.

Mourning over the past is a waste of time and mental machinery that should be working on definite forward-going plans.

Thinking too much of your failures robs you of the necessary self-confidence without which you cannot advance.

Misfortunes and mistakes are good to show you what to avoid.

But constant contemplation of the rough road you have had to travel in the past takes away the courage you should be using to profit by past blunders.

If you are ambitious and have a goal ahead you don't want to put obstacles in your own way.

Just living furnishes enough handicaps to progress.

You may have mountains to surmount but others have negotiated them successfully and you can do the same.

But you will have to keep your mind in line for positive advance and not lose time looking back.
